This process needs to be based on best case evidence both scientific and social. Criminalizing behaviour seems to be a trend favoured by the legislature in Scotland and this is of concern to me. Furthermore reducing the voting age whilst further restricting the behaviours of 16 & 17 year olds seems ridiculous to me and risks further alienating them. My experience of e-cigarettes has been largely benign and am not aware of youngsters taking them up in any great numbers. Rather, I have seen inveterate & long-term smokers use them as a harm reduction strategy. Indeed one close relative, a smoker of some 30 years, wishes that they had been around years ago as the impact of their tobacco use might have been reduced.

As a party to the World Health Organization's Framework Convention on Tobacco Control (FCTC), Scotland has an obligation to protect the development of public health policy from the vested interests of the tobacco industry. To meet this obligation, we ask all respondents to disclose whether they have any direct or indirect links to, or receive funding from, the tobacco industry. We will still carefully consider all consultation responses from the tobacco industry and from those with links to the tobacco industry and include them in the published summary of consultation responses.
