Business and Regulatory Impacts Considerations

46. What is your assessment of the likely financial implications, or other impacts (if any), of the introduction of each of these proposals on you or your organisation?

I do not represent an organisation but even I can see it will cost retailers extra money to comply with any regulations. I believe many will close their businesses rather than burden themselves with extra costs.

47. What (if any) other significant financial implications are likely to arise?

Smaller businesses will fail and fewer new small businesses will open due to burdens of regulation. The market will be left to the larger companies able to fight any future legal claims thus reducing variety in the marketplace and stifling competition.

48. What lead-in time should be allowed prior to implementation of these measures and how should the public be informed?

A minimum of a year needs to be used with a large media campaign as well as poster/billboard campaigns to make sure everybody is aware of the new regulations.

49. Do you have any other comments on or suggestions relevant to the proposals in regard to business and regulatory impacts?

To stifle the development of a business category which may well reduce the public health effect of smoking is truly a disaster waiting to happen. Regulation should be minimal to make it more attractive to sell electronic cigarettes than to sell tobacco products.

As a party to the World Health Organization's Framework Convention on Tobacco Control (FCTC), Scotland has an obligation to protect the development of public health policy from the vested interests of the tobacco industry. To meet this obligation, we ask all respondents to disclose whether they have any direct or indirect links to, or receive funding from, the tobacco industry. We will still carefully consider all consultation responses from the tobacco industry and from those with links to the tobacco industry and include them in the published summary of consultation responses.

I have received no funding from any tobacco company interests.
