I initially wondered if this was some sort of joke. For what other reason would anyone think it a good idea to take Cumbrae and Arran away from the islands community? Whilst Cumbrae is indeed unique, it shares a lot in common with other Scottish islands – geography is obvious but there is also the culture to take into consideration, the comparative safety; the clear socio-economic instability based on the reliance on tourism. In South West Scotland, priorities are different, and it is unlikely that our community, which faces different needs, will be able to access the necessary resources to develop or even maintain current economic circumstances.

Eurostat have requested we consider merging the Highlands & Islands with North Eastern Scotland to create a new area that's closer to the recommended population thresholds. The Scottish Government plan to request that these areas should be allowed an exemption under Article 3 (5) of the NUTS Regulations, i.e. because of particular geographical, socio-economic, historical, cultural or environmental circumstances, especially in the islands and the outermost regions.

Please provide any evidence in favour of or against an exemption under Article 3 (5) of the NUTS Regulations for Highlands & Islands and North Eastern Scotland NUTS 2 areas?

Eurostat have suggested that the Scottish Governments proposals for NUTS 3 should include merging Moray with Argyll & Bute Local Authority to create an area that meets their recommended population ranges.

Please provide any evidence in favour of or against an exemption under Article 3 (5) of the NUTS Regulations for the proposed Moray and Argyll & Bute NUTS 3 areas?
