Consultation response: the provision of specialist residential chronic pain services in Scotland

Question 1: We would like to know in what context you are responding. Please choose one of the following:

I am responding as:

a) an individual who experiences chronic pain
b) a family member or carer of someone who experiences chronic pain
c) a health professional
d) an organisation representing people who experience chronic pain
e) other stakeholder (please tell us in the comments box below)

I had attended the Glasgow Homeopathic Hospital for years and have felt the benefit from attendance.

Question 2: Please choose your preferred option (Chapter 2 provides details).

Option 1 – a centre of excellence in a single location

Option 2 – a service delivered by local chronic pain clinicians
(supported by other clinical advisors in another part of the country)

Option 3 – a service delivered in different locations
(by a team of chronic pain specialists – an outreach or roving service)

Please tell us why this is your preferred option in the comments box below. The factors listed in Chapter 2 of the consultation paper may help you.

I know the benefits from a one centre delivery centre. As stated above I may have had to travel to Glasgow but to meet many different clinicians under one roof was so convenient and helpful as they got together to discuss my condition. You also built up a trust as you saw the same people.

Question 3: Are there any of the options you disagree with? (If No, move straight to Question 4.)

If yes, please tell us which one(s) in the comments box, and why?

Having to travel outwards in Scotland.
Definitely not wanting to see other clinicians supported by GPs. There are contacts that no one passes on information to. Your clinician is busy elsewhere. Have in the past been assessed in my local area and got nowhere.

Question 4: If you have other ideas that have not been covered, please tell us about these in the comments box below. You may want to include the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Why get rid of a centre that works.
A good, helpful knowledgeable staff who work together and who you get to know and trust. Those who you get in the clinic have worked Hospital.

Listening to the people who would or have used the service instead of listening to be who claim clinics there do not work.
Question 5: What do you think the barriers are to accessing a residential pain management service? (For example, distance away from family, work or family commitments, upfront travel costs.)

Please list as many as you wish in the comments box below and include any others that are important to you.

- Obviously Family/Work Commitments have to be taken into consideration. But in the long run if you can get help in one centre to help your pain then that will actually cost less and improve your family/work issues.

- Not enough GPs being closing into other centres or Job Security for the Staff if there are threats of closure.
Question 6: Please choose from the list below which aspects of residential pain management services should be included in a Scottish service.

(choose as many as apply)

A chronic pain assessment
Supported one-to-one sessions to teach coping skills
Group sessions
Residential accommodation
Opportunity for immediate carer/support provider to accompany patient
Peer support
Tailored exercise programme
Medication assessment
Other (please tell us in the comments box below)

Opportunities for people to meet all the health care professionals who may help them under one roof and see different care staff instead of different hospital appointments. It would save on 200-300 Department Of Work Or Someone Outasonry.
Question 7: Irrespective of the final service model selected, should access to the current service provided in Bath (or elsewhere in the UK) be retained for occasional use?

Question 8: Have you previously attended, or supported someone attending a residential service outside Scotland?
