

Draft carers waiving of charges for support Scotland

Question one(A)

yes, although a bit gobbledygook

Question one (B)

yes

Question two (A)

yes

Question six

respite and replacement care

people in authority are sadly disillusioned if they think that friends, neighbours, relatives want to turn into carers, time is precious enough with friends and relatives we certainly don't want them washing our backsides. It's a different thing altogether if you're talking about somebody just coming in to sit and chat to you to keep you company.
