

Healthcare – what we want to happen.

The National Care Service will provide health and social care services that are:

- the same for everyone
- person-centred
- for all ages.

The National Care Service, and Community Health and Social Care Boards could be in charge of the way health services are ordered and bought.

A Community Health and Social Care Board is the organisation that decides what health and care services there will be in an area.

We think Community Health and Social Care Boards should be in charge of GP contracts.

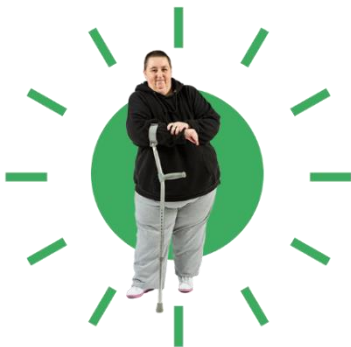

A contract gives information about:

- how much someone is paid
- what their working conditions are
- what services they will provide.

We need to check health and social care organisations and staff are making their services better and give people good care.

We must make sure health and social care staff work together to support people in a person-centred way.

We must make sure any changes link with the work of Healthcare Improvement Scotland.

Healthcare Improvement Scotland is an organisation that works to make sure the people of Scotland get the best quality of health and social care.
