Hi [REDACTED]

I hope you are well? Following up on our conversation I want to introduce you to [REDACTED] from the Scottish office. I am on leave from today until Thursday next week so you can contact [REDACTED] in relation to the breakfast next Friday. I sent you a text earlier with the timings also.

Hope you have a lovely Easter.

For info

Below, by way of a plan B should any of our priority engagements fall through.

[REDACTED] should also be added to our list of attendees for the business breakfast, and has promised to suggest some other companies it would be good to get along to that. Worth chasing him next week.

Was thinking about Mike's visit to Cork and the fact you will be there.

As the programme takes shape, and depending on time, do you think a visit with Rubicon would be workable? You are a company that really embodies the Scottish/Irish economic link - worth marking.

Could bring him to your offices, or do a site visit together. Brief him on the companies work and its journey and talk about the IBNS (soon to be ISBN :-))

What do you think?

For info folks,

As things stand, the following are fixed.

20th April

Arrival Cork Airport - 1435 from Edinburgh

Meeting with Lord Mayor – 1600

UCC dinner at the Kingsley hotel - 1915

21st April

Meeting with president of UCC – 1000

IACES Lecture and event – 1100 – 1300

Meeting with Micheal martin – 1430

Leaves us with gaps at 1700 on the 20th, for breakfast on 21st (possibly also a meeting at 0900 that morning), and at 1300 on the 21st.

We need to have as much of this nailed down by Thursday as we can.

Rob – we have options, but need responses from Cork chambers and the airport. Sensible thing to do is have the meeting with Cork Airport Authority and any tourism business up at the airport at 1600 – he then gets straight on his flight (1835 departure).

Good to speak just now.

As I said, our Minister for the UK Negotiations on Scotland's Place in Europe, Mike Russell, will visit Cork on 20/21 April.

Mike has been invited by UCC to deliver the annual IACES lecture on the morning of 21st April. He will arrive in Cork from Edinburgh mid- afternoon on the 20th and will depart from Cork airport early evening on the 21st.

At the moment the only engagements we have fixed are a courtesy call on the Lord Mayor of Cork at 1600 on the 20th, and the event at UCC, which is scheduled to run from 1030 – 1300.

As I said, I wanted to extend your party Leader the courtesy of letting him know that Mike is in his constituency on those days, but also to ask if he would have any time during those days for a meeting with Mike.

Look forward to hearing from you,

Best wishes,

The breakfast is booked in the Kingsley Private Dining Room for Friday 21st April 7.30-9am. Continental breakfast.

I enquired about rooms but the girl said she couldn't see us on the corporate list and quoted 225 euros per room (!). There are rooms available there for 160 euros online. I haven't booked anything as yet. Chloe, Redfern were quoted 116 euro yesterday so it might be the best option?

Thanks for your speedy reply, that all sounds positive, thank you. I think the commercial angle fits in perfectly with the purpose of the visit, so that's a great suggestion.

Is there a capacity limit on the meeting room? The Minister will likely want either his PS or a couple of officials (including either me or my boss, [REDACTED]) in the room so I just want to manage numbers from this end and then can confirm names with you.

The PM's announcement shouldn't impact anything but we will, of course, keep you in the loop and it may well come up in conversation on Friday.

Looking forward to the visit!

Hi [REDACTED]

I had a nice weekend thank you for asking and likewise I hope you enjoyed the holiday.

Our MD is away this week and will not be back for the meeting on Friday. He is keen that the meeting go ahead and suggests that we can arrange a follow up with the Minister in Scotland if that would be useful.

On Friday I will be available with my Colleague, [REDACTED], who is our head of Retail and Commercial and we will have a meeting room available in the Terminal. If you call me prior to arrival we can meet at the Information desk.

I see that your Prime Minister has called an early election. Let me know if that that impacts on availability for yourselves.

Hi [REDACTED]

Thanks to you and [REDACTED] for taking the time to meet [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] yesterday. I really appreciated the very frank and open nature of the discussion – and found his day in Dublin really valuable. As [REDACTED] settles in to my team – a meeting like yesterday's is great experience.

You might already have heard that our Minister for UK Negotiations on Scotland's Place in Europe, Mike Russell, will visit Cork on 20/21 April. He has accepted an invitation from UCC to deliver the annual IACES lecture on the morning of the 21st. We intend to develop a wider programme for the Minister, all based in Cork.

As part of that wider programme, I hope to arrange some political engagement for my Minister – Thursday pm and Friday perhaps offering that opportunity for Cork based TDs.

A priority would be to scope out availability for your Minister Dara Murphy on those days.

I wanted to make sure you were aware of this visit right away. Please do let me know if you would prefer that I go direct to Mr Murphy's private office with the request, or would you prefer to handle it with them?

Very best wishes

Good morning [REDACTED]

Thanks very much for forwarding. It's an interesting read and a useful ezine to keep an eye on. Great to read an article that is about looking forward to opportunities and we'll hopefully have more of that in our meeting later this month.

Thanks again for taking my call yesterday - I hope you managed to have a relaxing evening.

Light lunch reception

The lecture content looks great. The IACES/Cork audience will be particularly interested in the Minister's views on continued links with Scotland post-Brexit.

We have made arrangements to host a private dinner on the evening of Thursday 20 April in the Kingsley Hotel (which is about a 10 minute walk from UCC). As suggested, we propose to host a drinks reception at 7.15pm followed by dinner at 8pm. I attach a draft invite list. Some of the Dublin-based invitees may not be in a position to attend, but we feel there is merit in including them on the invite list. Please feel free to comment on the list and to suggest additional invitees, or you may feel that the list is too large? We are happy to take guidance.

By all means, do go ahead with plans to meet Dara Murphy. We will be inviting the Minister to the dinner and lecture separately.

My colleague [REDACTED] will be working with us and looking after the logistics for this event. Please feel free to liaise with us both.

One final query, can we go ahead and begin to advertise the event through email, twitter and the IACES website? We are keen to publicise the Minister's visit as soon as possible and would like to begin doing so on Monday.

Thank you again for your support. We are very much looking forward to welcoming the Minister to UCC and Cork.

Subject: Knocknanuss & the Cameron Highlanders

Alasdair Mac Colla Chìotaich MacDhòmhnail is probably the most famous Scot to have been killed in action in Ireland, he had fought with Montrose during his campaigns there in the Parliamentarian Army. The Confederates, who had been bolstered by a force of Scots under Alasdair MacColla MacDonald, brought c. 7,000 men to the field. Although Inchiquin had fewer men, his troops were better armed, with more carrying muskets than their opponents[iii]. The Confederates formed up on the hill itself, with the Parliamentarians lining up about 600 yards away[iv]. In the fighting that followed, Inchiquin drove back the Confederate left and centre, but in turn MacColla's Scots on the right succeeded in putting the Parliamentarian left to flight. However, the decisive moment came when the Scots became bogged down in looting the Parliamentarian baggage train, allowing Inchiquin to organise a force to send against them and complete his victory[v]. There was little mercy shown to defeated soldiers in Ireland during the 1640s. The majority of deaths usually occurred once one side broke and ran– the slaughter up and down the Cork countryside following Knocknanuss was recounted by Inchiquin:

“...though we were killing till night, as fast as we could, yet we found two or three hundred the next day in the woods, as we were viewing the bodies, but could not possibly get any exact account of the number slain; for after I had an account of more than 2000, that the pursuing parties slew in their several walks, I was informed of many hundreds that were slain in divers other places, so as our men believe there were not less than five thousand slain, but I do not think it possible there could be above three thousand...”

Thank you for your email. I attach a draft running order. This can be moderated, so please feel free to suggest changes.

Dinner invitees were asked to RSVP by tomorrow at 5pm, so I should have a complete list by Tuesday (Monday is a bank holiday here).

The lecture is open invitation so we have no real way of knowing what participants will attend. However, we will endeavor to get an indicative list to you early next week of those who have formally signed up. I trust this is satisfactory.

Kind regards

I hope this finds you well. I am based at the Scottish Government Innovation and Investment Hub in Dublin. Our Minister for the UK Negotiations on Scotland's Place in Europe, Mike Russell, has been invited by UCC to deliver the annual IACES lecture on 21 April. While in Cork he is keen to engage have a strong programme of engagements with Cork leaders – and wants to ensure that – diaries permitting - one of his first engagements is with the Mayor on the afternoon of 20 April (possibly around 4pm?)

Would the Lord Mayor be available at this time?

Thanks so much, that's great. I'll let the hotel know.

The Minister has requested briefing to be sent up by Tuesday so it would be great if we could have as many confirmed names as you have by then. I know the long weekend will get in the way a little but as much info as you have would be greatly appreciated.

Enjoy your weekend!

Thanks for the introduction.

[REDACTED] – Nice to meet you. By way of update at this point I already have 8 businesses/stakeholders confirmed to attend, and there will be a few from the Chamber also. I have invited them to be at the Kingsley for 8am. I'll give it until early next week and then I'll circulate a final list of names to you.

Have a good weekend!

Hi [REDACTED]

It's a board room type set up located in the Terminal. We would regularly use the room for 12 to 14 people. We would normally do a brief presentation as part of the meeting to give a sense of place and outline our ongoing strategy. If you think that will be useful I will have one set up for when you arrive? I have allocated up to two hours for the meeting though you may require less. What time does the minister fly out?

I will also set up some light catering for the meeting, Tea. Coffees and scones, what do you think? If you are arriving by car you can park in the multi-story car park just passed the Terminal and it's a very short walk to the Terminal.

I had a nice weekend thank you for asking and likewise I hope you enjoyed the holiday.

Our MD is away this week and will not be back for the meeting on Friday. He is keen that the meeting go ahead and suggests that we can arrange a follow up with the Minister in Scotland if that would be useful.

On Friday I will be available with my Colleague, [REDACTED]novan, who is our head of Retail and Commercial and we will have a meeting room available in the Terminal. If you call me prior to arrival we can meet at the Information desk.

I see that your Prime Minister has called an early election. Let me know if that that impacts on availability for yourselves.

By way of an update, the programme is coming together well.

Meetings confirmed with the following:

- Lord Mayor of Cork, Des Cahill
- Leader of Fianna Fail, Micheal Martin
- Cork airport authority (to discuss links between Scotland and Cork – and tourism links). Prior to the lecture event, we have a meeting with the President of UCC.

UCC have organised a dinner for the evening of 20th April – invitation list attached.

We have requests in for meetings with the Minister for European Affairs, Dara Murphy, and are working with Cork Chambers of Commerce on a breakfast with local business leaders.

Wind in the right direction, we'll have all of this nailed down by tomorrow. I'll send you a draft programme, and a running order for the event at UCC.

On accommodation for the night of the 20th, perhaps worth looking at rooms in the Kingsley Hotel. Venue for the dinner and a short walk to UCC.

Hi Mary

It was really good to speak with you this morning. I followed up with a quick discussion with [REDACTED] – Mr Russell's Private Secretary.

I am happy to confirm that we can go with the timing as discussed – lecture running from 1100 – 1300. We are also keen to meet the President of UCC beforehand, so will block out 100 – 1100 for that purpose.

The structure for the lecture we discussed is also good – lecture lasting 30-45 minutes, followed by open Q&A and after close a reception. Mr Russell will really value the opportunity to meet and engage with the audience.

Mr Russell will be happy to work on the broad themes for the lecture we discussed – Brexit, the Irish dimension, constitutional futures, Scottish Irish relations and the future of relations among us and across Europe. If there is anything specific you think will be important to reflect please let me know.

As I mentioned, the plan is that he will arrive in Cork direct from Edinburgh on the Thursday afternoon (approx. 1430 arrival) – and depart from Cork airport on the Friday evening at 1835.

Many thanks for your offer of organising a dinner. I can confirm that we are really keen to do that. In terms of timing, shall we work on the basis of a 1915 start at the Kingsley for some pre dinner drinks/networking and sitting down at 2000?

My team will work with colleagues here, and contacts in Cork to develop a wider programme for Mr Russell's time in Cork not spent in the lecture. We will probably look to mix engagements with Cork politics, business, and civil society – so it will good to see who you propose to invite for the dinner so we can avoid too much duplication.

In saying that, I might try to organise a separate meeting with Dara Purphy – specifically in his ministerial capacity (he has the Europe portfolio, and Mr Russell has Brexit – so there is a great deal of common interest). Are you happy for me to approach Dara Murphy's office separately to see if a meeting outside the dinner would be possible?

I have copied my colleague Caroline walke, who will lead in my team on the logistics for the visit – please do let me know if there is someone in your team who [REDACTED] should liaise with?

Thank you for attending tomorrow evening's function. We look forward to meeting you and to engaging in important and constructive discussion.

We have a car booked and can make our own way. We should wrap up at UCC around 1300. Could we agree to meet at the site at 1400?

1640s. He was killed at Knocknanuss near Mallow, where there is plaque to him. We have surveyed the battlefield for the Battlefields Project, and also included it in the recent Cork County Council book on Rebel County Cork. We have also done work on the Cameron Highlanders in East Cork during the War of Independence, as part of the Landscapes of Revolution Project, including where they were based and engagements they were involved in. We have a lot of accounts relating to that around the town and East Cork. Some background to Knocknanuss below:

Bloodshed returned to Ireland– and Cork– on a dramatic scale in the 1640s. In 1641 a rebellion broke out when a number of Catholic Irish leaders, claiming to be acting on behalf of the King, attempted to seize control of the Irish government. Motivated by increasing pressure on Catholic landowners, the impact of the Ulster plantations and the deteriorating relationship between the King and Parliament, the revolt was initially largely centred on Ulster, but soon spread through the country. Many of the ‘Old English’ who had retained their Catholic faith joined with the rebels, who became known as the Confederates. Over the course of the decade that followed numerous armies entered the fray, variously championing the cause of the Confederates, the Royalists, the Parliamentarians and (in Ulster) the Scots. Most famously, Oliver Cromwell led his forces to Ireland in 1649, in a decisive move that ultimately brought about the war’s endgame, though the last fortress did not fall to Parliamentarian troops until 1653. The wars were characterised by religious hatred, which often led to the wholesale slaughter of soldiers and civilians alike.

Among the major engagements fought in Cork early in the war were the battle at Liscarroll in 1642, where the Confederate Army of Munster led by Garret Barry was defeated by a Royal army under Baron Inchiquin and the battle at Manning Ford/Cloghlea near Fermoy in 1643, where the Confederates succeeded defeating a Crown force, one of their few battlefield successes in Munster[i]. By far the best-known confrontation of the conflict in Cork occurred at the hill of Knocknanuss, near Kanturk, on 13 November 1647, the biggest battle ever fought in Munster[ii]. There the Confederate Army of Munster, led by Viscount Taaffe, faced Inchiquin’s

Hi [REDACTED]

I would like to confirm that Professor John O'Halloran, UCC Vice President for Teaching and Learning would be delighted to formally welcome Minister Russell to UCC on Thursday 20th April at 5pm in the President's Office.

The visit would take the form of a brief photo op and then a private meeting with Professor O'Halloran and colleagues. The President's Office is situated on the Quad (main UCC campus). We can arrange to meet the Minister and escort him to the venue if that were appropriate.

I trust these arrangements are satisfactory.

Thanks for your email.

The meeting with the VP for Teaching and Learning in UCC is scheduled for 5pm (my apologies – below was a typo).

I can arrange for a taxi to pick you up at City Hall and bring you to UCC – directly to the President's Office – for 5pm. Would this suit? If so, let me know what time you anticipate being ready to leave City Hall. If you have made other travel arrangements, you should advise the driver to enter the campus via the main vehicle entrance on College Road. The Security Office at the barrier will then advise where the car should drop you off (i.e. East Wing of the Quad, where we will meet you). Let me know what suits best.

The dinner is being hosted by the Irish Association for Contemporary European Studies (IACES) of which I am President and John O'Brennan is Vice President (see www.ices.ie).

Drinks will be informal. Dinner will be slightly more formal with a seating plan and some opportunity for discussion of the following day's lecture. I will very briefly welcome guests at the beginning of dinner and John O'Brennan will close dinner with a few words. The Minister is very welcome to speak also if he wishes.

I think that covers everything.

- The Vice President will ask the Minister to sign the Visitor's Book and there will be a photographer there to take some photos. Following that the Minister, VP and others will retire to the VP's Office for tea/coffee and discussion. OK
 - Dress code for dinner is business attire Noted

I also attach the final list for dinner. Unfortunately, quite a number of invitees are away this week and regret being unable to attend. In addition, it is worth noting the following:

- Lord Mayor of Cork, Des Cahill, cannot attend the dinner or lecture, but intends to call to UCC about 15 minutes in advance of the lecture to welcome Minister Russell to Cork. I trust this can be accommodated. Can we check if this is still the case? Mr Russell will be visiting the Mayor on his arrival in Cork on Thursday afternoon.

Two guests are unable to attend dinner, but will be attending the lecture on the Friday morning: Noted

- [REDACTED], Chief Executive of Cork City Council
- [REDACTED] iada MEP (Sinn Fein) – [REDACTED] office have advised that they intend to contact the Minister's Office directly to arrange a brief meeting with the Minister either pre- or post-lecture

In terms of media coverage, the Irish Times are sending a reporter to cover the event. I expect there may be more media interest on the day. I have advised that the Minister will be available for questions/interviews after the lecture. I trust this is satisfactory. If you have a copy of the Minister's script, we can distribute this to the media (the Irish Times have already requested this). We hope to get you a copy of the speech this afternoon, or at the very least before the dinner, however we are working with the Minister on it this afternoon.

We will also have a photographer to record Friday's lecture. With your agreement, we would like to take some shots in advance of the lecture (with the Lord Mayor, organisers, students, etc.). Would the Minister be happy for his lecture to be recorded? If so, great. If not, that's no problem. This should be fine.

Hope all is in order. Do email or give me a call if you have any further issues. Looking forward to meeting you.

Kind regards
