Yes, but only business critical things are going to DFM, this is more a matter for a Minister's approval. Suggest the following:

- "When discussion commenced with the Scottish Government, it indicated that it wished to consider this matter in parallel with finalisation of the new Framework Document. Following the publication of the Framework Document in June, Scottish Government officials now wish to consider this matter with the new Minister, who has yet to be appointed.

Errr I know, but isn't it the line that business is proceeding as normal? I therefore need to say something different in our update to the Council board. What about this?

- "When discussion commenced with the Scottish Government, it indicated that it wished to consider this matter in parallel with finalisation of the new Framework Document. Although that document has now been finalised, it is still the case that the Scottish Government sponsor team is considering this with relevant colleagues in other departments."

Kind regards,

Martin Fairbairn

Martin – we can't progress this until we have a Minister; I expect advice to be with them by the time of the meeting. [REDACTED]

We're again heading to the next Council board meeting. What can I say this time re the institutional accountable officer matter?

Nothing to report Martin, but I am happy to speak to this - and say whatever I can at that stage - next week should the board ask.

Last time we spoke you were in the middle of 'active consideration' with various SG people re the above. Just wondering if there was any update?
