Dear [redacted - 38(1)(b)],
Many thanks for your reply to my input regarding the Education Bill.
As an alternative to legislation you have set yourselves a daunting task by hoping to engage in collaborative working/engagement with COSLA.
In my opinion your hopes for the future for an improved education system in Scotland that will challenge the attainment gap will not succeed in the face of the undoubted intransigence you will face from COSLA.
The premise that the Scottish Local Authorities will give up any aspect of their present authority over local education is like believing that some day turkeys will vote for Xmas !!!!!
I wish you well but I'll not be holding my breath.
Yours sincerely,
[redacted - 38(1)(b)]
