Morning Alan,

Please see comment from Ms Cunningham as follows:

Environment Secretary Roseanna Cunningham said:

“It is fitting that today’s round table about the future of our iconic wild salmon is taking place at the beginning of Scotland’s Year of Coasts and Waters. I am pleased also to announce £750,000 of funding for an innovative project between the Scottish Government and Atlantic Salmon Trust, to work in partnership to track smolt migration on the west coast of Scotland and thereby seek to improve our understanding of this important fish.

“The decline in the numbers of wild salmon returning to Scottish rivers is of great concern, and caused by a range of complex factors. That is why the Scottish Government has committed, in its latest Programme for Government, to develop a Wild Salmon Strategy by September 2020.

“We will continue to work with key stakeholders such as Fisheries Management Scotland, the Atlantic Salmon Trust, District Salmon Fishery Boards and Fishery Trusts to do everything possible to safeguard the future of Scotland’s wild salmon.”

Thanks

[Redacted – Personal Information], [Redacted – Personal Information],

Happy New Year.

I am keen to get the news release for tomorrow’s event out this morning, but I have not yet received the quote from Roseanna Cunningham. Would you be able to chase this up please?

I attach the latest version for your information.

Kind regards,

Alan
