

New Rising Cases Campaign creative

TV Script

Janey Godley sits on a couch in her signature POV style, and states:

Covid cases in Scotland are up to high do.
And we cannae just let this virus run rampant like a wean at the buffet.
We've got to get it back under control so we can keep living freely.

That's where we all come in.
Don't be seeing aw yer pals at once, keep the numbers down.
And if you do see them – try to do it outside.
Keep on wearing face coverings cos it's the law in Scotland.

She holds up a swab, motioning towards her nose:

And gi'e yerself a wee prod twice a week.

Let's look efter each other.

Super: Let's stop the spike

Scottish Government – Janey Godley campaign

Why was Janey Godley selected as the figurehead for this campaign?

Janey Godley is one of the several celebrities we hope to involve in this. Celebrity involvement was felt to be important at this time, when the public have been exposed to communications about covid for a long period. With high levels of covid in circulation we needed a bold, arresting approach to capture the public's attention again.

Ms Godley is supportive of the Covid-19 safety behaviours and is compliant herself. She carries a 'no nonsense, straight talking' style which appeals to a wide range of people in Scotland.

How much was she paid?

Details of all cost relating to the campaign will be available upon completion of the campaign.

Alt: Ms Godley was paid £10,000 + VAT for her time and exposure across the campaign which will reach 4.16m people on average 14 times. This covers her involvement across TV, radio, PR and digital.

What are you spending on this campaign?

The total spend for this campaign cannot be confirmed as the length of time it will run has yet to be decided.

What authority does Janey Godley have to speak about coronavirus? She is a comedian

The scripts were developed in collaboration with the Scottish Government to ensure all information was accurate and represented the behaviours deemed of the highest public health benefit to slowing case numbers.

Are you using Janey Godley because she is a big SNP supporter/knows FM?

The decision to involve Janey Godley in this campaign was taken around her popularity in Scotland and Ms Godley performance and ability to speak frankly to the public.

Where did the shoot take place

The shoot took place on Wednesday 1 September in Glasgow.

Were correct Covid Protection protocols followed prior to the shoot?

Yes. All crew are required to provide a negative PCR COVID-19 test prior to attending a Scottish Government film shoot. Everyone requires to wear a mask and are recommended to keep a sensible distance from each other.

What protocols are in place during Scottish Government film shoots?

- All attendees take PCR tests in advance of shoot and must provide a negative result.
- All attendees advised to travel alone and avoid public transport wherever possible.
- All attendees complete and sign Health Declarations before arriving on set.
- Professional cleaning of private studio.
- Nurse on set to take all attendees temperature twice during the duration of the shoot.
- Covid supervisor on set (First Option certified).

- Covid supervisor sanitised all door handles, cleaned bathrooms, ensured distancing, providing hand sanitiser regularly, provide PPE.
- All attendees required to follow physical distancing best practice.
- All attendees to wear face coverings at all times.
- All food individually labelled and packaged.
- Only essential crew on set in main studio.
- First Option Safety Consultants are used by Production companies to advise on production safety from a COVID-19 perspective. Scottish Government guidance Close Contacts and Self-Isolation is strictly followed.

Who produced the camapign?

The camapign was developed by the Leith Agency. Media buying is delivered by Republic of Media. Both were appointed following competitive tender to handle public engagement camapigns related to public health.

Hi [REDACTED]

We'll share comments within the hour. As a quick heads up, we want to take forward Janey and [REDACTED] scripts for the main campaign, and if at all possible maybe [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] as part of a social campaign. Thinking about different audiences here.

Comments on favoured scripts to follow.

Thank you for your patience.

P/S First Minister

P/S Cabinet Secretary for Health and Social Care

In response to Scotland's current Covid-19 status, Ministers have requested a new overarching communications strategy to re-engage the public and urgently motivate the required behaviours to help bring case numbers down. The attached submission outlines a recommended approach.

Apologies for the tight response time, but in order to progress activity and launch a new marketing campaign by Friday 3 September, I would appreciate a response by close of play today, Sunday 29 August.

Kind regards

All

Just wanted to give you a wee update on where things currently stand with the new campaign and subsequent impact on Riskometer and all our supporting assets.

A submission has gone to Ministers today recommending the following (and [REDACTED] this differs slightly from our last conversation!!):

- TV, radio and digital campaign fronted by Janey Godley to air by Friday 3 September. Janey has agreed in principle to be part of this and all going well, shoot will take place on Wednesday in Glasgow. Ministerial approval (or not!) requested by cop today (Sunday).
- If Ministers approve, this campaign will replace Three Pillars/Beyond Level 0 and Riskometer device for this interim emergency period and we have a new strapline 'Let's stop the surge'.
- Updates to Jason Leitch Three Pillars campaign to progress as is and will hopefully be ready to switch with existing copy on Tuesday 31 August. This campaign will then run until new JG campaign is ready when it will be replaced.
- Supporting assets across Safety Measures, Testing and UAT should continue to support new JG campaign. If Ministers approve, we are recommending that the Riskometer device be removed and the endline updated to 'lets stop the surge'. Leith to look at all assets, consider script re-writes where appropriate and art direction for removal of riskometer device.
- At this point we are anticipating reverting back to Riskometer once this emergency period is over.

I realise we have no media booked post 5 September. I can't remember if UAT is booked from 6-13th? Leith to look at timings for updating supporting assets above and this will then impact on when we can be live. Some assets will be quicker than other to update so a staggered approach is fine.

Apologies but I will not be in the office on Monday, [REDACTED] and the team will be around to answer any further questions you may have, and I will be around for the rest of this evening.

Thanks so much for everyone's help over the weekend to get to where we are. No more can be done until we hear from Ministers. If Janey is not approved, we have 5 other scripts to revert back to and some other celebrities to consider.

We are liaising with [REDACTED] agent to understand his availability for this week and will advise accordingly. In the meantime we have a provisional hold on Janey Godley's diary for Wednesday.

We are also progressing with the campaign materials for certification and 12-15 year old vaccination should those initiatives go ahead.

Hi All

Just to say this was approved last night by FM, so from Friday 3 Sept onwards we will be running with the new campaign and the new line 'Stop the Surge'. It's like this will run for 3-4 weeks and we may then revert back to riskometer (make safer choice to reduce the risk).

[REDACTED] and the core covid team are working up the new campaign now and altering all the existing campaign assets to drop the riskometer line and icon and replace with Stop the Surge.

At the moment we are trying to secure [REDACTED] to front the campaign, but if not available it will be Janey Godley.

Can I ask you to think about your own areas asap and what this means in terms of updates and handling please?

We cannot have anything running after Thursday night with the old strapline 'Keep Scotland on Track'.

Any questions please shout.

Following on from the studio recce, our wardrobe brief is:

- Something which is a block colour would work well. Bright colours, not monochromatic.
- Unfussy and unpatterned.
- Something like the image below (see image below)
  - As [REDACTED] said, it would be good to see 4/5 options from Janey if possible

I have also attached a selection of props from the studio which we can look at using for tomorrow and find the most natural set up.

Following comments from the First Minister and Mr Yousaf, please find the following update:

Campaign Development

1. We have no confirmation on whether [REDACTED] is willing or able to support our campaign, so in view of timescales we are progressing with Janey Godley. Filming takes place tomorrow morning, Wednesday 1 September. We will continue conversations relating to using [REDACTED] and if possible add him to the campaign schedule at a later date.
2. We have developed a new strapline for the campaign, as the previous line, 'Let's stop the surge' is no longer felt to be suitable. The new line proposed is 'Let's stop the spike'.
3. Final scripts for TV, radio and 2 x digital variants are attached for information. These will be recorded tomorrow.

Action

Ministers are asked to note the above.

Thanks [REDACTED]

Copying in [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] who can provide any further detail. Could you provide [REDACTED] with the contact list? She will need to add any new contacts to her distribution list in advance of the update going out this afternoon to stakeholders / partners.

Suggested update on progress below:

The First Minister's parliamentary statements and opening remarks at media briefings make clear we are still asking people to work from home where possible. Ministers and clinicians reinforce this messaging in media interviews and press lines and we also amplify on our social media channels.

As part of marketing campaigns relating to compliance with guidelines, Test & Protect and Vaccination each has their own dedicated toolkit of materials and messaging which are circulated to stakeholders. Marketing has made these materials available to sector leads for distribution. Toolkits are continually revised as the campaign creative changes or messaging requires to be adapted. For example, currently in development is an updated poster asset which can be used by stakeholders to promote vaccine uptake. The update is to reflect that public can make greater use of drop-in clinics. The list of 150 stakeholders will be added to the marketing list of contacts for campaign toolkits relating to the pandemic.

Other specifics include:

Vaccine: reactivated campaign materials for hesitant audience and incorporating additional information on the percentage who are in hospital for COVID but are unvaccinated that are under 40 to highlight the risk to younger age group. In addition, targeted digital advertising to promote of drop-in clinics in Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dundee and Aberdeen where the uptake of the vaccine is lowest. This is being further supported by live reads on radio stations in these four cities that list drop-in clinics in the area. This activity is live until 10 September. A mail drop is being developed to target those who have received their first dose but it is more than 12-weeks since their appointment and they have not taken up the second dose. Preparations are underway to respond in event of decisions in regards to vaccinating those aged 12-15 and any booster programme.

Tests: Campaigns are currently active for symptomatic testing and self-isolation as well as universal testing. The creative for universal testing will be updated from 14 September to remind people to take their tests regularly to address the concern that some are just testing around special occasions. A updated toolkit will be issued when this creative goes live. Messaging on testing continues to be promoted through Scottish Government social media channels.

Guidance: Campaign featuring Janey Godley starts to be rolled out from Friday 3 September. This addresses face coverings, meeting in groups, meeting outdoors and weekly testing. This campaign is live across TV, radio and digital. This is supported by further campaign activity on safer behaviours. These assets have been updated to remove the riskometer and work under the "let's stop the spike" endline.

With thanks to [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

Hi [REDACTED]

Few comments below for you:

9:16 versions

The contrast between the light blue in Janey's outfit and the subtitles looks like it might not meet the accessibility requirements on the spec sheet (4.5:1). I'd get the agency to double check this using a contrast checker if they haven't already. This is a concern for me on the endframe too with the new tagline – it's a bit tricky to read. Can they check contrast on this too please and if it doesn't meet they could maybe move the tagline above her head for the 9:16 versions?

1:1 versions

Endframe's easier to read here. Can we double check font size is definitely 65pt?

Meetings film

Janey says "we need to keep the numbers doon" at 00:16. Subs only have "keep the numbers oon".

Thanks,
