[redacted] many thanks for your e-mail I have had a quick check with [redacted] for Monday and we're good to go and I've let them know that plan is to continue the system of bringing the commercial and legal together with 'team scotland' (SG and SE).

I've therefore forwarded you the invite for Monday and also attach here a redacted draft scope to let you see what is in scope with the commercial advisers and we can then think how to map the legal requirements in tandem.

I'm still getting confirmation from SE that they're fine to share all documentation, I expect they will be. It is sizeable (number/volume and MB) so we may set up a shared folder on our connect system to make that easier.

It is possible SE will bring along their [redacted] adviser to the kick off meeting in case there's any easy questions or documents they can just ping over but that's still being considered.

Best regards,

[redacted], I've now had a quick catch up with [redacted] in SGLD and would like to move to getting [redacted] formally involved in the Dazell work, in particular I understand that [redacted] supported previously when the back to back deal was done which may well be relevant here. [redacted] mentioned [redacted] as being previously involved.

I can have a brief chat about requirements etc. today and we are also having a kick off meeting with [redacted] on Monday morning to get everything started on contingency planning work too, might be helpful to have the right person (s) from your side at that for efficiency?

Let me know if worth chatting today in the first instance.

Best regards

[redacted], morning, conscious I didn't see replies to this but am focussed on the steel side so am assuming [redacted] confirmed what he wanted to do on the Lochaber side.

Separately, we're now looking at what we need advisory support wise for Liberty Steel Dazell, and that may at some point include legal advice, which presumably will be via our call down facility with [redacted], we can perhaps catch up later this week when I'm a bit clearer on the requirements. Am conscious SE do have legal advisers on board specifically in respect of their Loan so I need to work out what SG need distinct from that.

[redacted] there is social media also suggesting that customers of Liberty have been receiving Court orders not to make payments to Liberty and that GT will be in contact to advise who they should make the payments too.....

Thanks [redacted].

Just received a message from GFG Govt Affairs – she wrote "Bloomberg about to run a story on winding up petition having been lodged for a few of our Liberty Steel entities by parties acting on behalf of the Greensill creditor chain".

Is there a public source we can check for winding up petitions?

[redacted],

Further to the final comments which were shared yesterday, we have now updated our contingency planning update to reflect the latest Tata position – please find attached a final copy of our report, with a separate redacted version which can be shared with SE. Please note that the redactions applied are the same as applied to the previous draft.

Kind regards

Thanks [redacted]

There are a couple of other references to the Tata deal that also need to be updated, so we will reflect that and re-issue the finalised report.

I assume we should update the SE (redacted) version too?

Thanks
