Keith

Some comments and drafting suggestions in haste, sorry I couldn't get them to you last night – ran out of time. Happy to discuss further in the office.

We await REDACTED further thoughts on the outline draft position (and now on Liz's emails from today) but I am working on a draft sub so that we have something to adjust rather than start again from scratch. I have changed the recent draft quite substantially. It's rough and ready and needs more work but could you take a look and maybe help tighten/correct any of the language, including some of the points noted in my comments? And offer me any further thoughts on the argument it tried to make?

Thanks!

Keith

As we discussed, getting something into the system today is critical, even if we need to provide any further info in due course or talk her through, so this sounds good.
