Malcolm

To update you on an equality concern that the Equalities and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has raised with SQA, and SQA's plans to rectify this.

Issue: EHRC consider that SQA has not complied with its obligations under Regulation 5 of the Equality Act and are seeking to commence enforcement activity by means of a Section 23 Agreement.

Essentially EHRC has highlighted that SQA policies have not been reviewed, to ensure that in exercising its functions it complies with the general equality duty, within the timescales original set out for review. SQA in the past 18 months has made a concerted effort to address this.

Next Steps:

- EHRC will prepare a draft s.23 agreement for SQA's consideration, and SQA will develop an Action Plan setting out the steps they will take to achieve compliance, including timescales
- EHRC has requested SQA produce comprehensive information on the full portfolio of policies and practices currently operated by SQA.
- The action plan will be presented to SQA Board before any formal agreement is entered into.

Publicity: SQA expect the compliance agreement to be published, but this is likely to take the form of a joint statement outlining what has been agreed, the work done between SQA and the Commission and the duration of the agreement.

Background:

On 23 March 2021 the EHRC wrote to SQA expressing the view that SQA was in breach of Regulation 5 of The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012 ("the Regulations") Regulations and it intended to use its enforcement powers under the 2006 Act to remedy this situation.

SQA responded on 6 April 2021, having taken legal advice, setting out the actions being taken to address our compliance and a schedule of current and planned activity for the review of policies and practices. On 21 April 2021 the Commission wrote to SQA and offered to enter into negotiations with a view to reaching an agreement under section 23 of the 2006 Act.

We'll keep you updated on progress, and when the action plan will be published (including any draft lines to take). [Redacted s38(1)(b)]

PS/Cabinet Secretary for Education and Skills

Copy: as above

Urgent – SQA Equalities Agreement with EHRC

Purpose: To notify the Cabinet Secretary of the publication of SQA's agreement with Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) to improve its equality practices. A publication date is still to be agreed, but the announcement and agreement may be released on Monday 27 September and it is expected that this may attract media interest.

Issue: The EHRC had called upon the SQA to produce copies of Equality Impact Assessments for all policies and practices across its functions. The SQA had confirmed that it had 150 policies and practices across their functions and that it had published only 19 Equality Impact Assessments.

Summary: SQA entered into the section 23 agreement with the equality body following discussions on how it was meeting its obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The EHRC established that SQA was not routinely assessing the impact of its policies and practices against the three needs of the PSED, which requires public authorities to give due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between different groups. The issues raised by EHRC relate to policies from over a year ago and their insufficient formal documentation and publication. The agreement commits SQA to complete outstanding Equality Impact Assessments for its current policies and practices. SQA will also improve its approach to carrying out assessments for any new policies it may develop. SQA has agreed an action plan over the next two years with the EHRC to review its existing policies and processes, which will be monitored by EHRC periodically.

All required EQIAs have been carried out and published in relation to decisions around the cancellation of exams (by SG) and the resultant alternative approaches to qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals (by SQA).

Background: Initial engagement between EHRC and SQA began in April this year, with SQA presenting a paper to their Board of Management on 16 June on the principles and agreement to explore. This was followed with exchanges on legal drafting, development of action plan, development of supporting schedule of policy and practice reviews and press statement over July and August. A final paper was presented to the Board of Management on 1st September for approval, with EHRC and SQA signing the agreement on 21st September.

Section 23 Agreement: Section 23 of the Equality Act (2006) allows the Commission to enter into an agreement where they believe an unlawful act or a failure to comply with the public sector equality duty has taken place. In return for a commitment to progress an action plan and meet the public sector duty, the Commission agrees not to use their powers under Section 32 of the Equality Act 2006 to issue a compliance notice. The EHRC believe that SQA have not fully complied with their obligations under Regulation 5 of The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012, which requires them to document equality impact assessments of their reviewed policies and practices and to publish these equality impact assessments.

Media

The release is expected to generate media interest. SQA has prepared lines to take (below) and we will work with communications to develop additional lines.

“SQA has developed and published many equality review summaries, equality impact assessments and child rights and wellbeing impact assessments to inform its approaches and decisions in the development of qualifications, the recent alternative certification models, and to demonstrate compliance with its statutory obligations.

“However, SQA recognise there is work to do to improve its processes and practice from years gone by. Working with the Equalities and Human Rights Commission, SQA has already started to review and further embed equalities into those existing policies and processes that have been identified across all its activities.”

Subject: FOR CLEARANCE: SQA Equalities Agreement with EHRC - holding lines

PO/Cabinet Secretary for Education and Skills

The following lines have been drafted in anticipation of media approaches tomorrow following EHRC's publication of their agreement with SQA on equalities obligations. Grateful for clearance.

Many thanks

[Redacted s38(1)(b)]

A Scottish Government spokesperson said:

"We expect all public bodies to comply with their equality requirements and we are clear that the EHRC's findings must be fully addressed.

"We note that SQA has published all required Equality Impact Assessments in relation to the delivery of national qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals, and welcome its action plan to further embed equality across its activities, improving its processes and practice.

"The Scottish Government is in ongoing discussion with the SQA on this issue, and will be monitoring progress closely."

Urgent – SQA Equalities Agreement with EHRC

Purpose: To notify the Cabinet Secretary of the publication of SQA's agreement with Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) to improve its equality practices. A publication date is still to be agreed, but the announcement and agreement may be released on Monday 27 September and it is expected that this may attract media interest.

Issue: The EHRC had called upon the SQA to produce copies of Equality Impact Assessments for all policies and practices across its functions. The SQA had confirmed that it had 150 policies and practices across their functions and that it had published only 19 Equality Impact Assessments.

Summary: SQA entered into the section 23 agreement with the equality body following discussions on how it was meeting its obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The EHRC established that SQA was not routinely assessing the impact of its policies and practices against the three needs of the PSED, which requires public authorities to give due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between different groups. The issues raised by EHRC relate to policies from over a year ago and their insufficient formal documentation and publication. The agreement commits SQA to complete outstanding Equality Impact Assessments for its current policies and practices. SQA will also improve its approach to carrying out assessments for any new policies it may develop. SQA has agreed an action plan over the next two years with the EHRC to review its existing policies and processes, which will be monitored by EHRC periodically.

All required EQIAs have been carried out and published in relation to decisions around the cancellation of exams (by SG) and the resultant alternative approaches to qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals (by SQA).

Background: Initial engagement between EHRC and SQA began in April this year, with SQA presenting a paper to their Board of Management on 16 June on the principles and agreement to explore. This was followed with exchanges on legal drafting, development of action plan, development of supporting schedule of policy and practice reviews and press statement over July and August. A final paper was presented to the Board of Management on 1st September for approval, with EHRC and SQA signing the agreement on 21st September.

Section 23 Agreement: Section 23 of the Equality Act (2006) allows the Commission to enter into an agreement where they believe an unlawful act or a failure to comply with the public sector equality duty has taken place. In return for a commitment to progress an action plan and meet the public sector duty, the Commission agrees not to use their powers under Section 32 of the Equality Act 2006 to issue a compliance notice. The EHRC believe that SQA have not fully complied with their obligations under Regulation 5 of The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012, which requires them to document equality impact assessments of their reviewed policies and practices and to publish these equality impact assessments.

Media

The release is expected to generate media interest. SQA has prepared lines to take (below) and we will work with communications to develop additional lines.

“SQA has developed and published many equality review summaries, equality impact assessments and child rights and wellbeing impact assessments to inform its approaches and decisions in the development of qualifications, the recent alternative certification models, and to demonstrate compliance with its statutory obligations.

“However, SQA recognise there is work to do to improve its processes and practice from years gone by. Working with the Equalities and Human Rights Commission, SQA has already started to review and further embed equalities into those existing policies and processes that have been identified across all its activities.”

Many thx [Redacted s38(1)(b)]

I mentioned this at FMQ to prep and the First Minister was content to get the FMQ brief first thing when she comes in in the morning.

I will probably look to merge this with the main SQA-ACM brief – cutting that part back a bit. I will work on it this evening, but I'm not looking for anything else tonight. However, I would welcome an early review of my amended brief, so ideally if I can circulate tonight or by about 7am, I'd want feedback by 8 am – and could seek that from the ooh duty contact if preferable.

Thx again,

Enclosure 13 – FMQ note

ISSUE 30 Sep: EHRC has published an agreement with SQA to improve its equality practices.

Background:

- The EHRC had called upon the SQA to produce copies of Equality Impact Assessments for all policies and practices across its functions. The SQA had confirmed that it had 150 policies and practices across their functions and that it had published only 19 Equality Impact Assessments.
- Section 23 of the Equality Act (2006) allows the Commission to enter into an agreement where they believe an unlawful act or a failure to comply with the public sector equality duty has taken place. In return for a commitment to progress an action plan and meet the public sector duty, the Commission agrees not to use their powers under s.32 of the Equality Act 2006 to issue a compliance notice.
- This relates to policies and practices that were introduced or updated prior to 2020. SQA will deliver on all the agreed actions over the next 2 years, with EHRC monitoring progress every 6 months.

Other public sector Section 23 Agreements:

- In July 2021 the Scottish Legal Aid Board entered into a s.23 agreement, due to concerns on assessing the impact of their policies on different groups.
- Police Scotland and NHS Tayside have also previously entered into s.23 agreements with EHRC (now completed)

I expect all public bodies to comply with the requirements of the public sector equality duty and for SQA to fully address the EHRC's findings

- Welcome SQA's action plan, and their commitment to completing outstanding EQIAs for all their current policies and practices.
- Cabinet Secretary for Education and Skills is meeting with SQA Chief Executive early next week and will be discussing the section 23 agreement.
- The Scottish Government will be monitoring progress closely.
- SQA is committed to promoting equality, and worked closely with the EHRC to develop an action plan to further embed equality across its activities, improving its processes and practices.
- SQA regularly reports on its progress against its agreed equality outcomes.
- Equality continues to be a fundamental consideration in all decision making around education, including the qualifications.
- Lynn Walsh, EHRC 30 Sept [QUOTE] "By signing this agreement, we are pleased to see that the SQA has demonstrated its clear commitment to equality and to improving its practices. This will ensure that SQA continues to make necessary improvements in this area, reviewing all existing policies and ensuring that equality is at the heart of all of its practices”.

SQA’s action plan sets out a schedule of policies and practices to be reviewed and puts in place monitoring arrangements to ensure compliance.

- SQA has updated its policy development framework to ensure all EQIA’s are undertaken and published.
- SQA are in the process of completing all outstanding Equality Impact Assessments.
- SQA has published 32 new Equality Impact Assessments since August, in delivering against the action plan agreed with EHRC

SQA has published all required Equality Impact Assessments in relation to the delivery of national qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals.

- Stakeholder engagement is fundamental to Equality Impact Assessments - SQA works in close partnership with centres, stakeholder groups and education partners to inform SQA’s ongoing programme of equality reviews.
- Scottish Government has published EQIAs in relation to decisions around cancellation of the exams in 2020 and 2021.

EHRC found SQA had not updated Equality Impact Assessments for a number of its historic policies

- SQA are in the process of completing all outstanding Equality Impact Assessments.
- SQA has completed all required Equality Impact Assessments since the beginning of 2020, including for the awarding models.

Out of scope

SQA Agreed Actions:

1. Review of EqIA policy and associated template documents
2. Roll out of training and development activity to embed compliance with Regulation 5 obligations across SQA
3. Programme of communications regarding PSED, our duties and activities undertaken
4. Rolling programme of policy practice updates with EqIAs embedded as per attached schedule
5. Establish an oversight process within SQA to ensure EqIA actions are
 - a. captured
 - b. tracked to completion
6. Publication of EqIAs

SQA press lines

- “SQA is committed to positively contributing to and promoting equality, diversity and inclusion in all aspects of its work and has equalities at the heart of its thinking and decision making. Like other public bodies, SQA regularly reports on its progress against its agreed equality outcomes.”
- “SQA has developed and published many equality review summaries, equality impact assessments and child rights and wellbeing impact assessments to inform its approaches and decisions in the development of qualifications, the recent alternative certification models, and to demonstrate compliance with its statutory obligations.
- “However, SQA recognise there is work to do to improve its processes and practice from years gone by. Working with the Equalities and Human Rights Commission, SQA has already started to review and further embed equalities into those existing policies and processes that have been identified across all its activities.”

Agreed Media statement

Scottish Qualifications Authority signs legal agreement to improve equality practices

The Scottish Qualifications Authority (SQA) has signed an agreement with the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) to improve its equality practices.

The agreement commits SQA to complete outstanding Equality Impact Assessments for its current policies and practices. It has also agreed to improve its approach to carrying out assessments for any new policies it may develop.

The SQA entered into the agreement with the equality body following discussions about how it was meeting its obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The EHRC established that SQA was not routinely assessing the impact of its policies and practices against the three needs of the PSED, which requires public authorities to give due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between different groups. This is one of eight specific duties which help public authorities in Scotland meet the general equality duty.

Lynn Welsh, Head of Legal at the Equality and Human Rights Commission Scotland, said:

“Considering equality implications when making decisions isn’t a ‘nice to do’ for public bodies, it is a legal requirement to ensure that public institutions make better quality, robust decisions which work for everyone.

“By signing this agreement, we are pleased to see that the SQA has demonstrated its clear commitment to equality and to improving its practices. This will ensure that SQA continues to make necessary improvements in this area, reviewing all existing policies and ensuring that equality is at the heart of all of its practices.

“This agreement sends a clear message to other public bodies that considering the impact of their work on people from protected groups is critical in fulfilling their legal duties.”

Mike Baxter, Director of Finance & Corporate Services at SQA said:

“Although we have significantly tightened up on equality impact assessments in recent years, we recognise there is work to do to improve our processes and practice from years gone by. We will be taking this opportunity to work with the Commission to further embed equality into our policies and processes across SQA’s activities. Over the next 2 years we will be delivering our agreed action plan across a range of work streams. We are fully committed to ensuring equality and fairness are at the heart of all we do.

“We have embarked on a large-scale programme of review of our policies and practices and assessing and documenting the equalities impacts of those is a core element of this work.”

The EHRC has used its legal powers under section 23 of the Equality Act, to enter into the agreement with SQA. The agreement will be in place for 2 years and SQA will also implement an agreed action plan and report to the regulator on its progress. The equality regulator will monitor the agreed actions to make sure they are completed and will carry out an evaluation at the end of the 2 years.

Hello all

For awareness, Michael Marra has posted the Tweet below about the SQA's legal agreement with the EHRC. The Scotsman has asked for comment. Our cleared lines for the EHRC agreement are also below
[Redacted s38(1)(b)]

Over the last two years the decisions from the SQA leadership and Scottish Government ministers have discriminated against the poorest and the most vulnerable. The Chief Executive should resign immediately.

<https://twitter.com/michaeljmarra/status/1443579782088646662>

A Scottish Government spokesperson said:

“We expect all public bodies to comply with their equality requirements and we are clear that the EHRC’s findings must be fully addressed.

“We note that SQA has published all required Equality Impact Assessments in relation to the delivery of national qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals, and welcome its action plan to further embed equality across its activities, improving its processes and practice.

“The Scottish Government is in ongoing discussion with the SQA on this issue, and will be monitoring progress closely.”

A Scottish Government spokesperson said:

“We expect all public bodies to comply with their equality requirements and we are clear that the EHRC’s findings must be fully addressed.

“We note that SQA has published all required Equality Impact Assessments in relation to the delivery of national qualifications in 2020 and 2021, including appeals, and welcome its action plan to further embed equality across its activities, improving its processes and practice.

“The Scottish Government is in ongoing discussion with the SQA on this issue, and will be monitoring progress closely.”

Enclosure 17: SQA note provided to support Muir Review

Equality and Human Rights: approach to embedding Equality Impact Assessment

SQA published its Equality Mainstreaming Report 2019-21 and revised Equality Outcomes in May 2021. As part of our work to revise SQA's equality outcomes and action plans, we identified areas for improvement relating to equality impact assessments. This work aims to further emphasise the importance of embedding equality in policy development, planning and decision-making processes in SQA. More can be read about the planned activity in the equality outcomes document on the website: https://www.sqa.org.uk/sqa/files_ccc/sqa-equality-outcomes-2021-25.pdf

SQA has also signed an agreement with the Equality and Human Rights Commission. The agreement commits us to reviewing and documenting equality impact assessments on all policies and processes across the organisation's functions and further developing our approach to the development of new policies and procedures. The EHRC identified that SQA could improve the way it demonstrates its assessment of the impact of policies and practices against the three needs of the Public Sector Equality Duty. During the agreement, which will be in place for 18 months, SQA will implement a jointly agreed action plan and report on its progress ensuring that all equality impact assessments are undertaken and documented in accordance with its duties.

We are committed to making progress with equality impact assessments (EqIAs) to maximise potential positive impacts and reduce potential negative impacts on people who share one or more of the protected characteristics. We aim to ensure all SQA policies and procedures promote equality, and that employees embed equality impact considerations in the work they do. Equality impact assessment of new and revised policies is an ongoing requirement of SQA's policy development cycle and we aim to engage with our union representatives and employee networks as part of this process.

Online Equality Impact Assessment training has been developed and will be launched as part of the work to implement the equality impact assessment action plan as part of the agreement with the EHRC.
