Hi [redacted – 38(1)b],

Thanks for coming back to me. The submitting on the tracker part is an oversight on my part, it's been so long since I've had one I totally forgot about the process.

The first question should be with you and the second will follow in a couple of minutes.

Thanks,

Can you submit these on to the tracker? Cab Sec is content.

For future, can you ensure that questions are always allocated to us on the tracker so that we can see what is with us or about to come up for clearance. If they are not on the tracker we have no way of seeing what may be coming up to us for clearance.

Thanks

Subject: Urgent - Cycling World Championships - Parliamentary Questions

Hi [redacted – 38(1)b],

The Major Events Team have received 2 Parliamentary Questions in relation to the Cycling World Championships, with a deadline of close of play today. Below are the questions along with the proposed responses and a background note for the Cabinet Secretaries consideration and clearance. SPAD's have assessed and cleared.

Once you are content I will submit.

S6W-11155 Sarah Boyack: To ask the Scottish Government what plans it has to ensure that the UCI Cycling World Championships 2023 benefit local communities in Scotland.

“In August 2023 Scotland will host the first ever Cycling World Championships, which is predicted to welcome 2,600 elite cyclists, including para-athletes, from 120 countries, and up to 2 million spectators. The Scottish Government aims to spread the benefits from major events across Scotland. The Championships will take place across a number of locations in Scotland. The road races will pass through many communities, bringing opportunities to experience the excitement of the Championships to a wide audience in Scotland.

We are working closely with Cycling World Championships Limited and other partners to ensure communities across Scotland benefit from the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships.

A key aspect of delivering local community benefits is the 'Inspired By' projects, where the aim is to use the Championships as a catalyst for change and leave lasting benefits. The most notable 'Inspired By' project to date is the £8m Cycling Facilities Fund, which aims to provide accessible, inclusive and inspiring facilities and so increase participation in cycling, which can have physical health, mental health and environmental benefits. sportscotland has made 23 awards already across Scotland, with further awards to follow.

Another Inspired By project is the Community Cycling Fund which was announced on 19 May 2022, providing at least £1 million of support. The Fund is a joint initiative between the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships, EventScotland and sportscotland. The fund has been developed with the aim of creating a national celebration of cycling across all of Scotland's 32 local authority areas in the build up to the Championships, and to create lasting benefit post-event.

There are also opportunities for communities to get more directly involved with the event itself, for example through the volunteering programme. This will provide positive, high quality and meaningful volunteering opportunities. The aim is that the programme will engage new audiences into the joy of volunteering, be accessible and inclusive and increase community engagement with the championships. The programme is open for applications until 31 October with more details available at: Volunteer with us | 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships \(cyclingworldchamps.com\)

The Scottish Government will continue to engage with stakeholders to amplify and accelerate activity linked to the Championships, including with a view to delivering further community benefits.”

S6W-11156 Sarah Boyack: To ask the Scottish Government what plans it has to ensure that the UCI Cycling World Championships 2023 lead to increased cycling in Scotland.

“The 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships has been a policy-led event from inception. While successful delivery of the 13 world championships in August 2023 is a key focus, an overarching aim is to use the event as a catalyst for positive change and encourage more people to participate in cycling.

We are working closely with Cycling World Championships Limited and other partners to ensure that the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships supports increased cycling participation in Scotland. We have created a Policy Advisory Group, to help drive forward the wider policy ambitions of the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships, bringing together Cycling World Championships partners to assist with join up across policy areas, and to consider initiatives and approaches. There are six policy pillars. These are: Participation; Sport; Transport; Industry; Tourism; and Events. Getting more people on bikes is fundamental to success in all of these areas.

More specifically, through ‘Inspired By’ projects the Scottish Government aims to use the Championships as a catalyst for change and leave lasting benefits, increasing cycling participation. These projects include delivering accessible, inclusive and inspiring facilities through the £8 million Cycling Facilities Fund and engaging in every Local Authority area through the £1 million Community Cycling Fund will provide opportunities and inspiration to cycle.

The Championships is also working with Scottish Cycling and Cycling Scotland to increase cycling participation levels, develop sporting excellence through their talent and performance programmes and target a more diverse audience through programmes such as Scottish Cycling’s ‘Lets Ride, Breeze’, aimed specifically at women and young people, and Cycling Scotland’s ‘Pedal’ events –supporting people new and returning to cycling, including families.

There are also opportunities for communities to get more directly involved with the event itself, for example through the volunteering programme. This will provide positive, high quality and meaningful volunteering opportunities. The programme is open for applications until 31 October with more details available at: Volunteer with us | 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships \(cyclingworldchamps.com\)

Furthermore the promotional strategy for the championships is to appeal to a broad and diverse audience, not just those that are existing fans of cycling or cyclists. Diverse imagery will be used, and not just in a sporting context, to promote a variety of different uses of the bike and reinforce the message that cycling is for all.

The Scottish Government will continue to engage with stakeholders to amplify and accelerate opportunities linked to the Championships, including with a view to increasing participation in cycling.”

Document 2

BACKGROUND NOTE FOR S6W-11156

1. Sarah Boyack is a Scottish Labour MSP for Lothian (Region) who is the Party spokesperson on Culture as well as being a member of the Constitution, Europe, External Affairs and Culture Committee and Convenor of the Cross-Party Group in the Scottish Parliament on Culture and Communities.

2. Ms Boyack has asked two written questions:

S6W-11155 Sarah Boyack: To ask the Scottish Government what plans it has to ensure that the UCI Cycling World Championships 2023 benefit local communities in Scotland.

S6W-11156 Sarah Boyack: To ask the Scottish Government what plans it has to ensure that the UCI Cycling World Championships 2023 lead to increased cycling in Scotland.

3. It is not fully clear why Ms Boyack has asked these questions, in that we are not aware of a particular issue or concern; however, the questions follow on from a series of seven FOIs Ms Boyack recently sent to the Scottish Government in relation to the Cycling World Championships. These mostly centred around correspondence between the Scottish Government and event partners, although two specifically asked about briefings prepared for Ministers and Directors regarding funding arrangements. The last of these FOIs was answered on 21 September.

4. The 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships will bring together 13 world championships from different cycling disciplines for the first time in one unprecedented event. It is set to be the biggest cycling event ever to take place in the world.

5. The event is policy-led, reflecting the desire and opportunity to be a catalyst to accelerate key policy objectives to deliver widespread benefits across Scotland with the policy work stream centring around People, Planet and Place and building on six policy pillars: Participation, Tourism, Industry, Sport, Major events, Transport.

6. Values of the event focus around equality, inclusivity, diversity and sustainability, which are being built into event planning. The event will aim to engage new audiences and promote wider participation, promote Scotland as a Cycling Nation, and deliver on policy ambitions to make Scotland healthier, wealthier and greener.

If the answer to a written PQ needs to be changed then the revised answer must be provided on a PQ template (Word) and a letter drafted to go from the relevant Minister to the MSP, who originally asked the question, apologising and explaining that the answer provided was incorrect and that you are now providing the correct info.

The email with the draft Ministerial letter and revised PQ should be sent to the Private Office and copied to Parly Clerk's Office. The Minister's Private Office have to clear both the letter and the revised PQ and issue it to the MSP, and then forward the amended PQ to Parly Clerks Office to send to Chamber Desk to update the Written Answers' Report on the Parly website

Your ref: S6W-11155

I am writing to you in relation to your recent Parliamentary Question S6W-11155, regarding the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships. Your question was:

To ask the Scottish Government what plans it has to ensure that the UCI Cycling World Championships 2023 benefit local communities in Scotland.

I wrote to you on 11 October providing a response to your question. I have since been informed that a figure included in the response is incorrect and I am therefore writing to you to apologise for this and to provide the correct information.

The error relates to the sentence:

In August 2023 Scotland will host the first ever Cycling World Championships, which is predicted to welcome 2,600 elite cyclists, including para-athletes, from 120 countries, and up to 2 million spectators.

The line should read:

In August 2023 Scotland will host the first ever Cycling World Championships, which is predicted to welcome 2,600 elite cyclists, including para-athletes, from 120 countries, and up to 1 million spectators.

I apologise for providing an incorrect figure in my response. The figures contained are provided by the Cycling World Championships Limited.

I have updated the Presiding Officer to correct the Official Record and am providing you with a revised response directly.

The Fund is a joint initiative between the 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships, EventScotland and sportscotland. The fund has been developed with the aim of creating a national celebration of cycling across all of Scotland's 32 local authority areas in the build up to the Championships, and to create lasting benefit post-event.

There are also opportunities for communities to get more directly involved with the event itself, for example through the volunteering programme. This will provide positive, high quality and meaningful volunteering opportunities. The aim is that the programme will engage new audiences into the joy of volunteering, be accessible and inclusive and increase community engagement with the championships. The programme is open for applications until 31 October with more details available at: Volunteer with us | 2023 UCI Cycling World Championships \(cyclingworldchamps.com\).

The Scottish Government will continue to engage with stakeholders to amplify and accelerate activity linked to the Championships, including with a view to delivering further community benefits.
