TNUoS Tarrifs

[REDACTED- REG 11] updated the latest thinking on the TNUoS review, noting that Ofgem are due to publish the draft terms of reference for the task force and how stakeholders can be involved

[REDACTED- REG 11] did note that there has been a delay to this information coming forward for a number of reasons and that there is an expectation that both SG and UKG will be able to attend the task force as observers

The Cabinet Secretary asked for more detail on the timeline and when we can expect the task force to start delivering change

The intention is that Ofgem won't need to wait for the task force to conclude to start introducing change. They are keen to incrementally make change as the task force progresses.

The expected timeline is that they should be in a position to start communicating issues by September/ October with some quick wins introduced by 2024 and some with longer lead in times

The Cabinet Secretary requested that officials are kept up to date on this work
