It was great to catch-up yesterday, [Redacted], and I'm glad that we'll be able to work together this year on Tartan Week. As I mentioned, attached is the Residence bid form. There's a hold for this event in our calendar from 4:30pm-6:30pm on 14 April, which we can officially book once the bid is approved by Emma. If you have any questions about the form, don't hesitate to reach out.

As [Redacted] mentions, it'll be great to see the Tartan Week programme you have, whenever you get a chance to share.

Hi [Redacted],

Thank you so much for navigating the consulate logo logistics with me yesterday.

In return, I'm sending along two image files. The first is the invitation that will be embedded into the body of an email, and I've included a copy of the text as it appears in the invite below for ease of editing. We still need to create an Eventbrite for the event, but once we do the hyperlink will be added into the invitation.

The second, horizontal image is formatted for the Eventbrite page header, and the same text below will appear in the page's event description.

The Scottish Government and Scottish Development International (SDI) cordially invite you to an invitation-only reception and networking event hosted by Emma Wade-Smith, His Majesty's Trade Commissioner for North America, and with Scotland's Cabinet Secretary for the Constitution, External Affairs and Culture Angus Robertson.

The evening will bring together alumni of Scottish Universities and members of the GlobalScot community for a spirited event highlighting Scotland's reputation as a center for talent, innovation and sustainable growth. Guests will enjoy passed hors d'oeuvres courtesy of Seafood Scotland, drinks from Harris Gin and plenty of time for networking.

Please RSVP via this Eventbrite link at your earliest convenience, as space is limited.

Happy to discuss any proposed edits.

Best,

Good morning, [Redacted].

I hope all is good with you and yours. I sincerely apologise for not having spoken to you recently. [redacted]. Arrangements for UK Gov participation came together quite late and advanced by the Scotland Office with our budget support. Principally we have sponsored an SNABC reception/panel discussion on Clean Growth and collaborated with SFE and Consulate staff on a Financial Services Roundtable at EY. The latter will focus on Asset Management. My understanding is that [Redacted], Scotland Office briefed [Redacted] on this during a Teams call.

It would be great to catch up at some point. If there is the opportunity to attend the SG reception on Friday, I would be grateful. I do appreciate that places are limited.

Best wishes.

Good afternoon,

We are delighted to confirm your attendance at the upcoming 25th Anniversary of the New York Tartan Day Parade recreation tomorrow morning, Thursday 13 April, 8:30am – 10:30am.

Arrival

The event will begin outside the offices of the British Consulate General, One Dag Hammarskjöld Plaza, 885 2nd Avenue (off 47th Street), New York. Please arrive at the 47th Street entrance of the building where members of the Consulate will guide you and assemble the procession. We will start promptly at 8.30am so please arrive in good time.

Parade

At 8.30am we will begin the parade to the UN building, after which Minister John Lamont MP and Deputy Consul General Hannah Young will make some remarks. We will return to One Dag Hammarskjöld Plaza by 9.15am.

Breakfast

You are invited to join us for breakfast at the Consulate General on the 27th floor. Members of staff will guide you to the room. We'll need to know all names for our building's security system, so if you haven't sent them to me as yet, please do so.

We look forward to seeing you tomorrow morning. Please do forward these instructions to anyone in your group that you've been in-touch with directly about this event.

All the best,

Hi [Redacted],

Good to run through everything earlier, feels like a busy but good week for everyone involved!

[Redacted] said you'd asked about Emma's speaking part at the alumni event. The focus for the event will be around how our HE institutions (and, by extension, our alumni) contribute to making Scotland a great place to do business. Our Cabinet Secretary's remarks will be focused around that, with warm words about diaspora added in.

We are anticipating that two of our Scottish Government Trade Envoys, Suneil Mishra and Stephen Leonard, will also give remarks. There might also be a short slot for Andrea Nolan, Principal and Vice Chancellor of Edinburgh Napier University (TBC) so we are asking that all remarks are fairly brief: otherwise we'll spend the whole time listening to them and not doing the networking that the event is supposed to accommodate!

Hope this helps you draft something, please let me know if there is more info you need!

We have indeed been chatting to [Redacted] about our reception at the residence, which we're very much looking forward to. I'm also looped in with the Committee Clerk on the Scottish Affairs Committee visit as well, as they will be in town Friday/ Saturday, as well the Presiding Officer from the Scottish Parliament, plus 2 MSPs, plus the Shadow Secretary of State for Scotland. There will be a lot to co-ordinate!

Hi Hannah,

I had a chat with [Redacted] this afternoon about SoS Scotland's impending visit, which he and [Redacted] are leading on. We touched on Mr Lamont's visit as well, and [Redacted] suggested you (or your team) are picking this up?

If so, I'd be keen to chat about plans or ideas for Mr Lamont during Tartan Week, as we will be running a number of events and business meetings and I'm keen that we don't cannibalise audiences, run similar events one day after the other etc. There are also events that we would be happy to include Mr Lamont in, and public events that we can highlight. I think there is already some coordination around Visit Britain and Visit Scotland, which is great, I'd like to ensure we can continue that across the days that we have SG and UKG Ministers in town!

Very best,

Subject: RE: Reception for MoMA screening

Hi [Redacted]!

No problem, I know the feeling. I'm wading through hundreds of emails over the last couple of days- serves me right for being away from my desk, I guess...

I've noticed the lack of food content, which is probably to my benefit as it only serves to make me hungry, and I'm not in a place where excess food is acceptable – by which I mean I might have to buy a new kilt if I am not careful!

For the MoMA event; I have the following from Screen Scotland:

Budget – approx. £6k
Guests: c 40
Screen industry guests – [Redacted]
Format – short reception then showing of the film immediately afterwards.
Ideally the bar would let us bring a small whisky/ gin tasting in, but that isn't essential.

Any thoughts from [Redacted] and [Redacted] would be most welcome! [Redacted] looks quite interesting, it is a 10 minute walk from MoMA, but otherwise it looks reasonable and nice! I think we walked a similar distance last year from the reception, which wasn't so bad. I'll leave it with them.

Once we get sight of their guest list I'll share with you for any thoughts for BCGNYC guests to both the reception and the showing (which obviously has many more seats, so much more opportunity to bring colleagues and contacts along).

Thanks also for your help with the team on the Friday night event! I've not been on the calls, but it sounds like it is going well!

[Redacted]

PS: I didn't get to meet Lulu last year, which is my greatest professional disappointment.

Hi [Redacted],

SO sorry its taken me so long to reply to this – I've been absolutely slammed with all things end of financial year related!! Which means, rather disappointingly, I haven't had it in me to do much posting on the food insta! But I promise, once you find a few good meme pages to follow, you'll def have a lot better content to keep up with, rather than all my nonsense J.

In terms of the MoMa event – because things are always are changing in New York, we don't keep any list/database of venues in NYC – as we always need to reach out to them in a case by case basis depending on the ask. If you could let me know the below though, I can share with [Redacted] and [Redacted] here and we can let you know if there are any venues we know that could be a good fit.

Budget

Estimated amount of guests

Who is the audience

What is the format? Is it just reception or is there a performance element/are you showcasing?

Anything else you're considering/important for the venue to have

Based on last year's event, I told them some details from my perspective of what it sounds like you're looking for, and [Redacted] told me she went to an event at the SUNY Global Center and she said she was really impressed by their event space, and the prices are fairly reasonable. Below is their pricing guide. There's also The Whitby Hotel, which is gorgeous but pretty pricey tbh!

[Redacted]

Sorry if that's not as helpful and having a whole list, but hope this guides you in the right direction! Once that's sorted, let me know if you'd like us to feed-in any wider cultural contacts in NYC to this event.

Cheers,

[Redacted]

PS - Meeting Lulu last year was the only time my mom has ever been impressed by my job!

Hello!

Hope all is well with you! I have still not posted to Instagram, I don't think I have the brain space for it: nor do I do enough interesting things. I do enjoy your food content though, despite it helping ruin my diet plans by making me hungry. I'm gradually adding more things to follow, so I look less weird than when it was just your two accounts, then [Redacted]. Maybe I'll get more into it?

Anyway, I have a Tartan Week question. Did you previously say that you had a sort of directory of NYC venues? We're talking to Screen Scotland about showing a Scottish film at MoMA again during Tartan Week, and they are looking to scope costs and a potential reception venue beforehand - you'll remember last year it was nearby, but probably could have been a better venue. Are there any venues nearby that you would suggest we connect Screen Scotland to as potential venues?

Best,

[Redacted]

Hi both,

As an FYI – and in case of any interest on your side – I spoke to the [Redacted] at Panmure House (Adam Smith's last remaining residence) and [Redacted] at Heriot Watt University, last week. Both are engaged in the work around celebrating Adam Smith's tercentenary this year. Both will be in NYC during Tartan Week.

I've added them to our list for the HE event on Friday evening and made some introductions elsewhere in NYC, but thought I'd flag to you in any engagement with them might be value or interest – happy to make introductions if it might be useful. If of no interest, please feel free to ignore!

Best,

Hi [Redacted],

Hope you had a lovely weekend! Making a connection with [Redacted] on the planned event for 14 April at HMTC residence. [Redacted] is now beginning to firm up plans for this, including food and drink partners, and is keen to chat about the practicalities!

Best,

Hi [Redacted] that sounds very sensible to me. Are you perhaps free on Tuesday (afternoon our time, morning yours)? Likewise we would want to extend invites to our events.

[Redacted] – great to catch up last week too! I'm adding other to the copy list as I'm conscious there might be two separate threads going about the same conversation and moving you to BCC for the time being.

Scotland Office team – Is it worth us jumping on a call next week to chat through respective programmes? Clearly we will have separate agendas/ programmes but would be good to get a sense of each other movements, be clear where it's likely that our respective Ministers will be at the same events and to discuss one or two things we are doing where we'd be happy to extend invites?

Thanks

Hi [Redacted]

It was great to connect with you last week and really brilliant to hear of all the plans for Tartan Week – it's shaping up so well.

I mentioned to you that I was working with [Redacted] (copied) and his colleague [Redacted] (also copied) and I thought it might make sense to connect you all so that integration and collaboration can be achieved where appropriate.

Hoping the connection is useful and that we can deliver something brilliant over the coming weeks.

With the warmest of wishes,
