Thank you for your recent letter in relation to an relationships between SCRA and the 112 UN Listed companies

I can confirm that SCRA have no relationship with any of the listed body in relation to:-

- grants
- Investment
- Procurement
- Partnership
- Sponsorship
- other types of funding

Please take this is a 'nil return'

We have identified a small number of transactions through our GPC arrangements with the following business

17. Booking.com - Amsterdam NDL

I suspect that these transactions relate to purchases of individual accommodation by and/or on behalf of members of SCRA staff. We would very much welcome advice from Scottish Procurement in relation to this. On the basis of this advice we will then issue instruction to our GPC holders. I also note that Expedia are a listed company providing similar services and whilst we have no transactions with this company I suspect similar advice will apply.

Can you please in the first instance make contact with [redacted], Procurement Officer in relation to my comments above and we can clarify expectations and issue any further direction.

Kind regards

Hi there,

Following Richard Rollinson's letter to Adrian Gillespie our CEO, regarding businesses operating in occupied Palestinian territories and guidance on human rights due diligence, please find attached a completed template for Scottish Enterprise as requested.

Our team completed a search of our system for each of the companies as named on the UN list which confirmed that none have an account managed relationship with Scottish Enterprise, none are active within the SDI global company account management portfolio of existing investors and none have accessed Scottish Enterprise grant support.

On that basis, it is a nil return for Scottish Enterprise as we do not have a relationship or any planned activity with any of the 112 companies identified.

Information available in our systems shows that Scottish Enterprise has previously provided support to a company acquired by Motorola Solutions in 2020. This support pre-dates the purchase of the company and there have been no further dealings to date with them.

I refer to your email of 15 December to all Public Bodies.

We confirm we have no ongoing relationship or business engagement with the companies listed.

This is based on analysis of the 112 companies on the list and comparison with company information held within our Accounts Payable system, our Purchase Order system, our contracts register, our Accounts Receivable system and Property Management records maintained by our external managing agents.

Many Thanks

Dear Colleague,

HM Fire Service Inspectorate (HMFSI) was forwarded, by the Public Bodies Unit, a letter dated 13 December 2021 from Richard Rollison regarding the above. The request was to reply identifying any engagement with the companies of interest.

I'd like to clarify the status of HMFSI. HMFSI is not technically a public body. Inspectors are appointed, and have functions defined, under the Fire (Scotland) Act 2005, HMFSI is not a separate legal entity.

When required, HMFSI procures goods and services using Scottish Government systems and processes. I can confirm therefore that HMFSI has no relationship with any of the companies mentioned on the UN list referred to within the letter received.

I hope this is helpful.

Dear colleague,

I write in response to your letter of 13th January, and on behalf of the Scottish Legal Complaints Commission.

We have no direct business relationship in terms of contracting or invoicing with these companies, and no contract or relationship names these companies as a sub-contractor.

To the best of our knowledge there is no contact within the wider supply chain.

Staff have individual money purchase pension schemes (Standard Life), as we are not part of civil service pension arrangements. Whilst funds are transferred by the SLCC the choice of funds and investments rest with staff.

☒ I confirm that VisitScotland has a relationship or planned activity with at least one of the 112 companies identified by the UN Human Rights Office as being involved in activities related to illegal Israeli settlements in occupied Palestine. I have provided further detail in the table below

Name of Company	Nature of relationship or planned business activity
1. Expedia Group Inc	Paid for and 'in kind' marketing activity with online travel agents (OTAs) is one part of VisitScotland's (VS) overall marketing approach. Such marketing activity is undertaken via a third-party media agency, Carat. VS has appointed Carat under the Scottish Government framework SP-18-007 for Media Planning, Buying &amp; Associated Services and OTA activity is procured via this agreement as a Media Buy. Options are scoped by Carat and recommendations presented to VS. All Media Schedules are subject to final agreement by VS. VS worked with Expedia in relation to paid-for marketing activity during 2020 and 2021, via the contract with Carat. This activity was established in order to target the post-restriction tourism market, with the intention of raising awareness of all the different experiences people can enjoy on a break to Scotland. In order to do this, a 'Scotland hub' was featured on the Expedia website to inspire undecided visitors to consider and book Scotland. There was also a Scotland landing page on the Expedia website, and across other Expedia brands. This was part of a wider suite of activity to drive domestic bookings post-lockdown.

2.       Tripadvisor Inc	VS worked with Tripadvisor in relation to paid for marketing activity during 2020 and 2021, via the contract with Carat outlined above. Much like the Expedia activity, this arrangement was established in order to target the post-restriction tourism market, with three hubs – wellness, outdoor and city breaks – being featured on the Tripadvisor website. The intention of this marketing campaign was to raise awareness of what a holiday in Scotland can offer and encourage UK visitors to plan a Scotland trip. As above, this was part of a wider strategy to drive domestic bookings post-lockdown.
3.       Booking.com B.V.	VS has not worked with Booking.com on any paid marketing activities since 2018, and Booking.com are not set up for paid media activity. VS does have an agreement with Booking.com in respect of linking to Booking.com from its own website, which is on a standard form and aligned with VS's agreement with other booking providers that are linked to via visitscotland.com web listings.
4.       AirBnB Inc	VS has not worked with Airbnb on any paid marketing activities since 2018. VS does, however, have a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in place with Airbnb which seeks to enhance the economic and social benefits of tourism and travel for Scotland in a way that is sustainable and authentic. Marketing activities during 2020 and 2021 involved a Scotland themed landing page on Airbnb's website. VS also provided access to their digital media library and provided input on themes and locations, as well as PR support.
5.       Advice Received	VS has taken advice on these matters and it is our view that VS's engagement with the above-mentioned companies is does not fall within the scope of the Investment Policy Guidance or the Procurement Policy Guidance, on the basis that it does not involve any investment relationship with said organisations (within the meaning of the Investment Policy Guidance) or said organisations being involved in any procurement exercise conducted by VS. In view of VS's statutory purpose and the practical need to engage with the major OTAs to ensure the best possible reach and exposure for Scottish tourism

	and future economic recovery, partnerships with these organisations are essential if Scotland is to fulfil its potential as a visitor destination

Dear Richard,

In response to your letter of 13th December 2021, please find attached the completed pro-forma which indicates indirect dealings with two companies (albeit through their UK subsidiary organisations) in relation to very minor expenditure over the past two years on accommodation bookings to support Scottish Canals business.

Also, for one of these two UK subsidiaries (Booking.com), we utilise this organisation to support the promotion and booking facilitation for our own holiday let accommodation in the Crinan Canal area in Scotland. This is a critical and ongoing service to support our commercial operations.

Please let me know if you have any questions or need anything further in this regard.

Hi,
Regarding "Any ongoing relationships with businesses identified in a UN list of 112 companies"

We have internally reviewed the list of suppliers and subsequently checked the data sent by NSS and can confirm that NHS 24 has not made payments and does not have a relationship with any of the businesses identified as being involved in activities related to illegal Israeli settlements in occupied Palestine territories.

Let me know if need anything else regarding this.

Cheers.
