ANNEX A

Background – National Nature Reserve - Rum

Rum National Nature Reserve (NNR) lies about 25 kilometres from Mallaig off the west coast of Scotland. The reserve is just over 10,800ha, and harbours a wealth of wildlife, and dramatic scenery arising from the volcanic geological formations and is managed by NatureScot. There are 3.5 FTE staff employed by NatureScot plus a 2-year student placement and several volunteers.

In particular, Rum is renowned for its spectacular seabird colonies, which include one of the largest breeding colonies of Manx shearwaters in the world. Golden eagles and white-tailed sea eagles breed here, and soar over the crags and moorland. Red-throated divers nest on the edges of some of the smaller lochs. Much of the island is upland, with vast open areas of wet and dry heaths, blanket bog and species-rich grasslands, with important areas of scree and crevice vegetation, and small freshwater lochs. The rare slender green feather-moss grows in flushes in some of the upland areas, and is just one of a vast array of scarce mosses, liverworts and other plants that flourish on Rum.

Everyone is welcome to visit the island and, as many do, stay for several days to discover for themselves its wildlife, its spectacular scenery, and that special island atmosphere. Rum has been an NNR for more than half a century and, in that time, has gained a reputation for supporting research and educational visits and we would like to do more. Rum is one of a suite of NNRs in Scotland. Scotland's NNRs are special places for nature, where some of the best examples of Scotland's wildlife are managed. Every NNR is carefully managed both for nature and for people, giving visitors the opportunity to experience our rich natural heritage.

Virtually the entire island is designated as a Special Area of Conservation (SAC) recognising the importance of the otter population and a wide range of upland, coastal and freshwater habitats.

Red deer densities are at or slightly below 10 deer per Km². NatureScot staff as well as a lease holder from Muck delivers the annual deer cull to protect biodiversity on the island. Rum has been the host to the longest running large mammal research project in the UK (Red Deer)

Rum is also designated a Special Protection Area (SPA) because of the internationally important breeding populations of Manx shearwaters, red-throated divers, and the wide range of other breeding seabirds. Many of these features are also included in the island's designation as a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI).

The Earth science importance of the Reserve is also recognised with no less than seven Geological Conservation Review (GCR) sites, all of which are protected as designated features within the SSSI. On a wider scale, Rum is included within the Lochaber Geopark and also falls within The Small Isles National Scenic Area (NSA).

Rum's archaeological and built heritage has also been recognised, with 19 Scheduled Ancient Monuments (SAM) and seven listed buildings, as well as a garden on the 'Inventory of Gardens and Designed Landscapes'.

Dear Lorna Slater,

just in case this letter and request got lost in the understandable busyness of last 3 weeks (and apologies for having sent this to your msp and not Ministerial address).

Kinloch castle situation has obviously moved on, but the need for a solution and our outstanding request for ongoing support is still, we hope, relevant.

The key points in final paragraphs are:

Scottish Government

...We would like ...SG support to ...further investigations into a broader approach to the Castle's future, including the possibility of alternative outcomes to restoration. This would include employing a Project Manager and bringing in specialist resource to fully explore what could be possible.

As IRCT we will continue to commit significant time and our own staff resource to ensuring we create a sustainable future for Rum.

... It is likely to take 6 months [at least] to complete and, if approved, we would look to appoint someone early in the next financial year.

Your flexibility and support to do this would be very much appreciated.

We assure you of our continued engagement in the process of securing a sustainable future for Rum

Thank you again for considering our request.

Regardless, we hope also to continue our meetings with SLC and others (NS, HES, etc) in pursuing a positive outcome.

Thank you.

Dear Minister,

Ministerial visit to Isle of Rum planned for Friday 12th May 2023

We are delighted that you plan to visit Rum. We agree that this would be an excellent opportunity to progress the work to date on both the Castle and wider island issues. The last year has been a particularly busy one for the community and for the IRCT and whilst by no means our only challenge, the Castle has been a significant focus for our energies.

PARAGRAPH REDACTED

IRCT will hold an AGM within the next few weeks to recruit new members to grow and strengthen our Board and also recruit a new Chair.

PARAGRAPH REDACTED

Whilst we feel that much could still be made of your visit of great value for the community, it clearly comes at a particularly challenging moment for the IRCT. And as the principal representative body for the island community, it would be very disappointing if you were not able to meet with Board members whilst you were on Rum.

We fully appreciate that your own timetable must be incredibly busy and SENTENCE REACTED. And we stand very willing to continue to play our part in helping to make that happen. However, would it be possible, to ask if an alternative date could be found that would allow both a better representation of voices from across the community and also from a hopefully enlarged and rejuvenated IRCT Board? And/or the use of a zoom meeting as an interim or an additional option?

We hope that one of the above suggestions is possible, but we will make every effort to make a success, for our part, of whatever you propose.

Kindest regards

Sincerely

NAME REDACTED

Dear Lorna Slater,

Sale of Kinloch Castle, Isle of Rum

We are writing to update you on what is happening on Rum, from the community perspective.

Firstly, can we thank you and your officials for your support so far. NAME REDACTED has been very helpful and his department very positive to work with. The Land Commission has succeeded in bringing the parties together to work towards a sustainable solution. We have had some useful discussions chaired by Hamish Trench. And now also with NAME REDACTED at Historic Environment Scotland.

What has become clear over the last 3 months is that a new future for Kinloch Castle is possible. We are very keen to be given the time and opportunity to explore what this future could look like.

PARAGRAPH REDATCED

PARAGRAPH REDACTED

Scottish Government

We have made huge progress in a very short period of time. SENTENCE REDACTED. Your support and encouragement has been pivotal to this. We are very grateful for the offer of financial support via the Islands Policy Unit, however it has proved incredibly challenging to spend meaningfully within such a constrained time period (to end of financial year). We would like to use this or other SG support to instead further investigations into a broader approach to the Castle's future, including the possibility of alternative outcomes to restoration. This would include employing a Project Manager and bringing in specialist resource to fully explore what could be possible. As IRCT we will continue to commit significant time and our own staff resource to ensuring we create a sustainable future for Rum.

We would like therefore to use the SG resource on offer to do this. It is likely to take 6 months to complete and, if approved, we would look to appoint someone early in the next financial year. Your flexibility and support to do this would be very much appreciated.

We assure you of our continued engagement in the process of securing a sustainable future for Rum and its community.

With best wishes

2 May 2023

Dear NAME REDACTED

Thank you for your email of 31 March following up your original letter of 9 March regarding progress and next steps on Kinloch Castle.

I know that officials in the Sponsorship Hub have been in contact with NAME REDACTED while recent changes to Ministerial responsibilities have been confirmed and I am grateful for your patience.

I am also keen to build on work to date, and widen the scope of our considerations on the best way forward for the island of Rum and the potential role of Kinloch Castle.

I will be visiting Rum on Friday 12 May with colleagues from NatureScot. I would like to use my visit to take soundings from the local community and engage further with the Isle of Rum Community Trust (IRCT) and Rum Community Association on potential options going forward. I have asked my officials to pull together a programme and colleagues will be in touch shortly to confirm arrangements.

Clearly, the governance work that IRCT has been progressing recently both in relation to the castle and wider community aspirations is of critical importance moving forward. I am looking forward to hearing your thoughts on this work as well as any other opportunities or suggestions you might have on how we work together going forward.

In the meantime, I would encourage continued engagement with NatureScot, who I know are keen to co-ordinate discussions with the Scottish Land Commission (SLC) and Historic Environment Scotland (HES).

Kind regards

LORNA SLATER

We have spoken with NatureScot and on reflection, we would recommend going ahead with the visit.

NatureScot has indicated that there is still significant interest from the community in engaging with the Minister. SENTENCE REDACTED.

1 hour of the visit was held for a visit with IRCT. We would now propose this hour be used to visit the National Nature Reserve with the rest of the agenda as previously proposed and a separate teams meeting with the IRCT held sometime over the next month when a new chair is appointed. Any IRCT members will also be free to engage Ms Slater during the open surgery as planned.

We would also recommend continuing with the NAME REDACTED engagements (regardless of the Rum visits) as these have now been confirmed.

We would seek the Ministers approval to proceed as above.

Dear Lorna Slater,

just in case this letter and request got lost in the understandable busyness of last 3 weeks (and apologies for having sent this to your msp and not Ministerial address).

Kinloch castle situation has obviously moved on, but the need for a solution and our outstanding request for ongoing support is still, we hope, relevant.

The key points in final paragraphs are:

Scottish Government

...We would like ...SG support to ...further investigations into a broader approach to the Castle's future, including the possibility of alternative outcomes to restoration. This would include employing a Project Manager and bringing in specialist resource to fully explore what could be possible.

As IRCT we will continue to commit significant time and our own staff resource to ensuring we create a sustainable future for Rum.

... It is likely to take 6 months [at least] to complete and, if approved, we would look to appoint someone early in the next financial year.

Your flexibility and support to do this would be very much appreciated.

We assure you of our continued engagement in the process of securing a sustainable future for Rum

Thank you again for considering our request.

Regardless, we hope also to continue our meetings with SLC and others (NS, HES, etc) in pursuing a positive outcome.

Thank you.

Subject: RE: Kinloch Castle Rum

Hi NAME REDACTED

The ferry timetable looks like it takes c.3 hours (except on Fridays which seems to have a more direct route) to get there and then you would get 3 hours on the island and need to get the ferry back. Seems like its part of a route rather than a direct connection: Small Isles: Mallaig - Eigg - Muck - Rum - Canna | Island breakdown | CalMac Ferries

SENTENCE REDACTED

Our recommendation would be

- Day 1 – travel PLACE NAME REDACTED to Mallaig – 4 hours – build in some rural visits along the way (eg even via Loch Lomond for example or another part of the Ministers portfolio).
- Day 2 – head to ferry. 60 min meeting with IRCT and others. 90 min meeting/tour/engagements with NatureScot ferry back to Mallaig

The day can end here (with a 4 hour drive back to PLACE NAME REDACTED that night or the following day) or the Minister could remain in the local area and do some additional rural visits on Day 3 before heading back to PLACE NAME REDACTED

Travel days – a Monday would give 3 hours on the island. A Wednesday 4.5.

Alternatively, Friday has a later ferry and the Minister theoretically could travel there for the day and back but it would be a long day with 75% of it spent travelling. On reflection this seems like the most efficient of days but it would be a tiring trip without at least 1 overnight stay (likely the Friday night in Mallaig and travel back on the Saturday). There are no ferries on Tuesdays or Thursdays.

This is just an idea of timings however. We need to engage stakeholders to make this work in practicality.

SENTENCE REDACTED

SENTENCE REDACTED

Can I ask therefore, is there an urgent timing issue that we are not aware of?
SENTENCE REDACTED

Let us know the Minister's thoughts on timings.

Happy to build in any additional visits as requested.

With this in mind I sent IRCT an email this morning indicating they would get a delayed response and they are happy to wait until we get in touch with them in the coming weeks.

There is an ask from NAMES REDACTED that Ms Slater visit Rum end April/ beginning may. We are happy to facilitate this. It will be a wider visit touching on the NNR on Rum etc and anything else we can fit in that would be relevant to Ms Slater's portfolio. The aspiration from NAME REDACTED is that this visit take place end April/ beginning may but we recognise diaries can be a challenge to manage, particularly for such a rural visit.
