A9 Dualling Programme

Key Messages

At £3 billion (at 2008 prices), dualling the A9 between Perth and Inverness is one of the largest and most challenging infrastructure programmes in Scotland’s history.

Design and Development

The A9 Dualling Programme is particularly complex in that it features 11 separate projects following the promotion process which have then been considered in various combinations to determine the most efficient approach to procurement and construction to both protect the public purse and minimise disruption to road users.
