Subject: Official Note: First Minister Meeting with Senior VP Trump Organisation, Eric Trump

First Minister,

You met with the Senior Vice President of the Trump Organisation, Eric Trump (ET), on Thursday 13 March. Also present at the meeting were Sarah Malone (SM) - Executive Vice President, Trump International, Scotland – Colin McAllister, John Webster and Emily Mackintosh.

The meeting, which had been requested by the Sarah Malone, coincided with a visit to Scotland during which Mr Trump would visit Trump org investments in Scotland – including golf properties at Turnberry and the soon to launch second course at Trump Aberdeen Links in Balmedie.

You began by welcoming ET to Scotland, recognising the significant ongoing investment by Trump Org in Scotland's economy – particularly our tourism and leisure sectors – and welcoming the opportunity to discuss future investment plans. You stressed the important role that inward investment played in transforming the Scottish economy, and your commitment to an open dialogue with all major investors.

You noted with concern the recent incident at the Trump Turnberry property, condemning the damage caused by vandalism and offered reassurance that the relevant authorities would continue to take the incident seriously.

ET restated his family's commitment to and passion for Scotland. He stressed that this commitment was long term. He narrated the journey he had been on since purchasing the Turnberry property and redeveloping it, and set out plans for the launch of the second course at Trump Aberdeen links later this year. SM welcomed the opportunity to an open dialogue with the international investment community and set out some of the challenges she had faced at a local level.

First Minister meets with Eric Trump

First Minister John Swinney welcomed Eric Trump, Executive Vice President of the Trump Organisation, and Sarah Malone, Executive Vice President of Trump International, to his official residence of Bute House this afternoon to discuss investment in Scotland.

Following the meeting, a Scottish Government spokesperson said:

“The First Minister welcomed Eric Trump, Executive Vice President of the Trump Organisation, to Bute House to discuss the contribution Trump International provides to Scotland’s economy.

"The First Minister regularly meets with business people regarding investment in Scotland.

"The meeting with Mr Trump provided an opportunity to discuss Scotland's investment potential and the First Minister was pleased to hear about the company's continued commitment to Scotland, in particular Aberdeenshire and Ayrshire."

Notes to editors

This was the first meeting between the First Minister and Eric Trump.

Mr Trump's office requested a meeting with the First Minister some time ago, which was arranged for when Mr Trump was visiting Scotland.

The meeting took place at Bute House, Edinburgh, on Thursday 13 March.

Subject: RE: Meeting on Thursday 13th

Hi all

Some questions from the post-FMQ briefing that we said we would see if we could answer afterwards:

Where is the meeting taking place?

Can we have a list of who is sitting in the meeting (both from the Trump Organisation and from SG)?

Is it a lunch (i.e. is any food being served)?

How did the meeting come about – who requested it?

Is this the First Minister's first meeting with Eric Trump, or have they met before?

Can we see the agenda?

Thanks

Ross

Hi Emily

Apologies for the delay in coming back to you. We don't have exact figures but estimate about 340-360 employed across Trump MacLeod House & Lodge, Balmedie, Aberdeenshire and Trump Turnberry, Ayrshire with potential for further job creation at the new MacLeod Golf Course, Aberdeenshire.

Sarah Malone, Executive Vice President of Trump International Scotland stated last year that around 600 people are employed directly by Trump businesses but we are not able to verify this figure.

TOP LINES

US ENGAGEMENT

- The USA is one of Scotland's most important markets and source of inward investment. We hope the US will always be a close trading partner, supporting a positive trading environment which benefits businesses in Scotland and the US.
- Scotland appreciates the lasting social, cultural and economic ties we have with the USA and we will work to make sure these ties continue to flourish.
- I recognise the valuable contribution of Trump International to Scotland's economy and that the organisation's commitment to continue to invest in Scotland is greatly appreciated.

TOURISM

The Scottish Government values the investment The Trump Organization has made in our Visitor Economy over many years, providing jobs and experiences.

Golf is a connecting force for good between our natural assets, cultural ties and sport.

This supports one of our national priorities of growing the visitor economy, which continues to perform strongly with overseas visitors, particularly those from USA which is a key market.

GOLF AND GOLF EVENTS

Golf is important to Scotland's economy and reputation. Our golf events help us maintain our worldwide reputation as the 'Home of Golf' and we are proud of Scotland's portfolio of golf events, including The R&A's major championships and our annual national Opens.

BIOGRAPHIES

Eric Trump, Executive Vice President of the Trump Organization

Eric Trump oversees all aspects of management and operation of the Organisations' global real estate, including new project acquisition, development and construction. Eric actively spearheads the rapid growth of Trump Golf, bringing the portfolio from three properties in 2006, to nineteen today.

With locations in New York, New Jersey, Florida, North Carolina, California, Scotland, Ireland, United Arab Emirates and Indonesia, Eric is responsible for overseeing the construction, management and operations of each Trump Golf property. Eric also led the £200 million renovation of Trump Turnberry, home to four British Open Championships.

Sarah Malone, Executive Vice President, Trump International, Scotland

Malone is the most senior and trusted member of Trump's business team in Scotland and for the past 15 years the executive vice-president of the Trump International Golf Links, at Balmedie, near Aberdeen. Her husband is former Editor of the Press and Journal, Damian Bates.

Malone, from Peterhead, 20 miles north of Aberdeen, grew up in a Christian home, although she says her own religious journey began as a young adult. She was studying at Glasgow School of Art when she started attending the Covenant Life Church, known today as Destiny Church. After art school, she attended Anglia Ruskin University before moving into arts management and returning to Scotland. In five years at the Gordon Highlanders Museum, she turned it into a top-rated attraction and in 2008, featured as "the face of Aberdeen".

Lawrence 'Larry' Glick – Executive Vice President of Development at the Trump Organization

According to LinkedIn Glick manages Trump's portfolio including acquiring land, golf courses, and hotel/condos for the Trump Organization. Glick also manages the marketing of Trump golf courses and runs Trump Productions for the entertainment industry.

Prior to joining the Trump Organization in 2007 Glick worked for American Express. He has a bachelor's degree in business and corporate communications from the University of Albany,

TRUMP ORGANIZATION INVESTMENTS IN SCOTLANDTrump MacLeod House & Lodge, Balmedie, Aberdeenshire

The Trump Organization, bought the 1,400-acre Menie estate, along with Menie House (now renamed Trump MacLeod House and Lodge), in 2006. Situated eight miles north of Aberdeen. This was turned into a five-star golf resort called Trump International Scotland.

- Trump International Scotland reported pre-tax losses of £738,344 in 2022, despite a 74% increase in revenue to £3.6m. The club, which employs 81 staff, posted a loss of £697,000 in 2021.

Trump Turnberry, Turnberry, Ayrshire

The Trump Organization purchased this 800-acre site on the west coast of Scotland in 2014, intending to turn it into “the finest golf and spa resort in the world”. It was already home to a golf and spa resort at the time, with a hotel dating back to 1906 and updates made by successive owners.

The Trump Organisation says it invested £200 million in the hotel and Ailsa golf course, which reopened in 2016

Trump Turnberry reported a pre-tax profit of £571,000 in 2022, marking the first profitable year since its acquisition in 2014 for £60m.

Employees are reported to be in the region of 260-280

Trump Turnberry won the Best Luxury Experience in Scotland at the Thistle Awards 2024

MacLeod Golf Course, Aberdeenshire

- Named after the US President’s Scottish-born mother, the Trump Organization’s third Scottish golf course is due to open in the summer of 2025.
- The 18-hole course spans hundreds of acres of the Aberdeenshire coastline and claims to be “the greatest 36 holes on earth”, according to Eric Trump, Vice President of the Trump Organization, “we have the greatest sand dunes anywhere in the world, the vast North Sea and the most incredible land!”
- Trump International claims that the new course is “one of the most environmentally friendly and sustainable” ever built. Some conservation groups are calling on Aberdeenshire Council to reject the proposal for the course.

R&A AND TRUMP TURNBERRY

Renewed agreement with the R&A

- A renewed agreement between the Scottish Government/VisitScotland and The R&A was publicly announced on 28 October 2024. The agreement is for an 11 year period from 2024-34.
- The agreement guarantees that 14 R&A major championships will be staged in Scotland across its lifetime, including 5 stagings of The Open.
- Funding is £1 million per annum, with a split of £700k per annum from the Scottish Government and £300k per annum from VisitScotland.

The Open 'rota' of venues and Trump Turnberry

- The R&A has a 'rota' of 10 golf courses in the UK that are eligible to host The Open. Each Open is awarded to one of these venues to host.
- Turnberry was previously a venue for The Open but has not been on the rota of courses eligible to host the championship in recent years. The Open was last held at Turnberry in 2009.
- We are aware that President Trump and the Trump Organization are keen that Trump Turnberry returns to the rota and once again hosts The Open. They may also wish to host other R&A major championships, although The Open will be the key target as it is by far the most high-profile and prestigious event.

Scottish Government Position on Trump Turnberry

- SG has a funding relationship with the R&A to support their events in Scotland, but all venue decisions are solely at the discretion of the R&A and the Scottish Government is informed of venue selection after the decision has been made. The Scottish Government is not involved in the decision-making process.

GOLF EVENTS AND TOURISM

Background of importance of golf and golf events to Scotland

- Scotland is recognised internationally as the 'Home of Golf'.
- We have more than 550 courses across the country, from championship courses, many of which host tournaments, to hidden gems.
- Scotland's golf tournaments showcase Scotland as the perfect stage for major events and show our first-class courses to a global audience.
- Scotland has an impressive recent record in the delivery of golf events, including the Ryder Cup in 2014 and Solheim Cup in 2019 (both at Gleneagles) and hosting The Open approximately every two years.
- 2024 was an exceptional year for golf events in Scotland, as we successfully delivered all five of the high-profile tournaments that could be held here, comprising:
 - The three major championships: The Open, The AIG Women's Open; and the Senior Open;
 - Our two annual national Opens: Genesis Scottish Open and the Women's Scottish Open.
- All five of the events were supported by Scottish Government funding.

Benefits of golf events to Scotland

- The Open brings direct economic benefit of at least £60 million each time it is held in Scotland, and usually significantly more.
- Independent research from Sheffield Hallam University's Sport Industry Research Centre has found that The 152nd Open at Royal Troon generated an estimated £87.3 million in total economic impact – new money entering the economy – for Scotland. Total economic impact for Ayrshire was an estimated £43.8 million.
- The 2024 Genesis Scottish Open brought £19.2 million in economic impact for Scotland, including £7.8 million for East Lothian.
- Our golf events also bring destination marketing benefits, while customer feedback confirms that golf events inspire people to visit as golf tourists.
- Furthermore, Scotland's golf events include the delivery of activity across key policy agendas such as health and wellbeing, sustainability, accessibility and inclusion.

Visitors from the USA account for a significant proportion of Scotland's visitors

- In 2023, there were 794,000 visitors to Scotland from USA with an associated spend of £1.2 billion. Visitors from USA accounted for 20% of all overseas visitors and over a third (34%) of all overseas visitor spend.
- Edinburgh was the most popular destination for visitors from USA with 487,000 visitors (61% of all overseas visits) spending £463 million (37% of all overseas visitor spend). The Highlands were the next most popular with 18% and 9% of visits and spend respectively, followed by Glasgow (14% and 7%).
- 18% of all nights spent in the UK by visitors from the USA in 2023 were spent in Scotland, the second highest of all UK regions behind London (45%).

International Connectivity

- Scotland is now served by United, Delta, JetBlue and American with direct routes to Boston, Washington, Newark, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Philadelphia and Orlando.
- These routes are proving very successful for both the USA and Scottish markets, with the Atlanta route in particular proving to be attractive for golf tourism.
- We continue to work closely with Scotland's airports to further grow direct connectivity with the USA with Dallas, Charlotte and Houston routes of particular interest.
- We are very supportive of Edinburgh Airport's ambition to secure a USA pre-clearance facility which would further stimulate demand, making travel easier for leisure and business passengers, with visitors from the USA benefitting on their journey home.

Thanks Colin,

For further awareness plan to reissue the lines with a background note clarifying FM's position on the state visit.

Many thanks,

As the First Minister has made clear, if a state visit could help solidify US support for Ukraine, if that is part of what supporting Ukraine means in practice, then it is a possibility.

SpAds,

Michael Blackley at the Daily Mail has now requested a response to comments made by Russell Findlay about the meeting. In them Mr Findlay calls for FM to withdraw his demand to cancel President Trump's state visit.

Grateful to know if SpAds are happy with FM Comms reissuing our lines or if SpAds wish to provide a response. Full query below.

Many thanks,

[redacted – s.38(1)(b)]

As discussed, in relation to the comments below could I please ask if the First Minister will withdraw his call for the State visit for Donald Trump to not go ahead?

Scottish Conservative leader Russell Findlay said: "Following this bout of hypocrisy, common sense now dictates that John Swinney should withdraw his demand to cancel the state visit.

"The people of Scotland expect the First Minister to do the job he's paid for and not act like a pound shop global statesman.

"Hopefully this episode will serve as a lesson that such grandstanding and meddling on issues beyond his remit are contrary to our country's interests."

Good morning SpAds,

PA have been on to us this morning for a response to comments made by Lorna Slater on GMS this morning regarding FM's meeting with Eric Trump yesterday (See below).

FM Comms intend to reissue the statement that we sent out yesterday following the meeting. For further awareness our statement was read out on the programme this morning as a response to Ms Slater.

Grateful for your views.

Many thanks,

RESPONSE FOR REISSUE

A Scottish Government spokesperson said:

“The First Minister welcomed Eric Trump, Executive Vice President of the Trump Organisation, to Bute House to discuss the contribution Trump International provides to Scotland’s economy.

“The First Minister regularly meets with business people regarding investment in Scotland.

“The meeting with Mr Trump provided an opportunity to discuss Scotland’s investment potential and the First Minister was pleased to hear about the company’s continued commitment to Scotland, in particular Aberdeenshire and Ayrshire.”

MEDIA QUERY

Appearing on the BBC's Good Morning Scotland programme, Ms Slater warned the First Minister that he could not trust the Trump family.

She said: "Donald Trump will turn on his friends and allies the instant he sees that it is in his interest to do so.

"Building up relationships with him is putting businesses at risk because he could turn on them at any time.

"Look at what's happened to Canadian businesses just about overnight."

She said the meeting was a "really bad call and a bad message to send that he [Mr Swinney] wants to be friends with Donald Trump and his businesses".

She added: "There's a completely different thing between the First Minister having a personal meeting with someone who's part of the Trump empire.

"Of course, Scottish businesses are going to continue to have relationships with American businesses and Canadian businesses and European businesses.

"Of course, those business relationships are still there.

"It's the message that the First Minister is sending about whose side he's on."

Ms Slater said the UK had to show it was on Europe's side as she described the President as "too risky an ally".

She added: "There is a question about the message that the First Minister wants to send by meeting with Eric Trump in this way, and I just think the First Minister has made a bad call.

"This isn't going to protect Scottish businesses. He is showing trying to show that he wants to be friends with Donald Trump. Yeah, and I don't agree with that.

"Donald Trump isn't welcome here, and his politics are not welcome here."

Ms Slater said the First Minister "had a choice" about which businesses he chose to meet with.

She said it was a "bad call" for Mr Swinney to "signal support for the kind of businesses the Trump organisations support".

"The Trump organisation has not proved to be the kind of business that we really want to see in Scotland," she said.

Notes to editors

This was the first meeting between the First Minister and Eric Trump.

Mr Trump's office requested a meeting with the First Minister some time ago, which was arranged for when Mr Trump was visiting Scotland.

The meeting took place at Bute House, Edinburgh, on Thursday 13 March.

While I can only speculate in regard to the purpose of you meeting this person at Bute House, we are told it was nothing to do with Scottish or American politics. If it was then in relation to his fathers businesses in Scotland can we therefore assume you will be rolling out the red carpet for all other business leaders? To arrange such a meeting at a time of unprecedented global instability caused by this family is a disgrace to your office and our country. They should be ignored. You are not in touch with the national feeling on this man, and his family.
