Introduction

1. At its meeting on 23 January the Ministerial Strategic Group for Health and Community Care (MSG) endorsed the findings of the Audit Scotland review of health and social care integration. It also considered in detail the proposals developed by the review leadership group, aimed at increasing the pace and scale of integration and on 4 February published its review of progress with integration.

2. The MSG review report sets a challenging and ambitious agenda for Integration Authorities, NHS Boards and Local Authorities, working with key partners, including the third and independent sectors to make progress with the implementation of integration over the next 12 months.

3. The MSG also agreed that the integration leadership group, which is jointly chaired by Malcom Wright, Director General for Health and Social Care and Chief Executive of NHS Scotland, and Sally Loudon, Chief Executive of COSLA, would continue to meet and would have an oversight role to drive and support delivery of the proposals. The leadership group is meeting every six weeks and has developed a delivery plan, which is appended at Annex A. Approval of this high level delivery plan is requested from MSG.

Update on progress with review proposals

4. The following section provides a brief update on actions made to progress each of the 25 proposals set out in the MSG review of progress with integration. The leadership group has been provided with regular updates and will continue to receive these.

5. Besides maintaining an overview of progress, the leadership group is keen to ensure a continued focus on our joint and mutual responsibility to improve outcomes for people using health and social care services in Scotland and is developing plans to support local systems, involving national improvement bodies. The recent secondment of David Williams as the Director of Delivery will provide additional impetus and leadership capacity for this.

Section 1: Collaborative leadership and building relationships

1. (i) All leadership development will be focused on shared and collaborative practice

Project Lift is a new approach to recruit, retain, develop and manage talent within Health and Social Care in Scotland. There are 4 key strands to the approach: values based recruitment; performance appraisal; talent management; and leadership development.

In terms of governance, we are in the process of establishing a Talent Management Board (TMB) with responsibility for overseeing the national implementation of Project Lift to support consistency of approach and messaging. The first meeting of the TMB will take place before Summer recess.
Current activity covers:

- We have an active communications strategy to create a common language of compassionate leadership in Health and Social Care in Scotland.
- Given the focus on self-directed participation, we will continue to place a strong emphasis on raising awareness/understanding of Project Lift – both its purpose and participation routes - and promoting/maintaining engagement, with a particular focus on accessibility for and inclusion of colleagues in Social Services.
- Community events will be key to our engagement activity. We have commenced a procurement process to secure expertise to support this work and build capacity within the Project Lift team.
- In conjunction with SSSC, we are working to promote participation by colleagues from Social Care, prioritising participating by Chief Social Work Officers in the first instance. Discussions are taking place to identify cross-sector executive leadership development opportunities.

More generally, we are establishing an overview of national leadership programmes to ensure that development recommendations are aligned with the current context.

1. (ii) Relationships and collaborative working between partners must improve.

This action is primarily for Integration Authorities, NHS Boards and Local Authorities working with other partners.

1. (iii) Relationships and partnership working with the third and independent sectors must improve.

The self-evaluation work undertaken is the first step in ensuring each partnership critically evaluates the effectiveness of their working arrangements and relationships with colleagues in the third and independent sectors, and takes action to address any issues identified.

Section 2: Integrated finances and financial planning

2. (i) Health Boards, Local Authorities and IJBs should have a joint understanding of their respective financial positions as they relate to integration.

Work is underway in local systems to understand each other’s positions.

2. (ii) Delegated budgets for IJBs must be agreed timeously.

We will write to partnerships shortly seeking clarity on how these proposals are being progressed locally.

2. (iii) Delegated hospital budgets and set aside requirements must be fully implemented

Christine McLaughlin wrote to Integration Authority Chief Officers and NHS Board Chief Executives on 12 April 2018 requesting progress on implementing the set aside arrangements and plans to take them forward in 2018-19. Partnerships are at different stages of implementing these arrangements and there have been recent examples of local partnerships taking further action to support implementation, for example in the three Ayrshire partnerships and in Aberdeen.

Further work is planned with NHS Directors of Finance specifically, and also with representatives from Local Authorities, Integration Authorities, to identify and share areas of good practice. Later in the year we will send a follow-up letter to partnerships to understand what further steps have been taken in the year since the letter from Christine McLaughlin and what action is planned next.

Where there are known issues emerging or where there is unwillingness or inability to take this proposal forward locally, closer engagement and scrutiny will be undertaken by Scottish Government and COSLA, where this is appropriate.

2. (iv) Each IJB must develop a transparent and prudent reserves policy.

A meeting with Scottish Government Officials and Audit Scotland colleagues will take place in advance of the year-end audits, where discussion on the use of reserves will take place. We anticipate that Audit Scotland will review this proposal as part of their audit of Integration Authorities and indicate where a transparent or prudent policy is not in place.

2. (v) Statutory partners must ensure appropriate support is provided to IJB S95 Officers.

This action is primarily for Integration Authorities, NHS Boards and Local Authorities to progress locally. Many already have appropriate support arrangements. We will review with the Chief Finance Officer network where there appears to be insufficient support and will work with partners to address local issues.

2. (vi) IJBs must be empowered to use the totality of resources at their disposal to better meet the needs of their local populations.

Where the other proposals are being taken forward as intended, this proposal should, as a result, follow naturally. Our wider work on leadership development work with Integration Authorities will also support this proposal.

Section 3: Effective Strategic Planning for improvement

3.(i) Statutory partners must ensure that Chief Officers are effectively supported and empowered to act on behalf of the IJB.

The self-evaluation work will provide a baseline of where local systems believe themselves to be in relation the Chief Officer and their senior team. This will help guide subsequent work for improvement.

3.(ii) Improved strategic inspection of health and social care is developed to better reflect integration.
The Care Inspectorate and Healthcare Improvement Scotland are working on a new methodology for strategic inspections that takes better account of integration and evaluates impact.

3.(iii) National improvement bodies must work more collaboratively and deliver the improvement support partnerships require to make integration work.

A meeting is planned with all of the national improvement bodies, in the first instance allowing them some preparation time amongst themselves to discuss how they plan to address the proposal.

3.(iv) Improved strategic planning and commissioning arrangements must be put in place.

The self-evaluation work will provide a valuable baseline of where local systems believe they are on strategic planning and commissioning. We will undertake a review of current plans, covering 2019-2022, by August 2019.

3.(v) Improved capacity for strategic commissioning of delegated hospital services must be in place.

Our review of strategic commissioning plans will help us to establish how IJBs are tackling this work and identify support requirements.

Section 4: Governance and accountability arrangements

4.(i) The understanding of accountabilities and responsibilities between statutory partners must improve.

The self-evaluation work will provide a baseline of where partnerships believe themselves to be in relation to decision making and improved understanding of accountabilities and responsibilities. This will help guide subsequent work for improvement.

4.(ii) Accountability processes across statutory partners will be streamlined

We expect the self-evaluation work to provide some useful reflections on this proposal that can be used to inform subsequent developments.

4.(iii) IJB chairs must be better supported to facilitate well run Boards capable of making effective decisions on a collective basis.

A review of NHS corporate governance, carried out by John Brown and Susan Walsh was completed in September 2018. The outputs of the review and work completed in NHS Tayside led to the development of a ‘Blueprint for Good Governance’ which aims to achieve greater consistency across governance in all NHS Boards. It has been agreed that there is potential for this framework to highlight and explain the role of integration and non-executive members within IJBs and make any learning materials/opportunities also available to Councillors on IJBs.
We intend that learning from IJBs, which have adopted an inclusive approach to decision making is used as part of this development work. Useful discussion on this was taken forward at a recent national development session with IJB Chairs and Vice Chairs.

4.(iv) Clear directions must be provided by IJBs to Health Boards and Local Authorities.

Draft revised statutory guidance on the use of directions was widely circulated and discussed in the autumn/winter of 2018. It was agreed at a review reference group meeting that scenario planning work with a multi-partnership NHS Board area would be undertaken to help inform the guidance. This led to work with the Ayrshire partnerships, which are exploring how to develop agreement on set aside budgets and associated directions. This work is currently focusing on data that shows activity and resource use across the three partnerships.

4.(v) Effective, coherent and joined up clinical and care governance arrangements must be in place.

This work is being taken forward by a small SG working group comprising of:

- professional advisers in nursing, allied health, medicine and social work
- policy advisers from nursing, social work and quality improvement
- as required advice from Integration Implementation team

The initial work is being informed by engagement work with HSCPs about clinical and care governance undertaken in 2018. It is drawing upon examples of best practice from across Scotland and the UK, and on existing professional governance standards together with relevant cross-governmental policy advice

Outputs from the self-evaluation will also be used to inform the guidance and support for implementation.

Section 5: Ability and willingness to share information

Work on data and sharing data at a local and national basis is underway as reported in the paper MSG is considering as a separate agenda item.

5.(i) IJB annual performance reports will be benchmarked by Chief Officers to allow them to better understand their local performance data.

A workshop took place on 29 April with Integration Authority performance leads on annual reports. This was delivered by ISD and SG with input on the overview of annual reports undertaken by the Integration Team and considered by MSG in October 2018. A similar overview report is planned for this year’s annual reports and Chief Officers have requested individual feedback on their reports. COSLA also attended the workshop. A number of actions were agreed by the performance leads to take forward to improve consistency of approach.
5.(ii) Identifying and implementing good practice will be systematically undertaken by all partnerships

Improvements in the consistency of information and data contained in annual reports together with case studies and strong examples of impact will assist in delivering this proposal. Annual reports might over time provide a means of reporting how partnerships have adapted and used good practice from other areas. This was discussed at the workshop referred to in 5 (i). Inspection reports will also have a clear focus on identifying and sharing good practice. The self-evaluation work will be useful to identify other possible means of sharing and implementing good practice.

5. (iii) A framework for community based health and social care integrated services will be developed.

This work is underway, focussing in the first instance on identifying good practice with a review of Annual Performance Reports, Strategic Plans, Primary Care Improvement Plans and material from the self-evaluation will also be considered. Initial site visits to review learning from existing service models have commenced and will continue until at least end of June 2019. The framework will have a strong focus on facilitating the sharing and implementation of good practice referred to above.

Section 6: ‘Meaningful and sustained engagement’

6.(i) Effective approaches for community engagement and participation must be put in place for integration.

A working group has been established – co-chaired by COSLA and SG – to develop new statutory guidance for community engagement and participation. Membership is as follows: COSLA; SG; Scottish Health Council; Care Inspectorate; Healthcare Improvement Scotland Public Partners; Scottish Community Development Centre; NHS Borders; The Third Sector Collaborative; and Representative of the Chief Officers Group.

6.(ii) Improved understanding of effective working relationships with carers, people using services and local communities is required.

This action is primarily for Integration Authorities, NHS Boards and Local Authorities working with other partners. The self-evaluation material will provide insights to local progress.

6.(iii) We will support carers and representatives of people using services better to enable their full involvement in integration.

Activity at a local level will be carried forward by Integration Authorities with progress reported through the self-evaluation template. At a national level, COSLA and the Scottish Government are engaged with carers organisations and COSLA is reinstating carers representatives on its Health and Social Care Board (with an item focusing on carers on the May 2019 HSC Board agenda).
Self-evaluation process

5. The MSG review report contained an expectation that “every Health Board, Local Authority and Integration Joint Board will evaluate their current position in relation to thesis report and the Audit Scotland report, and take action to make progress”. On 25 March Malcolm Wright and Sally Loudon wrote to all local systems reminding them of this expectation and providing a self-evaluation template focused on the 25 proposals in the review report.

6. Local partners were invited to complete and return the template on a collective basis by 15 May, ensuring that the process for completing it was undertaken on a collaborative basis and extending beyond statutory partners to include local colleagues in the third and independent sectors and other partners. The self-evaluation template was intended to assist local partners not only in fulfilling the expectation outlined above but also as a means of developing a collective understanding from across local systems to deliver integration.

7. The self-evaluation template invited local partners to rate themselves against 4 rating descriptors for each of the proposals. These were: not yet established; partly established; established; and exemplary. For each proposal an indicator descriptor was provided to assist partnerships in determining their ratings. Partnerships were also asked to provide evidence to support their ratings and to identify proposed improvement actions.

8. The leadership group considered the template thoroughly prior to issuing and wanted to ensure completing it would have a clear local value as well as enabling the leadership group to gain an insight into local progress. We understand from informal feedback that some local systems found undertaking the self-evaluation and the process of agreeing collective responses to be a useful one while others found this more challenging. A variety of approaches to completing the template were adopted and the leadership group will look to discern what worked well and share this with partnerships.

9. The leadership group has already indicated to partnerships that it is its intention to request that the process is repeated towards the end of the 12 month period set for delivery of all of the proposals in order that we can collectively demonstrate progress across the country.

10. We have received completed templates from all areas, although 8 of these are still draft and subject to minor changes as they move through local governance routes for agreement and final sign off. The returns are currently being fully analysed and detailed analysis will be provided to the leadership group.

11. Initial analysis suggest that most areas are rating themselves in the middle, i.e. as partly established or established. There are very few not yet established ratings and a smattering but encouraging number of exemplary ratings. The fuller analysis underway will consider the evidence identified to support these ratings.

12. This report outlines progress made in taking forward actions at a national level and the self-evaluation material will greatly assist in obtaining information about local activity and progress. It will also provide useful information for identifying areas where specific partnerships need improvement support, or where specific proposals are challenging to most partnerships and more general support is required. One of the review proposals is to ensure a more co-ordinated approach to improvement support and the analysis of the self-evaluations will provide a focus and evidence to direct such support.

13. In addition, we will identify where partnerships have rated themselves as established across a number of proposals and will be particularly interested to consider those that have rated themselves as exemplary in order to extract any learning and good practice from these partnerships to help inform improvement for partnerships that are more challenged.

14. We intend that David Williams in his role as Director of Delivery for integration will lead on this improvement support. We will look to identify a number of partnerships that are a combination of challenged and not progressing well with integration and partnerships that are progressing well and have much to offer in terms of learning and practice in, for example, models of care and delivery, leadership, integrated culture and so on. We will also seek to include in this initial grouping an NHS Board multi-partnership area to develop a model improvement support for other areas. The intention is that over time all 31 Integration Authorities, together with their partners are provided with improvement support.
