Executive Summary

Overview

As we set out in our previous two-monthly reports on the Coronavirus Acts, in seeking the Parliament's approval for the necessary legislation to respond to the coronavirus pandemic, the Government has always been clear that the legislation agreed by Parliament should be proportionate to the public health challenge and last only as long as required. Throughout, we have sought to ensure that the Scottish Parliament has continued oversight of those provisions and can hold Scottish Ministers to account for their use. This has continued to be central to the implementation, monitoring and review of the legislation, and that will remain the case beyond this fifth report covering the reporting period up to 31 January 2021.

During the previous reporting period, we implemented a number of additional measures to enhance Parliamentary scrutiny of COVID-19 legislation. These mechanisms afford Members the opportunity to scrutinise any proposed changes to levels-based Regulations before changes come into effect.

Our position has always been that creating additional powers does not mean they will automatically be used; decisions to activate any individual power are taken in light of the prevailing situation in Scotland. Through this and our previous reports, we have demonstrated that the powers in the legislation continue to be used proportionately and only where necessary.

It remains the case that some provisions have not yet been commenced as there has not been a need to do so, or have commenced but have not been required to be used in practice. In some cases, this is because these powers will be an important tool in supporting the lives and health of people living in Scotland, the economy, the public sector, and the third sector as we continue to deal with the changing circumstances of the pandemic. In other cases, the powers are judged to continue to be necessary because they may be required to respond to unknown future circumstances resulting from the pandemic – which, as current circumstances show, cannot be ruled out.

During the third reporting period, regulations to extend the expiry dates of Part 1 of the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 (the 'first Scottish Act') and the Coronavirus (Scotland) (No.2) Act 2020 (the 'second Scottish Act') from 30 September 2020 to 31 March 2021 were made and came into force on 29 September 2020. As the pandemic is not yet over, regrettably, consideration must shortly be given to whether some provisions of the Acts will require to be needed beyond 31 March 2021. Ministers are now conducting the analysis necessary to determine whether specific provisions should be expired, suspended or extended. Following this, if supported by the evidence, regulations will be brought forward seeking the Scottish Parliament's agreement to extend the expiry dates of the Scottish Coronavirus Acts up to 30 September 2021. A Statement of Reasons providing information on any provisions recommended for extension will also be laid before Parliament.

As Parliament is aware, the majority of the provisions in the Coronavirus 2020 Act, the UK Act under which Scottish regulations containing restrictions are made, will expire in March 2022. There is, therefore, no need to consider the extension of any of the powers available to Scottish Ministers under the UK Act as part of this exercise, but consideration will be given to whether any of these should be suspended or expired at 31 March 2021.

This is in line with the continued necessity of the legislation to be kept under review throughout the reporting process. It is also important to note that if the Scottish Parliament agrees to extend provisions under the Scottish Acts beyond 31 March 2021 they could be subject to suspension (with subsequent revival) or early expiry at any point after that.

Our first report was published a short time after the publication on 21 May 2020 of 'Coronavirus (COVID-19): Scotland's route map through and out of the crisis' (the 'Route Map'). Since our third report was published on 6 October 2020, the Scottish Government has brought into effect 'COVID-19: Scotland's Strategic Framework'. Published on 23 October this Framework set out five levels of protection that can be applied nationally or to different areas of the country according to evolving patterns of infection and transmission. Since our fourth report was published, and as a result of the new, more transmissible variant of the virus being identified in the UK in December, firm, preventative action was taken designed to reduce the risk of it spreading any further in Scotland. This action included applying level 4 measures to all of mainland Scotland from 5 January 2021. The island areas were kept under review and level 4 restrictions were applied to the Isle of Barra and the Isle of Vatersay from 20 January 2021¹, while Na h-Eileanan Siar also moved to level 4 from 30 January 2021 due to an increase in prevalence of coronavirus and an increase in infection rates².

The Scottish Government 'Coronavirus (COVID-19): framework for decision making' which was published in April 2020 set out seven core principles across our approach to responding to coronavirus. One of these was 'fair and ethical': committing us to uphold the principles of human dignity, autonomy, respect and equality, as we deal with the pandemic. In continuing to develop our approach to legislation and reporting, human rights and equality impacts have continued to be a key consideration.

We remain committed to ensuring transparency in the implementation of, and reporting on, the legislation, but we equally continue to be cognisant of the important balance to be struck in the processes for obtaining information to support openness and transparency, with the need to avoid undue pressures to provide information on those at the frontline of the coronavirus response. We have therefore continued in this report, our approach of going beyond the statutory reporting requirements, by providing additional information for provisions which, at this time, we have judged to be of most significant impact and/or interest because of their impact on human rights, children's rights or equality, or because they are areas in which the Scottish Parliament has indicated a particular interest.

Coronavirus legislation: our approach to reporting

We have always made clear that it would be essential that this legislation be supported by safeguards including regular reporting and review, and these were built into the first and second Scottish Acts. Section 15 of the first Scottish Act, and section 12 of the second Scottish Act require Scottish Ministers to review the operation of the provisions of Part 1 of those Acts in each reporting period, and every two months, report on the status of the provisions and make a statement that they are satisfied that the status of those provisions is appropriate.

The Coronavirus Act 2020 ('the UK Act') does not contain equivalent reporting requirements for the Devolved Administrations to those which require the UK Government to report on its non-devolved provisions every two months. However, as was the case in our previous reports, we have reported in this fifth review period on the provisions of the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent, in a manner which is consistent with the reporting on the Scottish Acts, and which is in line with our previous commitment to do so.

This report therefore includes information on the status and operation of the provisions under Part 1 of the first and second Scottish Acts in this reporting period, and the provisions of the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent. It also includes reporting on Scottish Statutory Instruments (SSIs) made by Scottish Ministers where the main purpose relates to coronavirus, other than those made by Scottish Ministers under the first or second Scottish Acts or the UK Act, as SSIs made under those Acts are already included in our reporting.

This report also reflects the duties set out in section 15A of the first Scottish Act and section 13 of the second Scottish Act, that require Scottish Ministers to take account of information from the Scottish Police Authority or the Chief Constable of the Police Service of Scotland about "the nature and the number of incidents of domestic abuse occurring during the reporting period to which the review relates", and to explain in the report on that review period, how the information was taken into account. We are clear of the need to ensure that robust and regular exchange of information about incidences of domestic abuse is collected and monitored during the pandemic and we were pleased to support these duties. This ensures that the specific impact that the current situation is having on those experiencing domestic abuse is considered when reviewing the operation of the provisions in the Scottish and UK Acts.

We have, in the development of this fifth report, continued to reflect on the views and publications of key stakeholders whose focus is on the areas of human rights, children's rights and equality. We also recognise views of the Parliament's Equalities and Human Rights Committee which is paying particular attention to this in relation to the Government's response to the pandemic through its inquiry into the impact of the pandemic on equality and human rights. We are grateful for the work that is being undertaken by the Parliament, stakeholders and others in scrutinising the work of the Scottish Government to ensure that human rights, children's rights and equality are protected at this time. Stakeholders' expertise continues to assist us to better understand how the pandemic impacts all of Scotland's people and how these impacts can affect particular people and communities across Scotland in different ways.

Use of provisions in the Coronavirus Acts

Some of the provisions in the legislation which were commenced immediately have supported key elements of our response to the pandemic, whilst others have not yet been needed due to effectiveness of other action taken or because thresholds for use have not been met.

The UK Act enables Ministers to consider suspension and revival of certain powers where they may be needed again in future. It also enables Ministers to permanently expire certain provisions which are considered to no longer be needed in advance of the two year sunset clause in section 89 of that Act, and to extend certain provisions beyond the two year sunset period.

The first and second Scottish Acts contain similar provisions for suspension and revival, and provisions can be considered for expiry in advance of expiry on 31 March 2021 (which applies to Part 1 of the first and second Scottish Acts). Part 1 of both Acts could be extended for a further six months to 30 September 2021 through regulations with the agreement of Parliament. As noted above, Ministers are now conducting the analysis necessary to determine whether specific provisions should be expired, suspended or extended before regulations are brought forward seeking the Scottish Parliament's agreement to extend the expiry dates of the Scottish Coronavirus Acts up to 30 September 2021, should that be necessary. Taken together, these safeguards help to ensure the powers in the legislation can be used appropriately and proportionately, and that the powers do not remain in force longer than they are required.

The regular reporting cycle for the provisions of the Scottish and UK Acts enables us to keep the overall operation of the powers under review and inform decisions on when specific measures are no longer needed. Our decisions will be guided by the course of the pandemic and by the expert advice underpinning the Scottish Government's overall response to it.

Statement by Ministers on necessity and status of provisions

Scottish Ministers have undertaken a review of the operation of the provisions of Part 1 of the first and second Scottish Acts, and the provisions of the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent, in order to consider whether the provisions remain necessary. Ministers are satisfied that the status of those provisions at the end of this reporting period is appropriate.

Scottish Ministers have also undertaken a review of the Scottish Statutory Instruments (SSIs) to which section 14 of the second Scottish Act applies. Ministers are satisfied that the status of those SSIs at the end of the reporting period is appropriate. This report contains information as required by section 14 of that Act.

As at the end of the reporting period on 31 January 2021, all of the provisions in the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent have been commenced, with the exception of those in section 10 and schedule 9, and sections 25-29. Section 16(1), (2), (4)(a) and (b) of the UK Act are suspended together with section 16(4)(e) as it relates to adult carers (SSI 2020/377).

All provisions in the first Scottish Act commenced the day after Royal Assent, with the exception of paragraph 11(1) of schedule 3 which has now been expired through the Coronavirus (Scotland) Acts (Early Expiry of Provisions) Regulations 2020 (the 'expiry regulations'). All provisions in the second Scottish Act commenced the day after Royal Assent.

The Coronavirus (Scotland) Acts (Amendment of Expiry Dates) Regulations 2020 (the 'extension regulations') which extend the expiry date of Part 1 of both Scottish Acts from 30 September 2020 to 31 March 2021, came into force on 29 September 2020.

The expiry regulations which expire provisions under Part 1 of both Scottish Acts which were judged not to be required also came into force on 29 September 2020.

Separate regulations have been made to suspend schedule 3, Part 2, paragraph 11(2) and (3) of the first Scottish Act which relate to adults with incapacity provisions, and schedule 7, paragraphs 32 and 33 of the first Scottish Act which relate to muirburn.

On 29 January 2021, the Bankruptcy (Miscellaneous Amendments) (Scotland) Regulations 2021 were laid in draft before the Scottish Parliament. If approved by Parliament, these will expire some provisions under the second Scottish Act from 29 March 2021 and make them permanent.

If, following Ministers' current analysis of provisions in relation to extension, suspension or expiry, the evidence supports the expiry or suspension of provisions, then expiry regulations to expire provisions under Part 1 of both Scottish Acts which are judged not to be required will be made with the intention that they should come into force on 30 March 2021. Similarly, separate regulations could be made to suspend specific provisions if that is judged to be the most appropriate course of action to ensure appropriate powers remain with Ministers to address ever changing coronavirus-related scenarios.

Additional information

Within the material for each of the provisions covered in the report, links have been included to other relevant published material including declarations and directions relating to, or made under the powers in the Acts.

Next steps

We welcome the opportunity to further update the Scottish Parliament on the operation of the Coronavirus Acts and stand ready to engage with the Parliament in its scrutiny of this fifth report.

8. Reporting on coronavirus-related Scottish Statutory Instruments

1. Introduction

- 1.1. As required by section 15 of the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 (the ‘first Scottish Act’), and section 12 of the Coronavirus (Scotland) (No. 2) Act 2020 (the ‘second Scottish Act’), Scottish Ministers have conducted a review of the provisions in Part 1 of those Acts and have prepared this report. A review has also been conducted of the provisions of the Coronavirus Act 2020 (the ‘UK Act’) for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent and these provisions are also covered within this report.
- 1.2. The first report to the Scottish Parliament on the Coronavirus Acts³ was published on 9 June 2020; the second report⁴ was published on 11 August 2020; the third⁵ on 6 October 2020; and the fourth⁶ on 9 December 2020. This fifth report covers the period 1 December 2020 to 31 January 2021.
- 1.3. As per the requirements of section 15 of the first Scottish Act, and section 12 of the second Scottish Act, this report includes information on the operation of the provisions of Part 1 of each of those Acts. It also includes an update on the status of those provisions, and confirmation that Scottish Ministers are satisfied that the status of those provisions is appropriate.
- 1.4. This report covers the reporting requirements to reflect the duty in reporting that requires Scottish Ministers to take account of information about “the nature and the number of incidents of domestic abuse occurring during the reporting period to which the review relates” and explain in the report on that review how the information was taken account of. The report also covers the reporting requirements relating to Scottish Statutory Instruments (SSIs) made by Scottish Ministers where the main purpose relates to coronavirus, excluding those made by Scottish Ministers under the first or second Scottish Act or UK Act. Further information on those additional reporting requirements is included at section five.

2. Background

Reporting requirements

- 2.1. The UK Act received Royal Assent on 25 March 2020. The Scottish Parliament gave its consent to the provisions of the UK Act as far as they relate to devolved matters on 24 March 2020.

⁶ Coronavirus Acts: fourth report to Scottish Parliament - <https://www.gov.scot/publications/coronavirus-acts-fourth-report-scottish-parliament/>

- 2.2. Section 97 of the UK Act sets out the requirements for the UK Government to report on the status of non-devolved provisions within the UK Act every two months.
- 2.3. The UK Act does not set out an equivalent statutory requirement for reporting by the Scottish Government or other Devolved Administrations. However, as per the approach in our previous reports to the Scottish Parliament, in this fifth report we have included information on the provisions of the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent, in a manner which is consistent with the reporting arrangements for Part 1 of both of the Scottish Acts.

Extension and expiry of the Scottish Acts

- 2.4. Under section 12 of the first Scottish Act and section 9 of the second Scottish Act, Part 1 of both Acts were due to expire on 30 September 2020, the end of the third reporting period.
- 2.5. Part 1 of the Scottish Acts could only be extended in their entirety and not on a provision by provision basis. On 24 August 2020, the Coronavirus (Scotland) Acts (Amendment of Expiry Dates) Regulations 2020⁷ (the ‘extension regulations’) were laid in draft before the Parliament, a Statement of Reasons⁸ for the regulations having already been laid. The Coronavirus (Scotland) Acts (Early Expiry of Provisions) Regulations 2020⁹ (the ‘expiry regulations’) were laid in Parliament on the same day and both sets of regulations came into force on 29 September 2020.
- 2.6. The extension regulations extended the expiry date of Part 1 of both Scottish Acts to 31 March 2021. The expiry regulations expired provisions of those Acts which were no longer required beyond 29 September 2020.
- 2.7. The Bankruptcy (Miscellaneous Amendments) (Scotland) Regulations 2021¹⁰ were laid in draft before the Scottish Parliament on 29 January 2021. If approved by Parliament, these will expire some provisions under the second Scottish Act from 29 March 2021 and make them permanent.
- 2.8. The Homeless Persons (Unsuitable Accommodation) (Scotland) Amendment Order 2020 and the Homeless Persons (Unsuitable Accommodation) (Scotland) Amendment (Coronavirus) Order 2020 both contained temporary provisions, which have now expired, and made amendments, which are now spent. Therefore, these were revoked from 31 January 2021 by the Homeless Persons

- 2.9. Further information is included within the Policy Notes which accompanied the regulations, and in the Statement of Reasons which was published on the Scottish Government's website. Table One of this report includes information on which provisions of Parts 1 of the Scottish Acts have been expired and suspended.
- 2.10. Ministers are now conducting the analysis necessary to determine whether some provisions of the Acts will require to be needed beyond 31 March 2021. This includes analysis of whether specific provisions should be expired, suspended or extended. If supported by that analysis, regulations will be brought forward for Parliament's consideration, along with a Statement of Reasons as to why we have considered this to be necessary, to extend the expiry dates of the Scottish Coronavirus Acts up to 30 September 2021.

3. Our approach to reporting

- 3.1. In continuing to develop our approach to reporting, we have recognised that some measures in the legislation may have greater impact than others in terms of their potential impacts on individuals or groups (people with one or more of the protected characteristics listed in the Equality Act 2010), or their implications more generally for equality and human rights. In assessing the equality impact of the measures the Scottish Government has considered the measures in light of the requirements of the public sector equality duty as set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010, and the need to eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation, advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not, and foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not. Public authorities that are required to publish equality information by 30 April 2021 under the Scottish specific duties (including a new set of equality outcomes, pay gap information and equal pay statements) must do so.
- 3.2. Some provisions are of significant interest to the Scottish Parliament for other reasons.
- 3.3. In addition to the information on operation and status which is provided for all of the above noted provisions, we have also reported in more detail on those provisions which we consider to be, at this time, of most significant impact or interest. For these provisions in particular, we have gone beyond the reporting requirements under the legislation, for example, by providing detail on the factors which have been considered in determining the continued necessity. This is consistent with our approach in our previous reports.

- 3.4. Assessment of the equality, human rights and children's rights impacts of the provisions is a central aspect of our review and reporting approach, and in developing our report we have again sought to examine these impacts. We have in this reporting period continued to reflect on the views and publications of key stakeholders with an interest in the areas of human rights, children's rights and equality impacts. This has included, but is not limited to, consideration of the written and oral evidence which was submitted to the Parliament's COVID-19 Committee in response to its call for evidence on the Scottish Acts extension and expiry regulations which extended the provisions of the Act beyond 30 September 2020. We have considered the views of other stakeholders in this reporting period, including the British Institute of Human Rights, the Scottish Human Rights Commission and the Children and Young People's Commissioner Scotland, and we also recognise the interest and views of the Parliament's Equalities and Human Rights Committee.
- 3.5. While it is the view of the Scottish Government that any remaining impacts on equality and human rights are currently justified and are a proportionate means of helping to achieve the legitimate aim of reducing the very significant public health risks posed by coronavirus, the Scottish Government also recognises that these measures are only required to respond to the current set of circumstances, and are only necessary as long as the potential public health benefits justify any negative impacts caused. The commitment to ensure that powers should not be in place for longer than they are needed was demonstrated in the decision to expire a number of paragraphs of Part 1 of the Scottish Acts which were judged not to be required beyond 29 September 2020 as part of the overall extension of the Acts, and to suspend other paragraphs of those Acts which are not currently required, but may be required at a future point.
- 3.6. One specific example of where human rights and equality implications have informed decisions on the continued necessity of provisions in the legislation was the decision to expire paragraph 11(1) of schedule 3 of the first Scottish Act relating to adults with incapacity. As set out at paragraph 19 of the Policy Note¹² which accompanied the expiry regulations: "in considering whether this paragraph should be expired early, the Scottish Government has examined very carefully the considerations in relation to human rights". The expiry of this paragraph was welcomed by the Scottish Human Rights Commission (SHRC), as set out in a written submission by SHRC to the COVID-19 Committee on 16 September 2020¹³. Other stakeholders have also supported the expiry of this paragraph. Prior to being expired, the paragraph had not been commenced and had not been in operation since the first Scottish Act came into force on 7 April 2020. This was reflected in the reporting on these provisions in our first and second reports to Parliament on the Coronavirus Acts.
- 3.7. We have also, in this report, included examples of how equality impacts have been, and are being, considered in relation to the implementation of particular powers, including the Equality Impact Assessments (EQIAs) which have been

This report also includes information on how the impact of the powers relating to evictions from dwelling houses under the first Scottish Act, and pre-action requirements under the second Scottish Act, have been considered.

- 3.8. We will keep our approach to reporting on these impacts under review in line with legislation and in response to the views of the Scottish Parliament.

4. UK Government reporting and engagement

- 4.1. The UK Government published its fifth report on the status of the non-devolved provisions of the UK Act on 28 January 2021¹⁷. Its first two-monthly report¹⁸ was published on 29 May 2020; its second report¹⁹ was published on 31 July 2020; its third report²⁰ was published on 1 October 2020 and its fourth report was published on 1 December 2020²¹.
- 4.2. The UK Act has a sunset provision (section 89) by which it expires two years after the day it was passed, on 25 March 2022, subject to certain exceptions which are set out in the legislation.
- 4.3. As required under the UK Act, the House of Commons undertook a review of its non-devolved provisions after six months of operation and debated a motion on 30 September 2020 “that the temporary provisions of the Coronavirus Act 2020 should not yet expire”.
- 4.4. The devolved provisions in the UK Act were not in scope of the House of Commons six month review. However, review of their status, operation and continuing necessity is part of the Scottish Government’s two-monthly reporting to the Scottish Parliament, which provides the Parliament with an opportunity to

- 4.5. We are continuing to engage and work with the UK Government and the other Devolved Administrations on the implementation and operation of the UK Act and to help ensure respective reporting arrangements operate successfully and appropriately alongside each other, to support robust and effective scrutiny of the legislation.

5. Further reporting

Coronavirus-related SSIs

- 5.1. Section 14 of the second Scottish Act requires Scottish Ministers to report on SSIs made by Scottish Ministers where the main purpose relates to coronavirus. This provision does not apply to SSIs made by Scottish Ministers under the first or second Scottish Acts or the UK Act. Information on SSIs, to which section 14 of the second Scottish Act applies, is included at section eight of this report. In this report we have included information on a total of 79 SSIs – 18 of which are new to this reporting period - which are in scope for reporting under section 14 of the second Scottish Act.

Information about domestic abuse

- 5.2. Section 15A of the first Scottish Act and section 13 of the second Scottish Act require Scottish Ministers to take account of any information about the nature and number of incidents of domestic abuse occurring during the reporting period to which the review relates, given to them, or published by the Scottish Police Authority, or the Chief Constable of the Police Service of Scotland. Further, Scottish Ministers are required to explain in the report on that review, prepared under section 15 of the first Scottish Act and section 12 of the second Scottish Act, how the information was taken into account. The legislation does not require this information to be taken into account in the review of the powers under the UK Act, however we have made a decision to do so in order to ensure consistency in our approach and ensure the fullest possible consideration is given to this information.
- 5.3. In terms of our requirements under the legislation, consideration has been given to the provisions in the Scottish and UK Acts where domestic abuse may be deemed relevant. Where information on the nature and number of incidents of domestic abuse may be deemed of relevance to a provision, this has been considered as part of the assessment of whether the provision remains necessary.
- 5.4. The latest information from Police Scotland to support the review was published on 28 January 2021²², as part of the Scottish Government Justice Analytical

Services data report on how the coronavirus pandemic has affected the justice system. The data from Police Scotland highlights that looking cumulatively across April to December 2020, incidents were 4% higher than the equivalent period in 2019. (49,353 incidents recorded in 2020 and 47,363 incidents in 2019). The proportion of April to December 2020 incidents that include the recording of at least one crime or offence was 39.0%. Police Scotland's Management Information Report suggests an equivalent figure of 43.9% for 2019-20.

- 5.5. Separate figures on crimes recorded under the Domestic Abuse (Scotland) Act 2018 are available from the Recorded Crime in Scotland monthly Official Statistics. There were 1,167 such crimes recorded by the police in April to December 2020, compared to 1,300 during the equivalent period in 2019 (down 10%).
- 5.6. The requirement to consider this information on domestic abuse continues to be a valued part of the reporting process and brings into sharp focus the need to ensure that our response to domestic abuse is effective and that those at risk are supported. We know, however, that domestic abuse is an under reported crime and data on reported incidences of domestic abuse alone does not provide the full picture of the impact of the pandemic on those experiencing domestic abuse. The Scottish Government remains committed to ensuring a regular exchange of information about domestic abuse and are working with our partners, including Violence Against Women and Girls organisations to further inform our understanding on the impact that COVID-19 is having on victims of domestic abuse.
- 5.7. The particular circumstances of domestic abuse continue to inform the consideration of relevant provisions in the Acts and of particular note during the reporting period has been the consideration relevant to the provisions in the first Scottish Coronavirus Act at Schedule 4, part 6 – Community orders. Draft regulations²³ allowing for Scottish Ministers to vary unpaid work or other activity requirements in Community Payback Orders (CPOs) were laid on 29 January 2021 and will be subject to Parliamentary scrutiny and approval. The draft regulations provide for a reduction in the overall volume of hours to be delivered, with the exception of those imposed for domestic abuse, sexual offences or stalking. The exclusion of domestic abuse, sexual offences, and stalking is intended to mitigate risks arising from the particular barriers that exist in relation to the reporting of those offences (and which are not found to the same extent with other offence types), and which the Scottish Government and other justice organisations have taken steps to reduce in recent years. These include action under Equally Safe, our national strategy to take action against all forms of violence against women and girls, ground-breaking domestic abuse legislation, investment in training and support, and campaigns.
- 5.8. This approach is also informed by engagement with Police Scotland and victims organisations with specialist knowledge and insight around barriers to reporting of crime in relation to particular offences. Specifically, this exclusion recognises that reducing unpaid work hours associated with those offences may, while only applying to existing orders, risk reducing future reporting rates. It is therefore considered appropriate to exclude orders involving domestic abuse, sexual offences and stalking to avoid the risk of an adverse effect on the reporting of those offences by victims. There are no intentions to postpone, alter or revoke requirements which are designed to manage and reduce risk such as Supervision, Programme, or Conduct Requirements.

- 5.9. We are aware of the particular impact that the ongoing restrictions will be having on those experiencing domestic abuse and continue to make clear through Scottish Government guidance that the lockdown restrictions do not prevent individuals from leaving home, if escaping domestic abuse. On the continued impact on the court system, the Lord President announced on 11 January 2021 that as a result of the increasing spread of the new variant of COVID-19 across Scotland, the criminal courts will focus on the most serious trials and the majority of summary trials in the Sheriff Court and Justice of the Peace Court would be adjourned. In doing so, the Lord President was clear in setting business priorities that all criminal jury trials in the High Court and Sheriff Court must continue. These will focus on the most serious cases, where people are in custody and where the nature of the alleged offence, including sexual offences and offences involving domestic abuse and children, demand that priority be given. In addition, all non-custody trials will be administratively adjourned, with the provision to accelerate priority or urgent trials, such as those involving allegations of domestic abuse or child witnesses.

Additional reporting requirements

- 5.10. Schedule 1, paragraph 24(3) of the second Scottish Act requires the Scottish Ministers to prepare a report on the steps taken during the reporting period to ensure that marriages and civil partnerships can take place during the emergency period, and the number of marriages solemnised and civil partnerships registered during the reporting period. The third 'Coronavirus (Scotland) (No.2) Act 2020: Report on Marriage and Civil Partnership' was laid in Parliament and published on 15 December 2020. This will continue to be reported on separately and is not included within this report.
- 5.11. Schedule 4, paragraph 12 of the second Scottish Act requires the Scottish Ministers to lay a report before Parliament on their responses to requests for information under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2020. The third 'Coronavirus (Scotland) (No.2) Act 2020: report on the Scottish Ministers' responses to requests for information under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2020' was laid in Parliament and published on 10 December 2020. The fourth report is due to be laid in Parliament in February. This will continue to be reported on separately and is not included within this report.

6. Status update

- 6.1. Table One below provides detail on the status and operation of the provisions under Part 1 of the first and second Scottish Acts, and the provisions of the UK Act for which the Scottish Parliament gave legislative consent.
- 6.2. This includes information on the provisions which have been expired or suspended in this reporting period.
- 6.3. Where it is indicated in Table One that provisions have been expired as they are 'spent' provisions, this means that the provisions make amendments to other legislation and therefore the provisions themselves no longer need to remain in force. The operation of section 15(2)(d) of the Interpretation and Legislative Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 means that the expiry of these provisions does not affect the amendments they have made to other legislation. The effect of the expiry is simply to remove the 'spent' provisions in each of the Scottish Acts.
- 6.4. The purpose of the expiry of such spent provisions, even though this does not affect the amendments to other legislation made by those provisions, is to respect the commitment given by Ministers to seek to expire provisions as soon as is appropriate.
- 6.5. It was considered appropriate to expire these provisions as they are considered to no longer be needed and this aids clarity in the statute book.
- 6.6. As outlined above, our reporting approach will ensure that the Parliament is given as much information as is available across all of the provisions in the relevant legislation, but with a particular emphasis on those provisions which have been identified as being likely to have the most significant impacts or interest. Where supplementary information has been provided, this is indicated within the 'description of provision' and 'operation of the provision in the reporting period' columns within Table One, and further information is provided at section seven.

First Scottish Act	Section 6 and schedule 5 – Alcohol licensing and section 7 and schedule 6, Part 1 - Licensing other than alcohol licensing	The Licensing (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Civic Government (Scotland) Act 1982 and associated statutory instruments provide the legislative framework to support licensing of activities such as the sale and supply of alcohol and taxi and private car hire. The legislative framework contains strict timescales and deadlines with little or no flexibility available to the relevant authorities. Without legislative change, the impact of the coronavirus would result in people losing their licences through no fault of their own.	In operation Licensing Boards and licensing authorities are responsible for the day to day administration of the civil licensing regimes in Scotland. First Scottish Act

7.1.1 Section 2 and schedule 1 - Eviction from dwelling-houses

Description of Provisions

- 7.1.1.1 The provisions originally increased the notice period across all eviction grounds in the private and social rented sector, except the abandonment and vacant property grounds. On 3 October 2020, regulations came into force, reverting the three month notice period for anti-social behaviour and criminality eviction grounds back to its prior one month/28 days' notice period. For the private rented sector, the provisions amend all the eviction grounds a landlord can use to regain possession to make them discretionary.
- 7.1.1.2 Before the provisions commenced, a tenant with a private residential tenancy could have been asked to leave their home within 28 days of a notice being served by the landlord, if they had been living in the property for six months or less; or if the landlord was using an eviction ground to do with the tenant's behaviour. Where a tenant had lived in a property for six months or more and the eviction ground did not relate to the tenant's behaviour, a landlord was required to give 84 days' notice. With the new provisions, the tenant can stay for up to six months before an application can be made to the Tribunal to repossess a property for all grounds other than the abandonment and vacant property grounds, and now also the anti-social behaviour and criminality grounds.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.1.1.3 Section 2, schedule 1, paragraph 1, sub-paragraph 2 makes provision for all private rented sector eviction cases going before the First-tier Tribunal (Housing and Property Chamber) to be considered on a discretionary basis. As of 20 January 2021, the First-tier Tribunal (Housing and Property Chamber) confirmed that it had received 59 applications that fall within the scope of the emergency provisions.
- 7.1.1.4 Section 2, schedule 1, paragraph 8 provides a power for Scottish Ministers, exercisable by the negative procedure, to modify the length of any period of notice specified to apply during the relevant period. In exercising this power, the Scottish Ministers cannot specify a notice period which is longer than six months. Recently a number of Local Authorities and social and private landlords expressed significant concerns about the impact of anti-social and criminal behaviour on the safety and wellbeing of neighbours and wider communities over recent months. A range of evidence was submitted to support this including case studies from the Scottish Federation of Housing Associations, Glasgow and West of Scotland Forum of Housing Associations and COSLA. Furthermore, the Scottish Association of Landlords (SAL) provided statistics relating to a summary of calls to their helpline during the period 1 April – 31 July 2020, compared to the same period in 2019. This showed an 88% increase in calls from landlords seeking advice on how to deal with anti-social behaviour by tenants. In addition, data from Housemark Scotland shows reports of anti-social behaviour in the social rented sector rose by 17% between May and June 2020, which was around 30% higher than would normally be expected in this period.

- 7.1.1.5 Therefore, in light of the substantial impact such behaviour can have on individuals and communities, Ministers exercised their powers under section 2 (schedule 1, paragraph 8) to revert the notice period for eviction grounds relating to anti-social behaviour and criminality across all tenancies back to its original one month notice period. The Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 (Eviction from Dwelling-houses) (Notice Periods) Modification Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/270)³⁴ were laid in Parliament on 4 September 2020 and came into effect on 3 October 2020. These regulations ensure that where landlords have clear evidence of anti-social or criminal behaviour, which cannot be resolved by other means, then they are able to take the necessary action to end the tenancy. It should be noted that Ministers can exercise their power under section 2 (schedule 1, paragraph 8) at any time during the lifetime of the emergency legislation.
- 7.1.1.6 The provisions which extend notice periods to - in effect - halt any eviction action under the existing legislation including the Private Housing (Tenancies) (Scotland) Act 2016 and the Housing (Scotland) Act 2001, for up to six months, have been used in the reporting period. This applies to both the social and private rented housing sectors in order to ensure that the position is absolutely clear for all landlords in Scotland.
- 7.1.1.7 To further support renters facing eviction during the ongoing pandemic, temporary regulations³⁵ were introduced to prevent eviction orders being enforced anywhere in Scotland between 11 December 2020 and 22 January 2021, with the exception of cases of serious anti-social behaviour or criminal behaviour including cases of domestic abuse. This was in light of the relaxation of restrictions on Christmas day and the potential need for families to need to isolate, safely at home, following the rule relaxation.
- 7.1.1.8 However, since then, the emergence of a new variant of the virus significantly altered the public health landscape and led to the First Minister's announcement that level 4 measures would apply to mainland Scotland from Tuesday 5 January, with new guidance to stay at home except for essential purposes.

³⁴ The Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 (Eviction from Dwelling-houses) (Notice Periods) Modification Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/270/made>

³⁵ The Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Protection from Eviction) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 SSI 2020/425 The Health Protection \(Coronavirus\) \(Protection from Eviction\) \(Scotland\) Regulations 2020 \(revoked\) \(legislation.gov.uk\)

- 7.1.1.9 The continued rise in cases caused by the new variant of the virus meant that we had to continue to take unprecedented action to ensure everyone, including renters, are protected from the health, social and economic harms of the virus by being able to remain in their homes during this time.
- 7.1.1.10 Therefore, on 14 January 2021, regulations were laid in the Scottish Parliament to extend the ban on evictions until 31 March 2021. The extended ban applies to all evictions in areas subject to level 3 or 4 restrictions with the exception of serious anti-social behaviour and criminal behaviour, including domestic abuse.
- 7.1.1.11 The regulations will be reviewed every three weeks to ensure the ban on evictions remains necessary to protect against the spread of Covid-19.
- 7.1.1.12 The ban will ensure renters have safe homes during the pandemic and will reduce the burden on local authorities, who have a duty to rehouse people made homeless by evictions.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.1.1.13 In this reporting period, in order to assess the continued necessity of the provisions, the Scottish Government has considered various sources of information. Recent employment statistics show that the unemployment rate in Scotland in the latest period August to October 2020 is up by 0.6 percentage points over the year. In November, Scotland's unemployment claimant count was 214,200, an increase of 99,500 (86.7%) over the year³⁶. There has also been a substantial increase in Universal Credit claims in recent months, with around 475,000 people in Scotland now on Universal Credit as at November 2020, almost double the number in January 2020³⁷. As we move towards furlough ending there are significant concerns around the potential for further job losses.
- 7.1.1.14 In addition to this, there is evidence that renting households are less likely than homeowners to have enough savings to cope with a fall in employment income. Office for National Statistics (ONS) analysis of household financial resilience shows that an estimated 28% of renting households in Scotland would be unable to cover a 20% loss of income for one month, rising to 43% if the loss were sustained for three months³⁸. Separate findings from a YouGov survey of adults in the UK carried out from 30 July to 2 August 2020 showed that the coronavirus crisis has had a greater impact on employment among people who rent than those who own their own home. Findings include that employees who rent are more likely to be unable to work at all as a result of the pandemic (9% compared with 3% of employed owners), are more likely to have been furloughed (15% compared with 11% of employed owners), and are also more likely to have been made redundant

³⁶ Scottish Government Labour Market Trends December 2020

³⁷ Universal Credit Scotland Dashboard, December 2020

³⁸ Office for National Statistics financial resilience analysis

(6% compared with 2% of employed owners)³⁹. More recently, findings from a Resolution Foundation / Health Foundation survey of UK working-age adults undertaken in September 2020⁴⁰ showed that private and social renters are now more than twice as likely than mortgagors to have lost their job, with more than one-in-six (17%) of social renters reporting being behind on all or part of their housing costs, with nearly one-in-eight (12%) of private renters unable to cover their rent in full.

- 7.1.1.15 A survey commissioned by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation in June 2020 showed that in the private rented sector in Scotland, almost half of tenants (45%) had seen a drop in their income since March 2020. Of those, seven in 10 (71%) had cut back on spending, and nearly six in 10 (58%) had to borrow or use up savings, the highest proportion of any tenure. In addition, four in 10 (42%) private renters were worried about their ability to pay rent after lockdown is lifted, and 25% of private tenants had already fallen behind with a payment, most likely gas, electricity and other bills⁴¹.
- 7.1.1.16 While Housing advice data from Citizens Advice Scotland (CAS) is not available yet for the current period, CAS has indicated that the proportion of private rented sector housing advice relating to rents more than doubled over the last 9 months compared to the same period in 2019.
- 7.1.1.17 Monthly coronavirus information published by the Scottish Housing Regulator⁴² shows that the total value of rent arrears in the social sector increased substantially from £150.0m to £165.0m in the four months between the end of April 2020 and the end of August, an increase of £15.0m (10.0%). The value of arrears subsequently dropped slightly to £163.5m in September and £164.0 in October 2020, although this has since increased again to stand at £166.8 as at end November 2020. The number of notices of proceedings for recovery of possession issued by social landlords for rent arrears has increased each month since June 2020, rising from 246 in June 2020 up to 1,783 in November 2020. The number of court actions initiated for eviction increased from 30 in June 2020 up to 102 in September in 2020, after which the number has since fallen to 77 in November 2020 and monthly levels which are significantly lower when compared to average monthly figures for previous years.
- 7.1.1.18 Evidence on the scale of rent arrears and repossession proceedings in the private rented sector in Scotland is as yet relatively limited, with some mixed findings being reported so far, although this may become clearer as further evidence is gathered and reported on, including by the First-tier Tribunal (Housing and Property Chamber). In terms of rent arrears, research findings by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation⁴³ found that, as at June 2020, there was not any sharp increase in rent arrears for private renters identified, with fewer than one in ten private tenants in Scotland estimated to be in arrears as at June 2020. However, a separate analysis carried out by PayProp, based on the data that it holds from the processing of rent payments from tenants in Scotland, shows that the percentage of tenants in arrears, based on the sample of tenants paying rent across the January to May 2020 period, had increased from 8% in March, up to 13% in April, and then 14% in May⁴⁴. More recent figures from PayProp indicate a fall in the proportion of tenants in arrears in Scotland in recent months, from 12% in September 2020, down to 9% in October, and then to 8% in November⁴⁵.

- 7.1.1.19 A survey of private landlords and agents by the Scottish Association of Landlords, carried out at the start of August 2020, found that many members had provided financial assistance to their tenants during the pandemic. Results showed that 44% of landlord and agent survey respondents had given a rent discount to their tenants, equating to 11% of properties having had a rent reduction in place.
- 7.1.1.20 Established in April 2020, the Private Rented Sector Resilience Group provides a valuable mechanism for key stakeholders to discuss issues arising from the coronavirus outbreak, as well as assisting in monitoring the impact, and continuing need for, these provisions. Meeting on a fortnightly basis, a key focus of the group's work is on tenancy sustainment and raising tenants' awareness of their rights, as well as the advice and financial support available, given the emerging evidence of an increase in rent arrears and a rise in those seeking housing advice. More recently, the group has been examining the important role of Discretionary Housing Payments and how this can help sustain a tenancy, as well as engaging with Police Scotland on ensuring illegal evictions are dealt with effectively.
- 7.1.1.21 The Social Sector Resilience Group meets fortnightly to discuss and resolve issues of common interest, to ensure that landlords can deliver and maintain essential services during the period of the coronavirus outbreak and also assists in monitoring the impact and ongoing need for these provisions.
- 7.1.1.22 Both the Social Sector and Private Rented Sector Resilience Groups are crucial in providing evidence to support the need for Ministers to use their powers to vary some of the notice periods which had been amended by the first Scottish Act, in order to address serious anti-social and criminal behaviour taking place in communities across Scotland.

- 7.1.1.23 As part of the continuing evaluation of the impact of private residential tenancy, the Scottish Government is participating in the three year Rent Better research programme (2019-2022) funded by the Nationwide Foundation as part of its Transforming the Private Rented Sector stream. Rent Better aims to understand the impact of the changes on tenants and landlords, and involves both quantitative and qualitative research with a wide range of stakeholders including families with children.
- 7.1.1.24 The full Wave 1 report from this research was published on 10 November, and key findings included:
- i. most tenants in Scotland feel secure in their properties, particularly when they have a good relationship with their landlord and feel able to pay their rent (the research will not have taken account of the impact of the pandemic, however, the Wave 2 research will include consideration of the impact of coronavirus on private renters), although where deprivation and lack of financial power is an issue, tenants still feel a sense of insecurity;
 - ii. most tenants are not aware of their rights (again, the findings won't take account of recent work to raise awareness of tenants' rights);
 - iii. identifies some areas which may merit refinement in the legislation from landlords' perspectives, but most landlords stated they wished to continue with their landlord business going forward. The report notes that "this data should give reassurance and guidance to policymakers in other areas of the UK, as they consider similar changes to their private rented markets".
- 7.1.1.25 It should be noted that Wave 1 of the research did not include the impact of the pandemic on private renters, which will feature within Wave 2.
- 7.1.1.26 The Scottish Government assessed the potential impact of these provisions for tenants in relation to human rights, children's rights and equalities prior to the introduction of the legislation and continues to keep these rights under review when considering their continued necessity.
- 7.1.1.27 The impact on a landlord's human rights was also considered, with regards to their ability to control their property in relation to Article 1 of Protocol No.1 to the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR). The Scottish Government's view is that the temporary nature of the provisions continue to strike an appropriate balance between the landlord's rights in the property, and the rights of the tenant to be protected during the pandemic. The maximum period of notice that the landlord will have to provide will be six months and the provisions will not affect notices which have already been issued under existing notice periods.
- 7.1.1.28 In light of the publication of Scotland's Strategic Framework approach to suppressing the virus to the lowest level possible, consideration has been given in the review of the proportionality and necessity of these provisions, to the detrimental impact of a landlord not being able to take action to resolve serious cases of anti-social or criminal behaviour. However, that consideration has not resulted in any changes during the reporting period to the continuing need for tenants across both the social and private rented sectors to be protected against eviction, for all other eviction grounds.

7.1.1.29 Briefing from the Joseph Rowntree Foundation⁴⁶ provides some information on the known impacts of the financial pressures related to the pandemic on people with one or more of the protected characteristics, including:

- A majority of households in all age groups except the over-55s reported extra costs as a result of the pandemic, reflecting more people complying with lockdown rules and staying at home for longer. Four in ten (42%) reported extra costs for food and three in ten (30%) for gas and electricity. These numbers are significantly higher (63% and 45% respectively) for families with children. Around one in four households (23%) say they are not able to cover these extra costs comfortably.
- There are indications that the pandemic has created financial pressure which is impacting on mental health and family life. Two-thirds of parents relying on Universal Credit or Child Tax Credit report money worries having either a significant (25%) or moderate (40%) impact on their mental health.

7.1.1.30 The Scottish Government considers that the temporary legislative changes to protect renters continue to have a positive impact across those with protected characteristics, including women who are more likely to have caring responsibilities and therefore be impacted more significantly - socially and financially - by the consequences of the outbreak. In the social rented sector, an estimated 54% of households have a highest income householder who is female, with the equivalent percentage for private renting households being 43%⁴⁷. The legislative measures continue to prevent all renters across all protected characteristics from being evicted during the current crisis. Research carried out by the Resolution Foundation in May 2020⁴⁸ indicated that across the UK one-third of 18 to 24 year old employees had lost jobs or been furloughed, compared to one-in-six prime-age adults. In Scotland, over half (56%) of all highest income householders aged 16 to 24 live in the private rented sector, a total of 60,000 households⁴⁹. In terms of disability, 59% of households in the social rented sector in Scotland have someone living with a long term physical or mental health condition or illness.

7.1.1.31 Family households are, as expected, significantly impacted by the health crisis. There is no evidence of some groups of children and young people being affected disproportionately by the provisions. Keeping the measures in place whilst we recover from the social and economic crisis will ensure both children and young people living within rented family homes continue to be protected from homelessness, with an estimated 230,000 children living in the social rented sector⁵⁰ and 120,000 children living in the private rented sector⁵¹.

- 7.1.1.32 The provisions remain necessary to ensure that tenants, including those who have become unemployed, or will become unemployed as the furlough scheme ends, have time to apply for, and receive, the available support in the short term and, if necessary, to give them time to plan for the longer term as we recover from this unprecedented crisis. The provisions also continue to be necessary in order to help mitigate any further pressure on housing, health and other public services.

Section 4 and schedule 3 – Children and vulnerable adults – Part 1 – Children

Description of provisions

- 7.1.2.1 Child protection provisions: The provisions remove the requirement for a second working day hearing to be held following the issuing of a Child Protection Order (CPO), and to amend timescales in relation to the issuing of Child Assessment Orders (CAO).
- 7.1.2.2 Children’s hearings provisions: The provisions relax existing requirements for the composition of children’s hearings, as well as the administration and conduct of children’s hearings and there are extensions to the timescales for when certain legal orders must be reviewed and appeals against legal orders must be lodged.
- 7.1.2.3 Looked after children provisions: The provisions extend the timescales for review of children’s cases when they are placed in kinship care and enable Local Authorities to use foster carers more flexibly to look after additional children when necessary.

Operation of Provisions in Reporting Period

- 7.1.2.4 This section provides supplementary information on the use of children’s provisions within Part 1 of schedule 3 of the first Scottish Act. Guidance⁵² on the use of provisions has been published. The provisions have been separated into three groups: child protection provisions, children's hearings provisions and looked after children provisions, as data comes from different sources and there are separate structures to assess continued necessity of the provisions within each group.

- 7.1.2.5 The data in relation to the use of the powers under section 4 and schedule 3 in relation to children, Part 1 covers: the first reporting period 7 April to 20 May 2020; the second reporting period 21 May to 15 July 2020, the third reporting period 16 July to 13 September 2020; the fourth reporting period 14 September 2020 to 15 November 2020 and the fifth reporting period 16 November 2020 to 17 January 2021, unless specified otherwise below. Information on where data has been gathered has been included along with any caveats.

Child protection provisions

No requirement for a second working day hearing to be held following the issuing of a CPO

- 7.1.2.6 Under the first Scottish Act (schedule 3, paragraph 2(3) to (6)), which amends relevant provision of the Children's Hearings (Scotland) Act 2011 ('the 2011 Act'), the second working day children's hearing is not required. Instead a children's hearing to consider grounds for referral will sit on or before the eighth working day. Until the eighth working day, a child or relevant person can make an application for the CPO to be recalled or varied (ordinarily this would have been available until the second working day children's hearing under the 2011 Act) and for two working days following the second working day children's hearing (if the order is continued or varied by that hearing).
- 7.1.2.7 In the first reporting period, there were 83 CPOs⁵³; in the second reporting period there were 99 CPOs; in the third reporting period there were 92 CPOs; in the fourth reporting period there were 105 CPOs; in the fifth reporting period there were 80 CPOs. The use of this provision has meant that Scottish Children's Reporter Administration (SCRA) did not have to hold second working day children's hearings in these cases.

Amendment of timescales in relation to the issuing of CAO

- 7.1.2.8 These provisions were made under the first Scottish Act, schedule 3, paragraph 2(2). In the first reporting period, there were no CAOs; in the second reporting period one CAO was initiated⁵⁴; in the third reporting period there were no CAOs; in the fourth reporting period one CAO was initiated and in the fifth reporting period there were no CAOs. Although there is low usage, the provisions continue to be useful, proportionate, and necessary, particularly in light of the need to ensure that services can assess vulnerable children who are not visible to services during the coronavirus pandemic, when rendered necessary by the impact of suppression measures.

Children's hearings provisions

Relaxation of requirement for children's hearing to consist of three children's panel members and relaxation of requirement to have a gender mix among panel members on each children's hearing

- 7.1.2.9 The provisions (first Scottish Act, schedule 3, paragraph 1) include relaxation of the requirement for children's hearings to consist of three members and to have a gender mix.
- 7.1.2.10 In the first reporting period, five hearings had fewer than three panel members in attendance, and one did not have both male and female members⁵⁵. In the second reporting period, 22 hearings had fewer than 3 panel members in attendance, and 18 did not have both male and female members. No hearings proceeded with only one panel member in attendance. The total number of hearings making use of the relaxation provisions during the reporting period was 30. This differs from the total making use of the two provisions (22 and 18, above) because both provisions can be used in conjunction (where, for example, a hearing consists of 2 panel members of the same gender).⁵⁶
- 7.1.2.11 In the third reporting period, 18 hearings had fewer than 3 panel members in attendance, and 11 did not have both male and female members⁵⁷. No hearings proceeded with only one panel member in attendance. The total number of hearings making use of the relaxation provisions during the reporting period was 26.
- 7.1.2.12 In the fourth reporting period, 47 hearings had fewer than 3 panel members in attendance, and 38 did not have both male and female members. No hearings proceeded with only one panel member in attendance. The total number of hearings making use of the relaxation provisions during the reporting period was 77.
- 7.1.2.13 In the fifth reporting period, 18 hearings had fewer than 3 panel members in attendance, and 13 did not have both male and female members. No hearings proceeded with only on panel member in attendance. The total number of hearings making use of the relaxation provisions during the reporting period was 28.

⁵⁵ This data is from Children's Hearings Scotland (CHS). It comes from reports from Area Support Teams (AST) from 7 April – 6 May and from 7 May onwards, data is drawn from survey of Panel Members feedback on hearings in which they participated and from AST reports. 317 responses were received, of which 276 were completed in full and 41 completed in part. It should be noted that the survey responses do not reflect reports on 100% of hearings. However, the National Convener also required AST to report when the powers have been used.

⁵⁶ For the second reporting period, CHS introduced a new survey collecting information on the composition of panels at hearings. Returns reporting on 826 hearings were received.

- 7.1.2.14 Since the powers came in to force, therefore, 110 hearings have had fewer than 3 panel members in place, and 81 did not have both male and female members. As noted above, there will be instances where both provisions were used at the same children's hearing. It is not possible to provide the exact total number of individual hearings making use of the relaxation powers since they came in to force, as the recording of this was not introduced until the second reporting period. The maximum total, however, would be 167 hearings (6 from the first reporting period, 30 from the second, 26 from the third, 77 from the fourth, and 28 from the fifth).
- 7.1.2.15 The National Convener continues to permit the planned use of the emergency legislation where it is known in advance that it would not be possible to rota a 3-member, mixed gender panel to a particular hearing. Using the emergency legislation is deemed preferable to delaying hearings for children, when insufficient panel members are available to form a 3-member mixed-gender hearing in the normal way. Use of the emergency legislation remains, however, a last resort when all other possibilities have been exhausted.

Maximum period for which a Compulsory Supervision Order (CSO) has effect

- 7.1.2.16 The first Scottish Act (schedule 3, paragraph 3) provides that if a hearing has not taken place to review a CSO before it expires, the order will not expire, unless six months have passed since the expiry date or the child has attained the age of 18 years. However, alongside this, there is a duty on the Principal Reporter to arrange a hearing before the original expiry date, and if not, to arrange the hearing as soon as practicable thereafter.
- 7.1.2.17 Within the first reporting period there were 467 CSOs, where orders were extended beyond their expiry date⁵⁸. Within the second reporting period there were 865 CSOs, where orders were extended beyond their expiry date. In the third reporting period there were 956 CSOs where orders were extended beyond their expiry date. In the fourth reporting period there were 1,039 CSOs where orders were extended beyond their expiry date. In the fifth reporting period there were 471 CSOs where orders were extended beyond their expiry date. This provision has only been used to the extent necessary driven by the practicalities of holding children's hearings in the current context, and the extent of use will vary as the safety and operational ⁵⁸ The data on this provision and all of the children's hearings provisions that follow is from the SCRA. Its case management system was not set up for recording the detail of this legislation so generating figures has been complex. As the report is based on live operational data it will be subject to change over time. SCRA's live operational data is regularly adjusted by staff when issues with data integrity become apparent and as cases progress. This is especially prevalent in SCRA data where the time between the reporting period and the production of the report is short.

contexts develop. Due to the severe restriction in the number of children's hearings which could be held as a result of the current pandemic, this provision has had the effect of extending a number of orders.

- 7.1.2.18 Prioritisation of work has been essential to ensure continuity of protections for children and young people, while putting in place appropriate legal measures to keep children and young people safe. The SCRA has been unable to operate at anywhere near normal capacity as a result of movement restrictions, social distancing and virus prevention measures put in place and enforced. Working in concert with families and system partners, SCRA has been increasing the number of hearings as restriction measures were reducing, in line with the multi-agency children's hearings recovery plan published in November 2020. This has been by arranging face to face hearings, sometimes with some participants attending remotely ('hybrid hearings'), but also by continuing to maintain the number of virtual hearings.
- 7.1.2.19 Reporters are reviewing the use of this provision on a case by case basis, and taking into consideration whether there would likely be a risk of detriment to the child's welfare if the CSO was not varied or terminated before the original expiry date. The Principal Reporter has applied a prioritisation framework to enable the timely consideration of individual cases and is closely monitoring the situation with a view to arranging such hearings as soon as practicable. Service user availability, views and preferences for rescheduling are some of the elements of 'practicability' and are considered alongside the need for a child to come to a hearing and the risk for the child. SCRA continues to make active decisions about the need to extend any existing CSO following dialogue with social workers and families and if families indicated they would want to have their hearing it has been arranged wherever possible.
- 7.1.2.20 Although the provision has been used extensively, the number of expiry review Hearings that have actually taken place has been increasing over the period. During the first reporting period there were 109 children's hearings when CSOs were due to expire. During the second reporting period there were 149 children's hearings when CSOs were due to expire. In the third reporting period there were 287 children's hearings when CSOs were due to expire. In the fourth reporting period there were 1,012 children's hearings when CSOs were due to expire. In the fifth reporting period there were 1,124 children's hearings when CSOs were due to expire.
- 7.1.2.21 A multi-agency recovery plan was developed by the weekly Children's Hearings Covid Recovery Group in autumn 2020, then agreed and published by the national strategic Children's Hearings Improvement Partnership in November 2020⁵⁹. The plan models review of all CSOs where the use of the emergency legislation will gradually be reduced and will cease to be used. The progress of this recovery plan has been materially affected by the additional movement restrictions and other virus suppression measures introduced in Scotland since 26 December 2020. This provision in the first Scottish Act allows an expiry review of a CSO to take place up to six months after the original expiry date. The use of this six month period was intended to be reduced incrementally as the SCRA increases its capacity, and its ability to arrange expiry review hearings becomes more practicable. This will be impacted by the new restrictions in place since 26 December 2020. In order to recover, SCRA will need to arrange the expiry reviews within a given month alongside those reviews where the end date of extant orders have been extended by virtue of the legislation. This means that the operating capacity of the hearings system has to increase beyond the capacity it offered at the beginning of March 2020 prior to the pandemic.

Maximum period for which Interim Compulsory Supervision Order (ICSO) or Interim Variation of Compulsory Supervision Order (IVCSO) has effect

7.1.2.22 To allow more flexibility for agencies seeking to respond in a prioritised way to the challenges posed by the coronavirus pandemic, paragraph 4(2) and (3) of schedule 3 of the first Scottish Act amend sections 86(3) and 140(4) of the 2011 Act. This provides that the maximum period for which an ICSO or an IVCSO has effect is:

- where the order is made by a children’s hearing, 44 days, or
- where the order is made by a sheriff, such other period as the sheriff may specify.

7.1.2.23 As with the existing legislation, a hearing may make an ICSO or interim variation for a shorter period than the maximum period.

7.1.2.24 Table Two below sets out the interim orders where the provision has been used (some children will have had more than one interim order issued in the period and the figures include orders which authorised secure accommodation). It is not possible to calculate how much time has been added; some orders will have had the maximum time (44 days for a hearing/ possibly longer for the Sheriff Court) and others will have had different times up to the maximum.

Table Two – Interim orders where the provision has been used

Interim Order Type	Coronavirus Report 1	Coronavirus Report 2	Coronavirus Report 3	Coronavirus Report 4	Coronavirus Report 5	Total
ICSO	270	366	452	489	510	2,087
IVCSO	151	147	174	176	200	848
Court ICSO / IVCSO (including following appeal)	223	271	291	243	278	1,306
Total	644	784	917	908	988	3,253

Period within which children’s hearing must be heard in certain cases - secure care and other place of safety placements

7.1.2.25 The first Scottish Act (schedule 3, paragraph 5) extends the period within which a children’s hearing must be held in certain cases (for example, within the seventh day following an ICSSO or to within 7 working days following the transfer of a child to a place of safety in cases of urgent necessity). In the first reporting period, of 16 interim orders authorising the use of secure accommodation, 9 used the extended timescales which are available under the provision. In the second reporting period, of 28 interim orders authorising the use of secure accommodation, 12 used the extended timescales available under the provision. In the third reporting period, of 26 interim orders authorising the use of secure accommodation, 11 used the extended timescales available under the provision. In the fourth reporting period, of 22 interim orders authorising the use of secure accommodation, 16 used the extended timescales. In the fifth reporting period, of 19 interim orders authorising the use of secure accommodation, 14 used the extended timescales⁶⁰. The provision extends the timescales to hear an appeal to seven working days (from three working days) in situations where the existing permitted timescales i.e. three days, are not practicable.

Extended timescale following emergency transfer of a child or young person to secure accommodation

7.1.2.26 The first Scottish Act (schedule 3, paragraph 6) allows the Principal Reporter the discretion to extend the period within which a children’s hearing must be held by 24 hours (from 72 hours to 96 hours) where it is not practicable to meet the existing timescale. The SCRA recorded fewer than 5 cases where a young person has been kept in secure accommodation for an additional 24 hours before coming to a children’s hearing, across all 3 reporting periods. Section 4 and schedule 3, Part 1, paragraph 6 expired as of 29 September 2020. Further detail on the decision to expire the provision is included within the Policy Note⁶¹ which accompanies the Coronavirus (Scotland) Acts (Early Expiry of Provisions) Regulations 2020.

Modification of certain time limits for making and determination of appeals

7.1.2.27 Paragraph 7 of schedule 3 of the first Scottish Act extends the time limits for the making, disposal or determination of appeals or the making or lodging of applications. Disaggregated data is not available from the SCRA or the Scottish Courts and Tribunals Service (SCTS).

- 7.1.2.28 The SCRA has supplied data in relation to appeals which were lodged under the provisions of the first Scottish Act after 7 April 2020 and were determined before 16 November 2020. The SCRA does not record the data to distinguish appeals specifically modified by the provisions of the first Scottish Act, but it has been able to provide figures which indicate the current position in relation to appeals of decisions from the children's hearing.
- 7.1.2.29 Schedule 3, paragraph 7(2) of the first Scottish Act extends the period of time available for a person with the right to appeal a decision of a children's hearing to lodge that appeal at the Sheriff Court (from 21 to 42 days). There have been 150 appeals of decisions in relation to a CSO that have been determined in the period 7 April to 17 January 2021, and the average time taken from the date of the children's hearing to the determination of the appeal was 47 days.
- 7.1.2.30 Schedule 3, paragraph 7(3) of the first Scottish Act extends from three to seven days the time limits for the determination of certain short notice appeals. There were 165 appeals of ICsOs determined in the period 7 April to 17 January 2021, and the average time taken from the date of the children's hearing to the determination of the appeal was 21 days (please note that appeals may not have been lodged until several days after the hearing).
- 7.1.2.31 Schedule 3, paragraph 7(4) of the first Scottish Act extends the time limit for making an appeal in relation to a relevant person determination from 7 to 21 days and extends the time period for determination of the appeal in relation to a relevant person determination from 3 to 7 days. There were 8 appeals of relevant person determinations (made by a children's hearing or a pre-hearing panel) in the period 7 April 2020 to 17 January 2021 and the average time taken from the date of the children's hearing to the determination of the appeal was 26 days for the children's hearing decision and 12 days for the pre-hearing panel decision (please note that appeals may not have been lodged until several days after the hearing).
- 7.1.2.32 Schedule 3, paragraph 7(5) of the first Scottish Act extends the time limits for lodging appeals in relation to a decision affecting a contact direction or permanence order from 21 to 42 days and extends the time for determination of the appeal from 3 to 7 days. The SCRA recorded no appeals of this type in the period 7 April to 17 January 2021.
- 7.1.2.33 Schedule 3, paragraph 7 sub paragraphs (6), (7) and (8) extends the time limit for lodging appeals to the Sheriff Appeal Court or Court of Session in relation to certain decisions made by sheriffs under the 2011 Act. The time limit is extended from 28 days to 56 days. There have been no appeals made against decisions to which the extended time limit applies in the period 7 April to 2020 17 January 2021.

Dispensation with physical attendance at children's hearings

- 7.1.2.34 Schedule 3, paragraph 8 of the first Scottish Act covers attendance of persons other than children or relevant persons to facilitate remote attendance of other persons. There is existing provision in rule 19 of the procedural rules to enable attendance by other means.
- 7.1.2.35 The majority of the 11,925 children's hearings that have taken place over the reporting periods have been 'virtual children's hearings' as children, family members, professionals, reporters and the decision makers (panel members) have been unable to attend the public spaces in children's hearings centres. Since July 2020, SCRA has opened up children's hearings centres in a safe, socially distanced manner and the number of hearings where children and families have been able to attend in person markedly increased. Since 26 December 2020 SCRA is once again moving to a model more reliant on virtual children's hearings as a result of the more extensive restrictions. If a child or family require to attend in person for them to participate in their children's hearing then a physical hearing can still be arranged.

Authentication of children's hearings documentation by electronic signature

- 7.1.2.36 Schedule 3, paragraph 9 of the first Scottish Act covers authentication of documents by electronic signature. This power has been used in all of the 11,925 children's hearings held over the reporting periods.

Looked after children provisions

- 7.1.2.37 Schedule 3, paragraph 10 of the first Scottish Act extends the timescales for review of children's cases when they are placed in kinship care and enables Local Authorities to work with foster carers more flexibly to look after additional children when necessary. Where possible, Local Authorities have adhered to the previous timescales, but the provisions have allowed additional flexibility in pressured situations which has allowed Local Authorities to take into account the views of the children and where possible keep children within their extended families.
- 7.1.2.38 Across Scotland, 24 Local Authorities have been able to provide data on the use of these provisions from 1 November to 31 December 2020. Use of the provisions has been relatively low, and varied between Local Authority areas. Some Local Authorities have not needed to use any of the provisions as their social work teams had enough capacity to respond to demand.
- 7.1.2.39 The provisions have been used to allow more than three children to be placed with a foster carer five times during the reporting period. There have been no instances of a child being placed with a kinship carer, in an emergency, for a period not exceeding five working days, rather than three working days. No kinship placement has been extended in an emergency, and the timeframes for kinship reviews have been extended once during the fifth reporting period.

7.1.2.40 Whilst not all Local Authorities have needed to use the provisions, there has been a general consensus that the provisions have been helpful to allow the right decisions to be made for a child, and that they may be useful if there is a surge in referrals due to the new variant of the virus which could place additional pressure on foster or kinship placements. Local Authorities have reported that the provisions provide a vital safety net, ensuring that decisions can be taken in the best interests of the child, and that despite the pandemic placing more pressure on social work resources, keeping the provisions will help to ensure that the current level of care and support can be maintained. The provisions also ensure that Local Authorities have the flexibility to ensure children and young people can be kept within their own family networks wherever possible, in line with the recommendations of the Independent Care Review, and where necessary provide additional time to ensure that the views of both children and parents can be taken into account in decision making.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

7.1.2.41 The main factors which have been considered in the assessment of continued necessity of the provisions include: prevailing Government guidance and public health advice, an updated Health Protection Scotland-screened risk assessment of the impact of the pandemic on the health and availability of staff and volunteers, and an assessment of the impacts on vulnerable and disadvantaged children and families. In the context of this emergency, these provisions are designed to enable best use of very limited resources in Local Authorities, and the children's hearings system, so that efforts can be focused on safeguarding the welfare of Scotland's most vulnerable children and on supporting families and carers who need it most. The measures in the first Scottish Act are limited to those considered necessary to support and protect children's rights and promote their welfare and wellbeing in accordance with obligations under the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. A Children's Rights and Wellbeing Impact Assessment for the children's provisions can be found here <https://www.chip-partnership.co.uk/wp-content/uploads/2020/12/Coronavirus-Scotland-Act-2020-Childrens-Provisions.pdf>

7.1.2.42 The Scottish Government is in regular dialogue with the children's services sector and children's hearings partners to monitor the impact of the pandemic on service provision and the protections afforded to children. Significant new resources have been made available to support the delivery of the recovery plan.

7.1.2.43 In relation to the provisions covering child protection, children's hearings and looked after children, the Scottish Government is aware that there is continued pressure on services in relation to vulnerable children and these provisions continue to be necessary. There is continued uncertainty about the impact any local outbreaks or resurgence of the virus may have on services. Children's hearings partners are returning to face to face hearings but there will be a blended model of virtual and face to face for the foreseeable future and this continues to put pressure on the capacity of the system.

Section 4 and schedule 3 - Children and vulnerable adults – Part 2 - Vulnerable adults

Description of Provisions

- 7.1.3.1 Paragraphs 11(2) and 11(3) effectively 'stop the clock' on the duration of guardianship orders and certificates authorising medical treatment for the period the emergency legislation is in force.

Operation of Provisions in Reporting Period

The Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 (Suspension: Adults with Incapacity) Regulations 2020 suspended schedule 3, Part 2, paragraphs 11(2) and 11(3) of the first Scottish Act which relate to guardianship and s.47 provisions. The suspension was effective from 30 September 2020.

- 7.1.3.2 Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

Paragraph 11(2) and (3)

- 7.1.3.3 The powers to 'stop the clock' on the duration of guardianship orders and section 47 certificates commenced on 7 April 2020. On 30 September 2020, at the beginning of the period of suspension, the time remaining on the orders and certificates resumed and applicants have to renew their guardianship or obtain another certificate as per the usual procedure.
- 7.1.3.4 These emergency provisions prevent the expiry of guardianships, or section 47 certificates, through want of being able to get an application through court, or to get a relevant health professional (normally a doctor) to authorise the certificate. A medical practitioner and a specialised mental health doctor are required to complete reports for guardianships as well as mental health officers.
- 7.1.3.5 In order to monitor the relevant factors a stakeholder group has been formed which is meeting every 3-4 weeks to consider the evidence available for continuation of the suspension of the provisions. The factors which have been taken into consideration are the availability of the courts, the Office of the Public Guardian and relevant health professionals, as well as consideration of the human rights aspects of using the provisions. Representatives from organisations that can speak to these factors are on the group. The remit of the group and the notes from their meetings are publically available⁶².

- 7.1.3.6 In the first reporting period the courts were only processing urgent interim guardianship cases, meaning that guardianship cases were likely to expire before the renewal application could reach court. The courts are now processing guardianship cases as business as usual.
- 7.1.3.7 The Office of the Public Guardian have all staff available and are also processing guardianship cases as business as usual.
- 7.1.3.8 There remain challenges in obtaining medical and mental health officer reports to support adults with incapacity applications and renewals.
- 7.1.3.9 The stakeholder group continues to monitor the situation, however there is not enough information at present to recommend reinstatement of the temporary provisions.

Section 5 and schedule 4, Part 4 - Extension of time limits

Description of Provision

- 7.1.4.1 The provision suspends certain time limits contained in the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995 for certain set periods of time i.e. the suspension of the relevant time limits are not for indefinite periods of time.
- 7.1.4.2 The provisions have the effect of increasing the maximum time period that an accused person can be held on remand prior to trial, together with other time limits for progressing a criminal case including the maximum wait prior to trial where the accused is not in custody. This may have an impact on the rights guaranteed by Articles 5(3) and 6(1) of the ECHR. However, the Scottish Government considers that these increases are compatible with the rights under Articles 5(3) and 6(1) to a trial within a reasonable time. The increases are necessary to address the disruption to the justice system that is already being caused by coronavirus.
- 7.1.4.3 In any individual case, where an accused is brought before the court for a custody hearing, in determining whether to grant bail, the court requires to consider the accused's Article 5 and 6 rights in deciding whether it is appropriate to grant bail. Furthermore, an accused person can, at any time, apply to the court for a bail review under section 30 of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995, to enable the court to determine whether their continued detention is justified. The courts remain subject to the requirement to ensure that there is a fair and public hearing within a reasonable time. These safeguards are relevant to ensuring that these provisions are proportionate.

⁶² Adults with Incapacity Emergency Legislation Commencement Consideration Group
<https://www.gov.scot/groups/adults-with-incapacity-emergency-legislation-commencement-consideration-group/>

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.1.4.4 The time limits to which the provision applies are: those under section 65 of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995 which sets various time limits in respect of trials under solemn procedure; section 136, which requires that proceedings in summary cases must commence within six months of the alleged offence; section 147, which makes provision for summary procedure in cases where the accused has been held on remand; and section 52T, which applies the custody time limits in sections 65 and 147, where the accused is detained in hospital because of an assessment order or a treatment order. The provision applies automatically in respect of any criminal case where one of those time limits was in effect on the date when the Act was commenced, or began after the Act commenced.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.1.4.5 The court system continues to be under significant pressure with a backlog of cases building. Steps are being taken to seek to address this. High Court trials restarted in July (20 July in Edinburgh and 21 July in Glasgow) in new formats designed to ensure a safe and secure process for all involved, in compliance with public health guidelines on physical distancing and hygiene.
- 7.1.4.6 In addition, the Scottish Government has provided funding of £5.5 million to SCTS to establish the ground-breaking solution of remote jury centres to rapidly increase the number of Scottish High Court trials. The use of these jury centres, based in cinema complexes - with the availability of reliable and modern technology, coupled with the ability to provide nationwide participation and a streamlined contractual process - is regarded as the most credible and deliverable proposition to take forward jury trials in the current COVID-19 context. The first trials got underway on 28 September 2020 in Edinburgh, and 12 October 2020 in Glasgow.
- 7.1.4.7 The move towards remote jury centres will assist in preventing further backlogs building up in the High Court, but further work will continue to be required to address the existing backlog and the serious issues also present in Sheriff and Jury cases.
- 7.1.4.8 On 11 January 2021, the Lord President announced that during the lockdown period the criminal courts will focus on the most serious trials and the majority of summary trials in the Sheriff Court and Justice of the Peace Court will be adjourned. This will reduce the overall number of criminal trials taking place during lockdown by up to 75%.
- 7.1.4.9 Justice Analytical Services is working with SCTS to collect data to monitor the backlog of cases in the courts, which will help inform future assessments of the continuing need for this extension of time limits. However, with crime levels back to near pre-COVID-19 levels and the courts still operating at some way below pre-COVID-19 levels, the need for flexibility in time limits clearly remains and is likely to do so for a considerable time.

7.1.4.10 The Justice Board for Scotland, which brings together senior leaders from Scotland's main national justice system organisations, has established a Criminal Justice Board to co-ordinate COVID-19 recovery activity across policing and justice, including in the criminal courts. The Board meets every two weeks to direct and monitor progress and ensure a whole system overview of the work underway.

7.1.4.11 The Scottish Government keeps under review the necessity for the extended time limits contained within Part 4 of schedule 4 of the first Scottish Act. It is however the case that while some courts are operating in a way they were not at the time of the legislation being passed in April 2020, there is a significant backlog of cases continuing to grow as the court system is some considerable way off returning to its normal operation. This is also within the context that crime levels are back to near pre-COVID-19 levels. Even once courts are operating more normally, a backlog of cases will exist whereby the operation of extended time limits will potentially be necessary. At this time, the Scottish Government considers the extended time limits continue to be necessary with an accused's person rights continuing to be protected through the operation of the system of bail reviews which an accused person can seek at any time under section 30 of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995 if information was provided material to the decision that was not available when the accused was remanded. This can be used where, for example, the continuing impact on the operation of the courts means timings for when a case will be heard have changed.

Section 5 and schedule 4, Part 8 - Release of prisoners

Description of Provision

7.1.5.1 The provision allows that the Scottish Ministers may, by regulations, provide that a person who falls within a class of persons specified in the regulations is to be released from prison early.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

7.1.5.2 The Release of Prisoners (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/138)⁶³ and the Criminal Justice (Miscellaneous Temporary Modifications) (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/137)⁶⁴ were made by Scottish Ministers and came into force on 4 May 2020, and operated for 28 days until 1 June 2020. As such the powers were applied in the first and second reporting period, but have not been utilised since then.

⁶³ The Release of Prisoners (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/138/contents/made>

⁶⁴ The Criminal Justice (Miscellaneous Temporary Modifications) (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/137/contents/made>

- 7.1.5.3 Details of the eligibility criteria and exclusions applied, and statistics on the operation of the 4 May to 1 June 2020 process, were included in the reports on the first and second reporting periods.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.1.5.4 The Scottish Government considers that the May/June release process was a proportionate measure which helped deliver the necessary and timely reduction in the prison population. This provided the necessary capacity and operational flexibility for the Scottish Prison Service (SPS) to manage the needs of prisoners to shield or self-isolate, as well as protecting the health of prison staff, and managing the higher levels of staff absence caused by ill-health and health protection measures.
- 7.1.5.5 It may become necessary to utilise these powers in the future to maintain safe and effective operations of prisons, and protect the health of prison staff and prisoners. The Scottish Government will therefore continue to engage with SPS in relation to the potential use of these powers, as one aspect of wider ongoing discussions of the impact of coronavirus on the prison system, and the safe management of the prison population. The Scottish Government will also liaise with other justice sector stakeholders who are most impacted by the prisoner release measures.
- 7.1.5.6 As with the previous use of this power, any decisions on future release of additional prisoners would be made with regard to the legislative requirements contained in the first Scottish Act, and wider public safety and human rights concerns. It would require the production of regulations specifying the eligibility criteria and handling of the process, which would be laid before Parliament for scrutiny and approval.
- 7.1.5.7 The first and second two-monthly reports on the Coronavirus Acts included detail on the factors considered to determine the previous use of these powers, including the engagement with wider stakeholders for the planning and delivery of the release process, and the particular consideration given to equality, human rights, and domestic abuse impacts.

Section 7 and schedule 6, Part 2 – Freedom of Information

Description of Provision

- 7.1.6.1 Prior to the repeal of the provisions mentioned below, the provisions extended the statutory deadlines under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (FOISA) for responding to Freedom of Information (FOI) requests and reviews by an additional 40 working days; gave the Scottish Ministers the power, by direction, to specify circumstances where a Scottish public authority could extend that deadline; gave the Commissioner discretion to decide that, where failure to comply with a deadline was due to the effect of coronavirus, an authority had not failed to comply; and enabled the Commissioner and other Scottish public authorities to issue notices by electronic means.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.1.6.2 Paragraphs 3 and 4 of schedule 6 extended the deadlines for responding to FOI requests and reviews by an additional 40 working days. The extension applied to both new requests and those outstanding when the first Scottish Act came into force, but the requirement within FOISA to comply promptly with requests was otherwise unchanged. These provisions were repealed by the second Scottish Act and therefore were not in operation in this fifth reporting period.
- 7.1.6.3 The power of the Scottish Ministers, as conferred by paragraph 5 of schedule 6, was repealed in the first reporting period and therefore was not in operation in this fifth reporting period.
- 7.1.6.4 Where an appeal is made to the Commissioner in respect of a failure to comply with a relevant deadline, paragraph 6 of schedule 6 gives the Commissioner discretion to decide that a Scottish public authority has not failed to comply in certain circumstances. As passed, the Commissioner could exercise this discretion where the failure was due to the effect of coronavirus. The second Scottish Act amended paragraph 6 so that the Commissioner could also take into account the effects of repealing paragraphs 3 and 4. It also amended paragraph 6 so that the public interest in prompt compliance is the primary consideration in deciding whether a failure was reasonable in all circumstances. Information in respect of the use of this element of the provision will be held by the Commissioner.
- 7.1.6.5 Paragraph 7 of schedule 6 allows the Commissioner and other Scottish public authorities to issue notices by electronic means. Information in respect of the use of this element of the provision will be held by the Commissioner and by individual authorities.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.1.6.6 Physical distancing measures remain in place and at the present time home-working remains the default position for most office-based workers in Scotland. When circumstances do allow the reopening of more indoor office spaces, this will take place on a phased basis to ensure safety. Therefore, Scottish public authorities may continue to experience significant disruption that may impact on their ability to respond to FOI requests for some time, so the power at paragraph 6, conferring discretion on the Commissioner, remains necessary.
- 7.1.6.7 The Commissioner's office is likely to require to operate a level of remote working for some time, so the power at paragraph 7, to issue notices electronically, remains necessary to enable decisions to be issued and to reduce disruption to the Commissioner's statutory functions. Other authorities are likely to benefit in the same way.

Section 8 and schedule 7, paragraphs 1 to 5 - Social security

Description of Provision

- 7.1.7.1 These provisions relax timescales which apply to clients seeking (and Social Security Scotland making) a redetermination, and clients bringing an appeal before the First-tier Tribunal for Scotland, where normal timescales cannot be met for reasons related to coronavirus. Other provisions modify timescales for making applications where these have not been able to be met directly as a result of coronavirus.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.1.7.2 Where a client has cited disruption caused by coronavirus as the reason for a late application or late request for an appeal or redetermination, Social Security Scotland has used the powers to allow the late application or request to be considered. There have also been occasions where Social Security Scotland has extended its timescales for redetermination where an appeal was received after the 31 day deadline for submission had passed.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.1.7.3 The key factor in the continuing necessity of these provisions is the continued disruption created by coronavirus. Where this is likely to have an impact on people's ability to make applications for benefits in timely fashion or make a request for a redetermination or appeal, including to gather and receive supporting information, or where it could have an impact on the timing of their award of a qualifying benefit, there will be a need for these provisions. Similarly, where the continued disruption created by coronavirus impacts on Social Security Scotland's ability to process redeterminations, or on a clients' ability to gather information requested in support of their redetermination, the extended timelines for redetermination should remain in place.
- 7.1.7.4 Social Security Scotland is however required to make the redetermination as soon as reasonably practicable within the extended redetermination period; this provides a safeguard to ensure that clients' rights to receive a decision as quickly as possible and subsequently appeal rights to the First-tier Tribunal, are respected.
- 7.1.7.5 Evidence suggests that these provisions, including provisions to extend the timescales allowed for re-determinations and appeals, are of benefit to clients – for example, clients have cited delays in obtaining evidence that they wish to submit.

- 7.1.7.6 During the period in which provisions have been in force, Social Security Scotland has extended the timescales for a re-determination on 37 occasions, taking an average 35 days to complete these re-determinations. Clients are citing COVID-19 as the reason for not being able to provide evidence sooner and on these occasions Social Security Scotland is working with the clients by extending and ensuring their application is determined as quickly as possible. A small number of appeals have been accepted by the Tribunal, citing COVID-19 as a factor for accepting the late appeal. A recent Tribunal appeal decision was partially allowed for Best Start Grant Early Learning Payment but not the School Age Payment where the client cited COVID-19 as their reason for the delay in applying. The Tribunal only allowed for one element of Best Start Grant as a result of the COVID-19 delay.
- 7.1.7.7 Social Security Scotland's continuing review of the operation of the provisions in the period indicates that these extensions are providing some benefit to clients, in helping them access their rights despite the impact of coronavirus. The latitude for extending timescales is only being used when absolutely necessary as Social Security Scotland's aim remains to process cases within target deadlines whenever possible. However, Social Security Scotland is of the view that there remains a need to have these extensions in place as a contingency against further disruption to services and clients' circumstances, for example, if there was a resurgence of the virus.

Second Scottish Act

Section 2, schedule 1, Part 1: Student residential tenancy: termination by tenant

Description of Provision

- 7.2.1.1 Section 2, Schedule 1, Part 1 of the Coronavirus (Scotland) (No.2) Act 2020 makes provision in relation to tenancies for students in halls of residence and Purpose Built Student Accommodation (PBSA). This means:
- Students who have entered into a student residential tenancy before 27 May 2020 and have occupied the property, can give seven days' notice to their accommodation provider.
 - Students who have already entered into a student residential tenancy before 27 May 2020 but have not yet occupied the property, can give 28 days' notice to their accommodation provider.
 - Students who enter into a student residential tenancy after 27 May 2020 can give 28 days' notice to their accommodation provider.
- 7.2.1.2 At this period in the academic year, most students, therefore, can utilise the 28 day notice period. Students can only terminate tenancies for a reason relating to coronavirus.

Operation of the provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.1.3 The Scottish Government understands from informal consultation with stakeholders that the seven day notice period has been utilised by students who had returned home prior to lockdown and were no longer occupying their property, and by students who wished to return home prior to the end of their contract. This provision has allowed students to end their contract earlier than existing arrangements would have allowed had these provisions not been in place. This is of particular importance given that colleges and universities adopted alternative learning models from face to face teaching in response to coronavirus.
- 7.2.1.4 The 28 day notice period has given students looking to find suitable accommodation in the current academic year reassurance that, should restrictions continue or more restrictive measures be re-introduced, either locally or nationally, that prevent students from taking up their accommodation as planned, they will not be held liable to pay for accommodation they are not able to use.

A Survey of Accommodation Providers

- 7.2.1.5 The Scottish Government has worked closely with members of the Student Accommodation Group to develop a survey to accommodation providers to gather further evidence on the extent of use of the provisions ahead of future reporting periods, and to inform ongoing monitoring of implementation of the provision.
- 7.2.1.6 The survey of Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) and private sector providers of Purpose Built Student Accommodation (PBSA) took place in late October and early November 2020. The survey covered the period May to mid-November 2020. There were eleven responses. 64% of respondents were HEIs, and 36% were private sector providers of PBSA. The results were included in the Fourth Report to Parliament on the Coronavirus Acts⁶⁵.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.1.7 The provisions continue to remain necessary to ensure that should restrictions continue or more restrictive measures be re-introduced, either locally or nationally, that prevent students from taking up their accommodation as planned, they will not be held liable to pay for accommodation they are unable to use.
- 7.2.1.8 Student accommodation providers set their own contract terms within tenancy agreements with students and terms will vary across the sector. Given the nature of student residential tenancies, contracts typically run for the entire length of the contract, with no provision for early release.

⁶⁵ <https://www.gov.scot/publications/coronavirus-acts-fourth-report-scottish-parliament/>

- 7.2.1.9 The continuation of the notice to leave periods is necessary to ensure students are not disadvantaged by any further measures required in response to coronavirus.
- 7.2.1.10 The Scottish Government assessed the potential impact of these provisions on human rights, children's rights and equality prior to the introduction of the legislation and continues to keep these rights under review when considering their continued necessity. The Scottish Government's view is that the temporary nature of the provisions continue to strike an appropriate balance between the rights of student accommodation providers and the rights of the students during the pandemic.

Section 2, schedule 1, Part 2: Tenancies: pre-action requirements for order for possession or eviction order on ground of rent arrears

Description of Provision

- 7.2.2.1 The provisions provide Scottish Ministers with the power to specify pre-action requirements for private landlords seeking to end a private tenancy due to rent arrears, where those arrears relate to the period during which paragraph 4 of schedule 1 of the second Scottish Act is in force. The First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) must take account of the extent to which a landlord has complied with the pre-action requirements when deciding whether it is reasonable to grant an order for repossession.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.2.2 The provisions were in force during the reporting period. The Rent Arrears Pre-Action Requirements (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020⁶⁶ (SSI 2020/304) came into force on 30 September 2020.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.2.3 Schedule 1 of the first Scottish Act makes most grounds for repossession in the private rented sector discretionary, including for rent arrears. This temporarily changed the original position whereby the First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) must grant a repossession order if the level of arrears is in accordance with the criteria laid out in the relevant legislation. This change ensures that the Tribunal considers the reasonableness of making a repossession order during the coronavirus outbreak.
- 7.2.2.4 The introduction of regulations under the provision temporarily set pre-action requirements that will apply where all or part of the rent arrears have originated in the period during which paragraph 4 of schedule 1 of the second Scottish Act is in force. The extent to which a landlord has complied with these requirements must be taken into account by the First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) when deciding whether it is reasonable to grant a repossession order.

⁶⁶The Rent Arrears Pre-Action Requirements (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/304/contents/made>

7.2.2.5 The introduction of regulations formalises the steps landlords should take in relation to working with tenants to manage arrears prior to seeking repossession during the coronavirus pandemic.

7.2.2.6 The Scottish Government has assessed the potential impact of these provisions on human rights, children's rights and equalities and considers the introduction of pre-action requirements will have a positive impact across those with protected characteristics including women and disabled people who may have been impacted by the consequences of coronavirus. The Scottish Government also considers these measures support the right to adequate housing under the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights by ensuring appropriate safeguards are in place to prevent unnecessary eviction.

Section 2, schedule 1, Part 7: Care homes

7.2.3.1 These provisions make changes to the Public Services Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 (the '2010 Act') for a limited time period to allow for the issuing of Emergency Directions and Emergency Intervention Orders.

7.2.3.2 Emergency Directions - Health Boards can make specific asks of care home providers where they believe there is a material risk to health within the care home due to coronavirus. These asks must relate directly to reducing the risk to health. Where the Health Board believes they have not been complied with, it can, subject to the court's approval, take steps to ensure they are carried out.

7.2.3.3 Emergency Intervention Orders - Ministers may apply to the court to appoint a nominated officer to temporarily take over the operation of a care home if there is a serious risk to life, health or wellbeing within the home. Where there is an imminent and serious risk to life or health, Ministers can exercise the powers before making an application to the court.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

7.2.3.4 Paragraph 16 of schedule 1 adds temporary modifications to Part 5 of the 2010 Act, adding in sections 63A and 63B.

7.2.3.5 Section 63A requires that where the Health Board considers that, for a reason relating to coronavirus, there is a material risk to the health of persons at the specified accommodation, the Health Board may issue a direction to the service provider to take specific steps. Section 63B gives Health Boards the power to act where a section 63A direction has not been complied with.

7.2.3.6 Although these powers have been commenced and are available, they have not been used in this reporting period. A Health Board has not yet been required to issue a direction to a care home using this legislation. Consequently, Health Boards have not had to use the power to act when said direction has not been complied with.

- 7.2.3.7 Paragraph 17 of schedule 1 inserts sections 65A and 65B into the 2010 Act.
- 7.2.3.8 Section 65A provides that Scottish Ministers may apply to a Sheriff Court or Court of Session for an Emergency Intervention Order in respect of a care home service provided at a care home which is stated in the application.
- 7.2.3.9 Section 65A subsection (2) sets out that an Emergency Intervention Order is an order which authorises the Scottish Ministers to nominate a person to act as a nominated officer. The nominated officer is authorised to (1) enter and occupy the accommodation (2) direct the provision of the care home service at the accommodation and (3) do anything that the officer considers necessary to ensure that the care home service is provided to an appropriate standard. It also requires the providers of care to comply with any direction given by the nominated officer in relation to the provision of care.
- 7.2.3.10 Subsection (7) provides that the court must make an Emergency Intervention Order if it appears there is, due to coronavirus, a serious risk to the life, health or wellbeing of people at the care home.
- 7.2.3.11 As yet, Scottish Ministers have not made an application to the courts for an Emergency Intervention Order in relation to coronavirus under these powers. The Care Inspectorate updates Ministers of any care home providers with which they have serious concerns and provide regular updates to them to enable emergency action to be taken if required.
- 7.2.3.12 Section 65B provides that Scottish Ministers may make further provisions to the Emergency Intervention Orders by regulations. Those regulations are subject to the 'made affirmative' procedure and will last for 28 days unless they are laid before Parliament and approved.
- 7.2.3.13 Powers under section 65B were used in the second reporting period to make, the Care Homes Emergency Intervention Orders (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/201)⁶⁷ which came into force on 3 July 2020. They make further provisions to the emergency intervention powers set out under section 65A, including: enabling the nominated officer to delegate actions to others; allowing Scottish Ministers to obtain information from relevant bodies; and limiting claims for compensation.
- 7.2.3.14 No further regulations have been made under powers in section 65B during this fifth reporting period.

⁶⁷The Care Homes Emergency Intervention Orders (Coronavirus) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/201/contents/made>

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.3.15 Scotland's care infrastructure and the robust inspection regime of the Care Inspectorate is such that when these measures were implemented it was considered that they would only need to be exercised in exceptional circumstances.
- 7.2.3.16 Therefore, the fact the powers have not been used, does not mean that the rationale behind the implementation of these measures has ceased to be valid.
- 7.2.3.17 The legislation builds on established powers and ensures that immediate action can be taken if continuity of care is jeopardised. Having these powers available permits Health Boards and Scottish Ministers to take more responsive action if justified and necessary.
- 7.2.3.18 Additionally, the availability of these powers enables Ministers to act immediately to safeguard the life, health and wellbeing of care homes residents – provided the tests for intervening are met. The nature of the pandemic means circumstances can quickly change and these powers mean Ministers are in a position to act swiftly.
- 7.2.3.19 There is check and balance to these powers, as any exercise of the powers to issue an emergency intervention order will be subject to the scrutiny of the courts.
- 7.2.3.20 The new strain of the virus, which is believed to be more easily transferred, is present in Scotland and presenting a great challenge. Cases rose dramatically across December (peaking at 2,622 new reported cases on December 31), and although now reducing thanks to strict lockdown measures, still remain high. New reported cases on 19 January were 1,165, significantly higher than when the last report on this legislation was published (338 positive cases recorded in week 47 of 2020).
- 7.2.3.21 The trend in the community is mirrored in care homes, with 588 residents confirmed positive week of 4 – 10 January 2021. This is a significant increase from over the summer, where cases were below 10 in July and August 2020.
- 7.2.3.22 We are continuing to see outbreaks in care homes - as at 13 January 2021, 180 (17%) of adult care homes had a current case of suspected COVID-19. Some of these care homes did not experience an outbreak in the first wave of the virus.
- 7.2.3.23 It is also winter, a difficult period for care homes and the wider health and social care system in any year, which will only be exacerbated by the presence of the virus.
- 7.2.3.24 Good progress is being made in rolling out the vaccination programme, with most adult care home residents and staff already having received their first dose of the vaccine. This will protect the majority of residents from getting seriously ill with the virus. However, it is not known yet if it prevents transmission of the virus or exactly how long this protection will last. More evidence is needed to establish this.

- 7.2.3.25 While the virus is still present, and especially given its current resurgence, it is the opinion of the Scottish Government that these powers should remain in place as they provide assurance to those who depend on care services, their families, and the staff that deliver care, that additional oversight and support is quickly available in the rare circumstances that it may be required. The assurance these emergency powers provide is considered to be necessary and proportionate.

Section 2, schedule 1, Part 8: Power to purchase care home services and care at home providers

Description of Provision

- 7.2.4.1 The provisions in section 2 and paragraphs 18 to 20 of schedule 1, Part 8 set out temporary powers available to Local Authorities to purchase, by agreement, a care home or care at home services. It also sets out the powers available to Health Bodies (a Health Board, the Common Services Agency and Health Improvement Scotland) to acquire a care home, by agreement, on behalf of Scottish Ministers.
- 7.2.4.2 Circumstances where this can take place are where, for a reason relating to coronavirus: the provider is in serious financial difficulty; the Local Authority or health body is satisfied there is a threat to the life, health or wellbeing of people receiving the service; or where a provider has recently stopped providing the services.
- 7.2.4.3 These are for voluntary acquisitions only and do not grant powers for compulsory purchases.
- 7.2.4.4 Paragraph 19 also provides that the health body must comply with a written direction by Scottish Ministers.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.4.5 Paragraph 18 provides that a Local Authority may acquire, by agreement, a care home service, a care at home service and any asset or liability of those services under the circumstances outlined in paragraph 20.
- 7.2.4.6 Paragraph 19 provides that a health body (a Health Board, the Common Services Agency and Health Improvement Scotland) may acquire, by agreement, a care home service and any asset or liability of that provider on behalf of Scottish Ministers under the circumstances in paragraph 20.

- 7.2.4.7 Paragraph 19 also provides that the health body must comply with a written direction by Scottish Ministers. Directions must be published and they can be varied or revoked by a subsequent direction.
- 7.2.4.8 Paragraph 20 describes the circumstances in which the Local Authority can acquire the provider of a care home or care at home services (or any asset or liability of that provider) and a health body can acquire the provider of a care home service (or any asset or liability of that provider). These are set out in 7.2.4.2 above.
- 7.2.4.9 These powers have not been used in the reporting period. Neither a health body nor a Local Authority has acquired a care home, nor has a Local Authority acquired a care at home service, under these powers. Scottish Ministers have not directed a health body to acquire a care home under these powers.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.4.10 In addition to the factors that were considered as set out at sections 7.2.3.15 to 7.2.3.23 above, the following factors were also taken into consideration in the review.
- 7.2.4.11 The legislation builds on established powers and ensures that immediate action can be taken if continuity of care is jeopardised.
- 7.2.4.12 These emergency provisions create powers in relation to the acquiring of care homes and care at home services. These types of transactions require detailed due diligence exercises to be carried out as well as practical discussions around matters such as budget, transition, employment considerations and property legalities. These matters require time. If action is required, the extension of these emergency provisions would also provide much clarity and benefit.
- 7.2.4.13 Additionally, the availability of these powers enables a Local Authority or a relevant health body to act to acquire a care home service or a care at home service in the circumstances set out in paragraph 7.2.4.2 above and enables a Local Authority or relevant health body to act to safeguard the interests of the residents of a care home. Equally, it also ensures a Local Authority can quickly put in place continuity of care for those who receive a care at home service.
- 7.2.4.14 As described above in sections 7.2.3.20 – 7.2.3.24, cases of coronavirus in Scotland are rising in both the community and care homes. While we have done everything we can to protect care homes (such as providing Infection Prevention Control guidance, additional funding and weekly staff testing), it remains a possibility that some homes will need an intervention.
- 7.2.4.15 Therefore, the safety net and assurance these powers provide is still needed.

Section 2 schedule 1, Part 9: Care homes: further provisions

Description of Provision

7.2.5.1 Section 2, schedule 1, Part 9 - care homes: further provisions, describes two provisions, which extend on the reporting work already undertaken by the Care Inspectorate in relation to care homes for the duration of the emergency period. The provisions introduce the publication of two reports that are laid before the Scottish Parliament: a fortnightly report on inspections of adult care homes; and a weekly report on the number of deaths notified by care home service providers.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period – Reporting on Care Home Services Inspections

7.2.5.2 Section 53 of the Public Services Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 ('the 2010 Act') provides that the Care Inspectorate may inspect registered care services, and sets out the purpose of inspections. Section 2, schedule 1, Part 9 of the second Scottish Act adds section 53A to the 2010 Act, requiring that the Care Inspectorate must lay a report before Parliament every two weeks during the emergency period. These reports must set out which care home services it has inspected as well as the findings of those inspections.

7.2.5.3 This provision has been exercised from the date that the second Scottish Act came into force, with the first of the fortnightly reports being laid before Parliament on 10 June 2020. The Care Inspectorate continues to lay this report before Parliament every second Wednesday. The reports are also available on the Care Inspectorate website⁶⁸.

7.2.5.4 The report findings now include indicators across three themes specific to coronavirus. These new quality indicators are now augmented in the Care Inspectorate's quality framework for Care Homes for Adults and Older People, and are also now included in the fortnightly report on inspections as follows: people's health and wellbeing are supported and safeguarded during the COVID-19 pandemic, infection control practices support a safe environment for both people experiencing care, and staff, and staffing arrangements are responsive to the changing needs of people experiencing care.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

7.2.5.5 In implementing this provision, the Care Inspectorate has had to develop and implement new processes to comply with the requirements. There have been clear advantages in taking a more targeted, intelligence-led and risk-based approach, working collaboratively with Health and Social Care Partnerships (HSCPs), clinical oversight teams, public health teams and Healthcare

⁶⁸ Reports to Scottish Parliament on Care Inspectorate inspections - <https://www.careinspectorate.com/index.php/publications-statistics/139-corporate-annual-reports-accounts/reports-to-scottish-parliament-on-care-inspectorate-inspections>

Improvement Scotland in both sharing information to prioritise services for inspection, and in undertaking the inspections themselves.

7.2.5.6 The Care Inspectorate has augmented their Quality Frameworks for inspections, including care homes for adults and older people, introducing quality indicators specific to COVID-19⁶⁹. This provides clarity in the reporting process during this time, where it is important to proactively identify where there may be a risk to the health and wellbeing of care home residents, and to the resilience of the service itself.

7.2.5.7 Where the Care Inspectorate has identified serious concerns in services, it has returned quickly to the care home to check and report on improvements. This has provided powerful evidence of the value of robust, independent scrutiny and assurance. This process has also been helpful in getting information into the public domain more quickly to provide assurance to Ministers, Parliament and the public at a time where levels of concern about the safety and wellbeing of care home residents is understandably high. It has enabled the Care Inspectorate to highlight more quickly the valuable work it has been doing.

7.2.5.8 The reports which are provided to the Scottish Parliament present a useful overview of services inspected and their findings, providing the Care Inspectorate with the opportunity to make further enquiries if needed. The nature of reporting under the second Scottish Act requires a quick turnaround. However, the Care Inspectorate is prepared to continue with the current approach as long as is required.

7.2.5.9 There continues to be an increased level of interest and scrutiny of care home issues. The operation of the provision in the reporting period was proportionate, and the status of the provisions is appropriate.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period - Reporting on Coronavirus Deaths in Care Homes

7.2.5.10 Section 2, schedule 1, Part 9 of the second Scottish Act inserts section 79B into the Public Services Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 ('the 2010 Act'), which introduces new duties about the reporting of deaths in care homes. Section 79A of the 2010 Act requires that care home service providers must provide certain information to the Care Inspectorate each day in relation to the numbers of deaths which have occurred in a care home service, whether caused by, or attributable to, coronavirus or not. The Care Inspectorate must prepare a report setting out this information and share it with the Scottish Ministers.

7.2.5.11 This provision has been exercised from the date that the second Scottish Act came into force, with the first of the weekly reports being laid before Parliament on 10 June 2020. This contained data from 25 May 2020 onwards. The Scottish Ministers continue to lay this report before the Scottish

⁶⁹ <https://www.careinspectorate.com/index.php/coronavirus-professionals/inspection-during-covid-19>

Parliament each Wednesday and information relating to this is published on the Scottish Government website⁷⁰.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.5.12 Most care homes have continued to notify the Care Inspectorate of deaths promptly. A positive outcome of having this specifically set out in the legislation is to remind care homes of the importance of reporting during this period. The Scottish Government and the Care Inspectorate and others have depended on accurate and timely reporting from providers.
- 7.2.5.13 National Records of Scotland (NRS) publish official statistics on deaths in Scotland, including deaths related to coronavirus in care homes. These statistics are sourced directly from death certificates and are the most accurate record of deaths.
- 7.2.5.14 Although NRS data and Care Inspectorate management information data on deaths in care homes are similar, they differ mainly due to the location of death (i.e. some care home residents who die in hospital are also included in the statistics reported to the Care Inspectorate from care home services). There are also different time lags between the date of death and the date of registration, or date of notification to the Care Inspectorate.
- 7.2.5.15 Nevertheless, the Care Inspectorate's view is that these notifications of death will be a key element in its ongoing monitoring for any resurgence of coronavirus.
- 7.2.5.16 These provisions are designed to provide assurance to Scottish Ministers, to the Scottish Parliament, the public and health and social care workforce, that the quality of care services is being properly scrutinised and supported during the emergency period. Care homes for older people are of a particular focus during the pandemic, although the provisions are relevant to all registered care home services.
- 7.2.5.17 The operation of the provision in the reporting period to provide for the weekly reporting has offered greater transparency on the number of deaths in these settings, and coronavirus related deaths in care homes while the threat from the virus remains. The operation of the provision has been proportionate and the status is appropriate.
- 7.2.5.18 The Care Inspectorate, as the independent scrutiny and improvement body responsible for the regulation and inspection of care and support services in Scotland, is subject to the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012.

⁷⁰Coronavirus (COVID-19): adult care homes: additional data - <https://www.gov.scot/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-additional-data-about-adult-care-homes-in-scotland/>

- 7.2.5.19 The Care Inspectorate has published its Equality Outcomes, Mainstreaming Report and Action Plan⁷¹, setting out its approach to Equality Impact Assessments, obligations as corporate parents, and other duties.
- 7.2.5.20 The Scottish Government will continue to keep the impact of the operation of these provisions under review.

Section 2 and schedule 1, Part 10 - Marriage and civil partnership

Description of Provision

- 7.2.6.1 Schedule 1, Part 10, paragraph 24 requires the Scottish Ministers, in conjunction with the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for Scotland, to take such steps as they consider necessary to ensure that the solemnisation of marriages and registration of civil partnerships continue to be available in Scotland whilst paragraph 24 is in force. It specifies that the steps taken must ensure that a person's right to marry, which is protected by Article 12 of the ECHR, is not disproportionately interfered with for reasons relating to coronavirus. It also requires the Scottish Ministers to report on the steps taken and on the number of marriages and civil partnerships that have taken place.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.6.2 The Scottish Ministers and the Registrar General have taken steps to ensure that the solemnisation of marriages and the registration of civil partnerships continues to be available in Scotland during the emergency period.
- 7.2.6.3 During the reporting period gatherings were subject to further restrictions but exceptions to those restrictions have ensured that it has remained possible for marriages and civil partnerships to take place safely both indoors and outdoors with limited numbers.
- 7.2.6.4 From 15 July 2020 until 8 January 2021, it had been possible, depending on where the ceremony or registration took place, for up to 20 people from any number of households to attend a marriage ceremony or civil partnership registration.
- 7.2.6.5 On 2 November 2020, the Scottish Government implemented a strategic approach based on five levels of protection. The restrictions applying at each level have been subject to adjustment, but marriages and civil partnerships can continue to take place under each protection level. The number of people currently permitted to attend a marriage or civil partnership depends on the protection level in the area the ceremony or registration takes place:
- At level 0, no more than 50 people should attend.

⁷¹Equality Outcomes, Mainstreaming Report and Action Plan - <https://www.careinspectorate.com/images/documents/5046/Equalities%20report%202019-21.pdf>

- At levels 1, 2, 3, no more than 20 people should attend.
- At level 4, no more than 5 people should attend.

7.2.6.6 From 26 December 2020, all of Scotland became subject to either Level 3 or Level 4 restrictions. At the time, marriages and civil partnerships could continue to take place with no more than 20 people at both Level 3 and Level 4.

7.2.6.7 Following the imposition of a “stay at home” requirement for Level 4 areas, and with effect from 8 January, the number of people who could attend a marriage or civil partnership in a Level 4 area has been limited to 5 people. This number includes the couple, the registrar or celebrant, the two witnesses or no more than 6 people if an interpreter is required. In protection Level 3, marriages and civil partnerships can continue to take place with no more than 20 people.

7.2.6.8 The continued provision of limited exceptions to the restrictions on gatherings that otherwise apply in Level 4 areas for marriages and civil partnerships recognises the importance of marriage and civil partnership to couples and to society more widely and that people of marriageable age have a right to marry under Article 12 of the European Convention on Human Rights.

7.2.6.9 The Scottish Government engages with religious and belief bodies on the impact of the pandemic, including the impact on marriages and civil partnerships. The continued availability of marriage has been of particular importance to persons of faith. For couples for whom cohabitation before marriage is incompatible with their faith, they have been able to marry and to begin their married life together. With effect from 8 January, places of worship are generally closed except for limited purposes, including to allow for a marriage or civil partnership. This allows couples of faith to continue to marry in accordance with the rites of their faith, when those rites have to be performed in a place of worship.

7.2.6.10 The Scottish Government will continue to engage with key stakeholders, including religious and belief bodies, to consider the impact of the restrictions on marriage and civil partnership on rights and equality.

7.2.6.11 The Scottish Government has also published the ‘Coronavirus (COVID-19): wedding ceremonies and civil partnership registrations’ guidance⁷² on its website to help people planning to get married or form a civil partnership in Scotland and the celebrants who conduct them. Guidance has also been issued by the Registrar General on the National Records of Scotland (NRS) website.⁷³ The Registrar General has also issued guidance to Local Authority registrars.

⁷³ Getting Married or Civilly Partnered in Scotland - <https://www.nrscotland.gov.uk/registration/getting-married-in-scotland>

- 7.2.6.12 The Scottish Government published the ‘Coronavirus (Scotland) (No.2) Act 2020: Report on Marriage and Civil partnership’⁷⁴ on 15 December which covered the reporting period from 1 October to 30 November. NRS were aware of 3,324 marriages having been solemnised and 21 civil partnerships having been registered in that period. Further marriages and civil partnerships may have taken place which at the time of reporting had not yet been entered on the IT system due to a delay between the occurrence of the event and the return of the schedule.
- 7.2.6.13 In due course, a further report on marriages and civil partnerships will be sent by the Scottish Ministers to Parliament. This will provide information on the number of marriages solemnised and civil partnerships registered during the reporting period from 1 December to 31 January. Updated figures for the last reporting period will also be provided in this report.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.6.14 In view of the duties paragraph 24 places on the Scottish Ministers and the Registrar General, it remains appropriate for the provision to be in force. As part of the analysis being undertaken by Ministers in relation to the expiry of Part 1 of the two Scottish Coronavirus Acts from 31 March, evidence to consider the necessity of extending this provision beyond that date is being reviewed.

Section 3 and schedule 2, Part 1 - Criminal Justice: Fixed Penalty Notices under the Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions) (Scotland) Regulations 2020

Description of Provision

- 7.2.7.1. Schedule 2, Part 1, paragraph 7 amended regulation 9 of the Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions) (Scotland) Regulations 2020⁷⁵ so that fixed penalty notices under those regulations could not be given to those aged 16 or 17. As a consequence, a police officer could only issue a Fixed Penalty Notice under these regulations where the officer reasonably believed that the person is aged 18 or over.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.7.2. Police Scotland publishes data on the enforcement of the coronavirus legislation.⁷⁶

⁷⁶ COVID-19 Police Scotland Response - <https://www.scotland.police.uk/about-us/covid-19-police-scotland-response/enforcement-and-response-data/>

7.2.7.3. The Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 have been revoked and new Regulations are now in place. Those Regulations⁷⁷ continue the policy that a police officer⁷⁸ can only issue a Fixed Penalty Notice where the officer reasonably believes that the person is aged 18 or over. As the Regulations it amended have been revoked, this provision of the Second Scottish Act has no remaining legal effect. On this basis, as these provisions under the second Scottish Act are no longer required, the most appropriate approach to expire these provisions, in the interest of maintaining the statute-book, will be considered.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

7.2.7.4. This provision amended the Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions) (Scotland) Regulations 2020. So long as those regulations remained in force and allowed Fixed Penalty Notices to be issued, it was appropriate to continue this provision in order that police officers could only issue a Fixed Penalty Notice under these regulations where the officer reasonably believed that the person was aged 18 or over. The policy continues that 16 or 17 year olds should not be issued with fixed penalty notices under new Regulations. The provision of the Second Scottish Act is not necessary in order to deliver that policy and therefore this provision will be considered for expiry as appropriate.

Section 5 and schedule 4, Part 4 - Care services: giving of notices by the Care Inspectorate

Description of Provision

7.2.8.1 This provides the Care Inspectorate with powers to send formal notices to registered care service providers by electronic means, in addition to normal post, for the duration of the emergency period.

7.2.8.2 This power also enables notice to be given to a person providing, or seeking to provide, a care service and covers:

- an individual;
- a body corporate, to a director, secretary or other similar officer of that body or to a manager (or other similar officer) of the care service provided by that body, or
- a firm, to a partner of that firm.

7.2.8.3 Under normal circumstances, formal notices are issued via postal services or are hand delivered. Presently, this is not possible due to the Care Inspectorate following public health guidance, and staff not having access to premises to carry out this function or printing services. This provision has enabled the Care Inspectorate to issue any notice by email, or to publish more generally on a website, when required, thereby expediting the process, at a time when it is increasingly important to deliver notices in a timely, accessible and safe manner.

⁷⁷ The Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions and Requirements) (Local Levels) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/344/contents>

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.2.8.4 As of 18 January 2021 this power has been used by the Care Inspectorate in relation to 1,987 matters for the issuing of notices relating to registration, variation of conditions of registration, and enforcement action.
- 7.2.8.5 This has been seen as an important legislative change from the point of view of the Care Inspectorate. During the coronavirus pandemic the Care Inspectorate offices have been closed (and remain so at the time of reporting).
- 7.2.8.6 For this reason, staff have not been able to access printers to enable hard copy correspondence to be issued. Nevertheless, the accessing of postal services would still have been difficult as would the giving of notice by hand delivery, which would have necessitated face-to-face contact. In the absence of this legislative change, the Care Inspectorate would have delivered formal notices by email and would have argued strongly that it did constitute effective delivery. The amendments that have been introduced put the position beyond doubt.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.2.8.7 The changes to the identities of individuals to whom a notice intended for a body corporate may be given, has been an essential change from the point of view of updating section 101 of the Public Service Reform (Scotland) Act 2010. This has made it fit for purpose in today's environment, regardless of coronavirus.
- 7.2.8.8 The Scottish Government's view is that this provision will continue to be necessary for as long as there is not as near-normal office access and similarly, as near-normal access to postal services. This will continue to be kept under review.
- 7.2.8.9 The Care Inspectorate, as the independent scrutiny and improvement body responsible for the regulation and inspection of care and support services in Scotland, is subject to the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012. See additional information regarding this at section 7.2.5.17 and 7.2.5.18 above.
- 7.2.8.10 Article 8 of ECHR provides for the right to respect for private and family life. This right is also engaged in relation to private correspondence. Electronic issuing of notices under the new provision hinges on a person's willingness to receive the communication in that manner, and so is clearly compatible with the ECHR. If a person demonstrates an unwillingness to receive communications from the Care Inspectorate in this manner, then other delivery options may be pursued.

7.2.8.11 The impact of the operation of this provision will continue to be reviewed.

UK Act

Section 10 and schedule 9 - Temporary modification of mental health legislation

Description of Provision

7.3.1.1 The provision makes temporary changes to mental health legislation and it aims to ensure that people can continue to be treated and cared for in a way which both respects their rights, and maintains safeguards. These temporary changes will continue to be compliant with human rights obligations.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

7.3.1.2 The provisions have not yet commenced.

7.3.1.3 Mental health legislation in Scotland provides for rigorous safeguards in respect of individuals' human rights which include that any function should be carried out for the maximum benefit of the patient, with the minimum necessary restriction on the freedom of the patient. During the passage of the Bill, Ministers were clear that these temporary changes would be brought in only when absolutely necessary.

7.3.1.4 The temporary provisions aim to provide additional flexibility to enable services to cope with significant staff shortages whilst maintaining appropriate safeguards for patients and to help support the continued safe running of compulsory care and treatment services under mental health legislation.

7.3.1.5 In order for Scottish Ministers to take a view on appropriate and timely commencement of the mental health provisions, the Scottish Government has been clear that there is an ongoing need to collate and review a range of evidence including NHS workforce information showing the overall and coronavirus-related staff absence rate across NHS Boards. In addition, the Scottish Government is working closely with the Mental Welfare Commission, the Mental Health Tribunal for Scotland, the Royal College of Psychiatrists and Social Work Scotland. The Mental Welfare Commission has a statutory duty to monitor the use of the Scottish Government's mental health legislation and it will ensure that the necessary data continues to be collected. Also, through its oversight group, the Mental Welfare Commission will be in a position to scrutinise and monitor the use of these emergency powers, if ever commenced.

7.3.1.6 At the most recent meeting of stakeholders, all participants reported that there remains a high level of demand on mental health services, both in terms of support services for those with poor mental wellbeing, and psychiatric services for people with more severe mental ill health. While services are currently coping with increasing levels of activity under mental health legislation, they are in a more vulnerable position given the continued presence of the virus. There remains potential for staff reductions alongside increased demands to impact on already stretched mental health services. Stakeholders also recognised that the mental health impacts of this epidemic and associated lockdown restrictions may not be fully felt or understood for some months to come. All agreed that the data and evidence of impact on services and workforce is paramount when considering whether there is a need to commence the legislation. Therefore, it is necessary to retain these provisions overall to provide additional flexibility given the current climate.

- 7.3.1.7 Mental health legislation in Scotland already provides for rigorous safeguards in respect of individuals' human rights. Consideration has been given to the potential for impacting on an individual's human rights in the event that the amendments to mental health legislation ever require to be commenced. There is a balancing exercise involved in assessing the proportionality of a measure when multiple human rights are engaged; this remains the case even during a pandemic when Article 2 (the right to life) is engaged. We acknowledge that there is a risk that the relaxing of measures required for admission, and the increase in the length of time patients can be detained could be argued to have a detrimental impact on this protected group.
- 7.3.1.8 However, these temporary changes to mental health legislation are intended to ensure that people can continue to be treated and cared for in a way which both respects their rights and maintains safeguards while ensuring that services can better cope with staff shortages. Careful consideration was given as to how this could be achieved and the temporary measures are not about making it easier to detain people, but to ensure those who are in need of detention under the Mental Health Act receive the care they need when they need it.
- 7.3.1.9 Section 3 of the Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 (the '2003 Act') provides that certain persons exercising functions under the Act are required to discharge the function in a manner that encourages equal opportunities and in particular the observance of the equal opportunity requirements. This section will remain in force even if the amendments are commenced.
- 7.3.1.10 The amending provisions, if commenced, would be time limited and restricted to use only when necessary. They are not replacing existing legislation and as they are permissive rather than prescriptive then they would provide flexibility about staffing and time limits. If commenced they would only be used when adhering to the current mental health legislation is not practicable or would involve undesirable delay. Should it become necessary to commence and rely on the amended provisions, there is still a prescribed procedure that must be followed when an individual is being assessed, treated and/or detained.

Evidence from stakeholders suggests that it is important to retain the temporary provisions at present

- 7.3.1.11 The Royal College of Psychiatrists have previously written to Scottish Ministers stressing their commitment to ensuring the rights of people with mental ill health are protected and that they are able to access the best care and treatment. It should also be noted that these temporary provisions, if commenced, are to be permissive rather than obligatory.
- 7.3.1.12 Members of the Short Life Mental Health Legislation Commencement Consideration Group recently gave evidence to the Equality and Human Rights Committee and were clear that the current landscape continues to demonstrate that workload pressures are not at the stage where these temporary provisions should commence. However, the group remains strongly of the opinion that it is necessary to have these provisions available as they provide a safety net during uncertain times.
- 7.3.1.13 The Scottish Government will continue to engage with stakeholders in order to gather, analyse and review all available data and evidence. This will be used to inform and shape future advice to Scottish Ministers regarding any decision to commence these temporary measures.

Section 16 - Duty of Local Authority to assess needs: Scotland, and section 17 - section 16: further provision

Description of Provision

- 7.3.2.1 The provisions allow for relaxation of some requirements relating to social work needs assessments.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.3.2.2 Sections 16 and 17 of the UK Act allow Local Authorities to dispense with particular social care assessment duties where it would not be practical to comply with them, or to do so would cause unnecessary delay in providing community care services to any person. The provision covers social care for adults and children and support for carers. It is intended to allow Local Authorities to provide urgent care without delay.
- 7.3.2.3 Scottish Ministers brought forward The Coronavirus Act 2020 (Suspension: Adult Social Care) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 under section 88 of the UK Act which partially suspends section 16 in respect of adult social care and adult carers, while leaving it in force in respect of children and young persons. This will retain the ability for the powers to be used for children's and young person carer services. Section 16 could be brought back into effect for adult social care and adult carers by regulations to revive the operation of a provision under section 88(3) of the UK Act, should the response to the virus require this. These regulations came into force on 30 November 2020. An Equality Impact Assessment⁷⁹ was completed for the regulations and revised guidance has been issued.

- 7.3.2.4 The provisions allow Local Authorities the flexibility to focus on prioritising the most urgent need and protecting the lives of those who are most vulnerable while ensuring effective safeguards. Local Authorities are still expected to do as much as they can to meet people's needs. While the provisions relax assessment duties, the main duties on authorities under section 12 of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 remain in place.
- 7.3.2.5 To introduce the powers, Scottish Ministers made the Coronavirus Act 2020 (Commencement No. 1) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/121)⁸⁰, which came into force on 5 April 2020. Statutory guidance on these powers was issued on 3 April 2020, and the Deputy First Minister and Cabinet Secretary for Health and Sport wrote jointly to key stakeholders ahead of commencement which was on 5 April 2020. These communications made clear that these powers in respect of assessment duties would remain in operation only while absolutely necessary to protect people.
- 7.3.2.6 Under section 17(2) (b) of the UK Act, Scottish Ministers can direct Local Authorities to comply with any guidance which is issued under section 17(1). It is intended that this power will only be used if it is considered that the guidance requires the weight of direction, and it will not be necessary to make the direction if Local Authorities demonstrate that they are exercising their functions accordingly. As such, this direction making power has not been used in the reporting period.
- 7.3.2.7 Following liaison with COSLA and Social Work Scotland, the Scottish Government has issued regular surveys to Chief Social Work Officers to identify use of the powers and the justification for this over the period from commencement of the above regulations on 5 April 2020 until 10 January 2021. Information from these surveys has been used to inform each of the two-monthly reports to the Scottish Parliament on use of powers under the Coronavirus Acts. Responses to the fifth survey covering the period 9 November – 10 January were received from all 31 Health and Social Care Partnership areas. Of these, two reported they had used the powers. The Local Authorities which said they were using the powers during this period were: East Renfrewshire and South Lanarkshire. This compares to four HSCPs using the powers during the previous monitoring period.

⁸⁰ Coronavirus Act 2020 (Commencement No. 1) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2020/121/made>

- 7.3.2.8 Reasons given for use of the powers included: to allow staff to support front line duties, to provide flexibility to enable targeting of resources on those with most needs, and to ensure people receive appropriate care promptly.
- 7.3.2.9 Local Authorities that used the powers were asked about their role in managing their response to Covid-19. Responses included that the assumption of normal duties could not have been undertaken due to staffing issues.
- 7.3.2.10 Local Authorities using the powers were asked to explain what arrangements were in place to ensure that these powers are being used in a way that protects human rights, including the rights of children. Responses included that a harm matrix approach continued to be employed. It was noted that a social work duty system was still in place to triage and assess enquiries and weekly Adult and Child Protection Committees has oversight of data, enquiries and investigations. Enquiries are screened and if support is needed it can be escalated without delay.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.3.2.11 The statutory guidance referred to above, provides a reference point and framework for Local Authorities, if they choose to implement the provisions. The statutory guidance states: “all assessments other than full should be regarded as temporary. These should be reviewed as well as possible at regular intervals”.
- 7.3.2.12 The guidance sets out that Local Authorities are responsible for ensuring that the powers are only used for as long as is necessary. When using these provisions, all decisions made on an individual’s social care needs should be considered alongside their individual wellbeing and fundamental human rights.
- 7.3.2.13 As was the case for the previous reporting periods, most Local Authorities have determined that it is not operationally necessary for them to use these powers at this stage. This demonstrates that Local Authorities are carefully considering use of the powers, reviewing them, and seeking to use them only where appropriate, proportionate and necessary, and subject to their governance processes.
- 7.3.2.14 Significant progress has been made in tackling the virus and the Scottish Government wants to move as soon as possible to a position where all those in need of social care receive full assessments.
- 7.3.2.15 In relation to children’s services, child protection activity has been monitored on a weekly basis since early into the first period of lockdown. There were peaks in child protection registrations as the first lockdown eased, but the number has declined fairly steadily since with corresponding de-registrations increasing. These spikes were widely expected by senior professionals as contact with vulnerable children increased after lockdown. Police Scotland child concern reports also appear to have returned to levels similar to last year. Recently though there have been some increases in the number of child protection registrations so it would appear too soon to assume that the general trend will be downwards.

- 7.3.2.16 Social Work Scotland and the Office of the Chief Social Work Adviser believe there is a potential for demand in children's services to increase over the remainder of the winter, particularly during the current lockdown restrictions and with school closures. Any delays in response times could leave children unprotected or families without prompt support. We will continue to monitor the data on a weekly basis and liaise regularly with Chief Social Work Officers on the need to retain the powers in respect of children's services.

Sections 34 and 35 - Temporary disapplication of disclosure offences: Scotland and power to reclassify certain disclosure requests: Scotland

Description of Provision

- 7.3.3.1 The provisions give Scottish Ministers the power to issue a direction that dis-applies or modifies the offences under section 35 (organisations not to use barred individuals for regulated work) and section 36 (personnel suppliers not to supply barred individuals for regulated work) of the Protection of Vulnerable Groups (Scotland) Act 2007 ('the PVG Act').

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.3.3.2 This power has not been used in this reporting period. The use of these provisions is directly linked to the ability of Disclosure Scotland to continue to provide a service to those critical workers requiring PVG scheme membership. This provision is to ensure that employers that employ someone who is barred from regulated work are not criminalised due to the inability of Disclosure Scotland to provide this check in a timely manner.
- 7.3.3.3 Disclosure Scotland's Leadership Team monitors the number of applications received on a daily basis, and the length of time that it is taking to process and issue disclosures. Throughout the reporting period, the average processing time for PVG disclosures in connection with recruitment for coronavirus work has been under one week. Disclosure Scotland's Leadership Team also monitors staff absences daily, and these have not been at a level to impact adversely on the processing and issuing of disclosures. Scottish Ministers will make the decision to invoke this contingency if monitoring shows that there is a material risk of Disclosure Scotland being unable to continue to provide a service to critical workers requiring PVG scheme membership.
- 7.3.3.4 While at this time, the assessment is that the powers under sections 34 and 35 do not require to be used, the provision remains necessary overall as a contingency to ensure continuity of service.
- 7.3.3.5 The provisions are not considered to engage any children's rights, human rights or equality considerations. While the disclosure and barring services operated under the PVG Act can impact on both Article 6 and Article 8 rights, sections 34 and 35 do not change the type or extent of information that may be disclosed about a person's criminal past, nor do they affect Ministers' ability to place an individual under consideration for listing to prevent them from working with vulnerable groups. They do not undermine safeguarding, since it would continue to be an offence for a barred individual to do regulated work with children and/or protected adults.

Section 37 and Part 2 of schedule 16 and section 38 and Part 2 of schedule 17 - Temporary closure of educational institutions and childcare premises, and temporary continuity: education, training and childcare

Description of Provision

- 7.3.4.1 The provisions provide Scottish Ministers with powers to direct the closure of educational establishments where it is necessary and proportionate, or give directions relating to the continuity of education, which may include directing the operator of an education establishment to take on additional functions, to close educational establishments, or reopen either partially or fully. Ministers have powers in respect of both types of direction to provide that any failure to comply with a statutory duty or time limit is to be disregarded to the extent the failure is attributable to the direction; a closure direction had such effects automatically.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

- 7.3.4.2 The powers under section 37 and Part 2 of schedule 16 have not been used in the reporting period.
- 7.3.4.3 The powers under section 38 and Part 2 of schedule 17 were used in this reporting period and three educational continuity directions were given on 22 December 2020, 8 January and 28 January 2021 respectively. The latest direction is in force until 23:59 17 February 2021. The latest direction is in force until 00:01 1 February 2021. Scottish Ministers have previously exercised their powers conferred by section 38(2) and paragraph 11(1) of schedule 17 of the UK Act, to give Educational Continuity Directions⁸¹ to education authorities. The first such direction was given with effect from 21 May 2020 and was reviewed and renewed on a 21 day cycle. No directions were issued between 30 August 2020 and 22 December 2020. As required by the legislation, Scottish Ministers had regard to advice relating to coronavirus from the Chief Medical Officer ahead of the Educational Continuity Direction being issued, and they have been satisfied that giving each direction was necessary and proportionate in response to the pandemic.

⁸¹ Coronavirus Act 2020: educational continuity direction - <https://www.gov.scot/publications/coronavirus-act-2020-educational-continuity-direction/>

7.3.4.7 Ministers' powers to issue directions to educational establishments also include further and higher education institutions. To date, the powers have not been exercised in relation to FE or HE bodies. Nevertheless, it is considered appropriate for the powers to remain in force in full. It may become necessary in due course to issue educational continuity directions to those sectors, particularly as we move out of lockdown and face to face teaching resumes for the majority of students. Continuity directions would allow Ministers to require institutions to take appropriate health protection measures, possibly including testing facilities for staff and students. Ministers will be aware that these powers would only be used as a last resort in the FE/HE sectors. The Scottish Government's position remains that it is working closely with universities, colleges and other organisations within the sector to mitigate any impacts on the further and higher education system arising from the pandemic while preventing the spread of the virus.

This information is drawn from Police Scotland's 'Coronavirus Interventions' application, which relies on manual input from police officers. Due to this manual input, these figures are indicative only and should not be considered Official Police Statistics. This system currently provides the broadest picture of the differing levels of co-operation experienced by police across Scotland.
- 7.3.5.12 In due course and as standard practice, the Official Statistics produced by the Scottish Government on Recorded Crime¹³⁵ and Criminal Proceedings¹³⁶ will ultimately provide users with information on both the number of crimes recorded in relation to the new powers, and the number of Fixed Penalty Notices issued. Further updates on developments with these Official Statistics can be received by signing up to the SCOTSTAT network¹³⁷.
- 7.3.5.13 Information is now available on charges reported to COPFS under the Health Protection (Coronavirus)(Restrictions)(Scotland) Regulations 2020. Most charges were related to regulation 8(1), for failure to comply with Coronavirus Regulations.

7.3.5.16 Whilst figures for recent months are still well below the peaks seen in April and May there has been a general increase in charges under the regulations since the end of the summer (please note that the figure for December may increase slightly as some offences committed in December may be reported to COPFS in January or later).

- 7.3.5.17 A Local Authority can also use enforcement powers in relation to the parts of the regulations that relate to restrictions on businesses.
- 7.3.5.18 To ensure a co-ordinated approach to coronavirus was taken nationally, the Environmental Health/Trading Standards COVID-19 Expert Group was formed by the Society of Chief Officers of Environmental Health of Scotland and the Society of Chief Officers of Trading Standards in Scotland in conjunction with COSLA. Both Environmental Health and Trading Standards staff have been designated as authorised officers by Local Authorities to enforce the relevant requirements of the Health Protection (Coronavirus) (Restrictions) (Scotland) Regulations 2020 (SSI 2020/103), and for later iterations of the health protection regulations made under schedule 19 of the UK Act.
- 7.3.5.19 Each Local Authority is publishing information about enforcement activity undertaken in relation to the regulations on the respective Local Authority's website. This information is currently published every two weeks.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

- 7.3.5.20 COVID-19: Scotland's Strategic Framework sets out how the Scottish Government is working to suppress the virus and outlines the move to a strategic approach to outbreak management based on five levels of protection. The levels include graduated packages of measures designed to reduce transmission of the virus based on clinical advice and research. These levels can be applied nationally or to different areas of the country according to the evolving patterns of infection and transmission; higher levels indicate more stringent restrictions in response to higher infection rates.
- 7.3.5.21 The levels were designed with reference to Scotland's Framework for Decision Making and the four harms caused by the virus – in order to achieve the targeted impact on harm 1 at each level. They also seek to mitigate as much as possible the impact on harms 2-4.
- 7.3.5.22 Decisions about which levels to apply in which area are taken on the basis of public health and clinical advice, and an assessment against the four harms. These decisions require judgement to be applied to all the facts and considerations relevant at the time they are made.
- 7.3.5.23 The Strategic Framework is clear that decisions allocating levels to areas have to be based firmly in the best available evidence and information. They are assessed through a process that is open, transparent and collaborative so that restrictions are not kept in place longer than is strictly necessary to achieve the aim of suppressing the virus.
- 7.3.5.24 The process for moving between the levels takes in clinical advice from the National Incident Management Team and Scottish Government clinical leads – around the Harm 1 direct health impacts from COVID. Directors of Public Health monitor data on a daily and weekly basis and SG officials update the suite of indicators weekly. The National Incident Management Team considers this information alongside local data and analysis in providing public health advice.

- 7.3.5.25 This is brought together with evidence and the assessment of impact on the other Harms caused by the virus – including the indirect health harms, the social harms and harms to the economy. A range of indicators, along with other evidence, is used to build up a picture of the Four Harms impacts of changes to levels. Wider considerations will also be taken into account such as the prevalence of infection elsewhere, or of the characteristics of new variants – which might suggest differential impacts.
- 7.3.5.26 Changes to level allocation, whether up or down, need to be justified by the data, supported by public health advice and consistent with the Framework for Decision Making. Decisions are made by Ministers, in exercise of their statutory powers in relation to public health, and implemented through regulations.
- 7.3.5.27 Local authority partners are engaged in the decision making process through the National Incident Management Team and are consulted ahead of decisions applying levels being taken.
- 7.3.5.28 The Regulations must be reviewed at least every 21 days to ensure that the measures they impose continue to be necessary and proportionate.
- 7.3.5.29 In practice, the measures imposed across areas are reviewed on a weekly basis and the outcome of each review is communicated to the Scottish Parliament.
- 7.3.5.30 In between these formal reviews, the individual measures are kept under continuous review and changes are assessed through the Four Harms approach. Changes arising from the weekly review are set out to the Scottish Parliament in plenary and then considered by the Parliament's COVID-19 Committee.
- 7.3.5.31 Throughout the development of the regulations and guidance, the Scottish Government has always had regard to equality considerations, the impact on business and the particular needs of island communities as part of the policy development process.
- 7.3.5.32 Ministers are clear that the restrictions and requirements imposed by regulations must be necessary and proportionate. Whilst measures across the levels aim to deal with a significant threat to public health, impact assessments have been, and will continue to be, carried out as required on these measures. Any proposed changes will be assessed for their impact on equality and other areas as part of the policy development. This will be reported to the Scottish Parliament in appropriate impact assessments supporting any further amending regulations. All impact assessments can be found on www.legislation.gov.uk under the appropriate instrument.

Section 51 and Part 3 of schedule 21 - Powers relating to potentially infectious persons

Description of Provision

7.3.6.1 Section 51 introduces schedule 21 which sets out powers which can be exercised by public health officers, constables and immigration officers in respect of persons where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that they are “potentially infectious”.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

7.3.6.2 A declaration of a serious and imminent threat to public health¹³⁸ was made on 25 March 2020 under schedule 21, and a further clarificatory declaration¹³⁹ was made on 30 March 2020. Although the schedule 21 powers have been “switched on” via this declaration made by Scottish Ministers, they have not been used in the reporting period. The views and agreement of the Chief Medical Officer were formally sought and secured prior to the issuing of the declaration to switch on the schedule 21 powers.

Factors Considered to Determine Use and Continued Necessity

7.3.6.3 The schedule 21 potentially infectious persons powers continue to be required. Given the current high baseline of infectious people and the need to continue suppressing the virus, these provisions continue to be required. The Test and Protect programme aims to identify those at risk of exposure in order to test for coronavirus and require self-isolation. Where individuals do not co-operate on a voluntary basis it may be necessary, where appropriate, to use the powers under schedule 21 for their own and others’ health and wellbeing.

7.3.6.4 In respect of the provisions in schedule 21, for example relating to isolation and medical screening and assessment, the requirements of ECHR were carefully considered when the Act was developed. When powers under schedule 21 are exercised, they must be exercised in a manner which strikes an appropriate balance between individuals’ rights and the public health interest. To ensure this, a number of safeguards are built into the provisions, including the pre-requisite for the use of powers being a Ministerial declaration of a “serious and imminent risk to public health”; the requirement for the person exercising powers under the schedule to have reasonable grounds to believe that the person they are dealing with is potentially infectious; and appeal rights for those subject to restrictions.

Section 52 and Part 3 of schedule 22 - Powers to issue directions in relation to events, gatherings and premises

Description of Provision

7.3.7.1 Section 52 introduces schedule 22 which gives the Scottish Ministers direction-making powers in relation to events, gatherings and premises.

Operation of Provision in Reporting Period

7.3.7.2 A declaration of serious and imminent threat to public health¹⁴⁰ was made on 25 March 2020 under schedule 22. This had the effect of starting a “public health response period” and switching on the schedule 22 powers (with a further clarificatory declaration¹⁴¹ made on 30 March 2020).

7.3.7.3 The views and agreement of the Chief Medical Officer were formally sought and secured prior to the issuing of the declaration to switch on the schedule 22 powers.

7.3.7.4 Although the schedule 22 powers have been “switched on” via the declaration made by Scottish Ministers, they have not yet been used to make directions relating to events, gatherings and premises. Provision in that regard has instead been made to date by regulations made under schedule 19. Provision has also been made through regulations¹⁴² made under the section 49, schedule 19 powers, to allow Local Authorities to give directions relating to specified premises, events and public outdoor places in their area.

7.3.7.5 As the requirement for the schedule 19 regulations is kept under review, based on public health grounds, so too is the ongoing requirement for the schedule 22 powers and when they might be invoked. Whilst no directions have been made under schedule 22 yet, the powers remain necessary and could be used to take fast targeted action beyond the scope of the regulations if it appeared necessary, proportionate and justified in the circumstances. The powers may be necessary to allow Scottish Ministers to take more targeted action in local areas to close specific premises where there is a particularly significant outbreak (where premises of that type are not closed by the schedule 19 regulations), or where Ministers consider action needs to be taken quickly and premises have not yet been closed by a Local Authority or where Local Authority powers are not appropriate - for example, where there is a particularly significant outbreak spanning one or more areas but not all of Scotland.

7.3.7.6 When powers are exercised under schedule 22, they must be exercised in a manner which strikes an appropriate balance between individuals' rights and the public health interest. Safeguards are built into the provisions, for example, the pre-requisite for the use of powers being a Ministerial declaration of a "serious and imminent risk to public health". Decisions on issuing directions under schedule 22 will be taken in the interests of the protection of public health, will be made on the basis of medical and scientific advice, and will be proportionate to the management of risks to public health of coronavirus.
