HOUSING FIRST ACROSS SCOTLAND

From responses received through the monitoring framework, 24 local authorities are operating a Housing First programme at 30 June 2022. A further three local authorities are currently developing Housing First programmes, due to start during 2022/23.

The remaining five local authorities are not currently planning on delivering a Housing First programme due to scale or they have an alternative support programme in place.

This monitoring report captures Housing First tenancies which have begun across all 24 local authorities who are currently delivering Housing First.

TENANCIES

73 new Housing First tenancies started across 19 local authorities between 1 April and 30 June 2022. An additional 28 tenancies began between April 2021 and March 2022 which had not been previously captured in this monitoring framework. This brings the total number of Housing First tenancies started to 419 between 1 April 2021 and 30 June 2022. All tenants have moved into a permanent tenancy and are not in temporary accommodation. 19 tenancies have now ended; 34 people have now moved into the 'step down' phase; and a further six are in the 'stand down' phase of Housing First.

HOUSEHOLDCHARACTERISTICS

The data for this section is based on the main Housing First participant in 'live', 'step down' or 'stand down' tenancies which began between 1 April 2021 and 30 June 2022.

Gender

Across the 400 'live', 'step down' or 'stand down' tenancies, 66% of the main Housing First tenants are male and 34% are female.⁴

 $^{^{\}rm 4}$ This figure includes less than five tenants who have an 'other' gender identify.

³ Figures have been rounded to the nearest five for disclosure control purposes.

Residing within the 400 households were 409 adults. Within 19 Housing First tenancies there are 31 children. Additionally, 41 households had access to 59 children but do not have full-time custody.

Age

Due to the increasing number of Housing First tenancies across Scotland, we are now able to provide a more detailed breakdown of age in comparison to previous monitoring reports. We can ⁵ Percentages are provided to one decimal place where appropriate.

Scottish Government Riaghaltas na h-Alba gov.scot now report that two percent of Housing First participants are 16 or 17 years of age. There are no Housing First participants over the age of 65.

Ethnicity

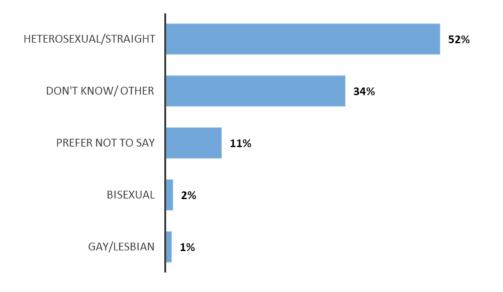

There is a slightly greater proportion of Housing First participants who are 'White British' than 'Other ethnic group', compared to the previous quarterly monitoring report. As the number of Housing First participants increases, we hope to provide a more detailed breakdown of ethnicity.

Sexual orientation

Local authorities have been asked to collect information on the sexual orientation of the main Housing First participant. Due to this data not being collected in some local authorities and the potentially sensitive nature of this question, many responses were initially recorded as unknown as participants build up confidence with support workers to provide this information. The proportion of 'Don't know' or 'Prefer not to say' responses have decreased from 60% during the first quarterly report (April 2021 to June 2021), to 45% during this quarter. This decrease may be testament to the development of relationships with Housing First support staff.

Disability

HOUSING FIRST TENANCIES

For tenancies which have begun since 1 April 2021, the average length of time between participants being referred for Housing First support and being offered a permanent tenancy is 177 days across the 24 local authorities. This has increased from 157 days in the previous quarterly report. The average time from referral to their permanent tenancy starting has also increased in this reporting period from 181 to 201 days. These figures have continued to rise over the last six month reporting period.

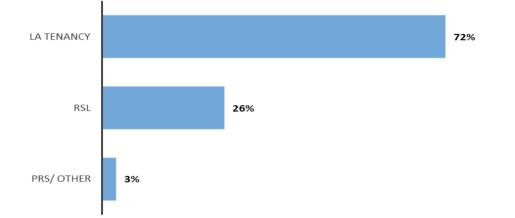

Chart 6: Tenancy type of 'live', 'step down' or 'stand down' tenancies

Of the 400 'live', 'step down' or 'stand down' tenancies, the proportion of local authority tenancies has decreased slightly from 75% to 72% over a six month period. Registered social landlords (RSLs) have provided a slightly greater proportion of Housing First tenancies (26% during this quarter, compared to 25% during the previous quarter). 12 tenancies have begun in either the private rented sector (PRS) or 'Other', representing three per cent of the total number of tenancies.

Information received from some local authorities shows that in some areas temporary accommodation is converted or 'flipped' into permanent Housing First tenancies. Housing First support has also been used as a homelessness prevention method in some local authority areas.

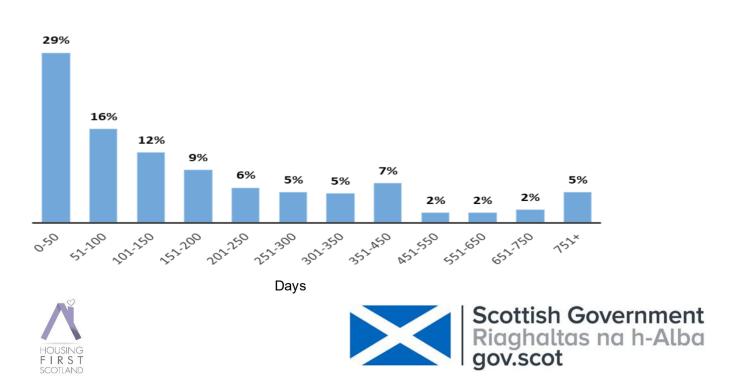

Chart 7: Banded national average in days to access a permanent tenancy from referral date

Chart 7 shows that 29% of Housing First participants move into their tenancies within 50 days. This is a slight decrease from the previous quarter when 30% moved into their tenancy within 50 days. The proportion of participants waiting over 350 days has also continued to increase from 15% (April 2021 to March 2022) to 18% (April 2021 to June 2022). This average has been calculated on a national basis due to the small number of tenancies in some local authority areas at present.

Referral Route

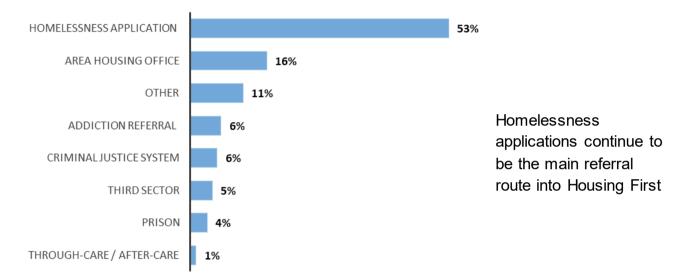

Chart 8: Referral route of Housing First participants.

Employment Status

Seven Housing First participants are currently employed on either a full time or part time basis. In addition, seven participants currently undertake voluntary work.

HOUSING FIRST SUPPORT

The data for this section is based on the main Housing First participant in 360 tenancies where support continues to be provided, and the tenancy is 'live'. This excludes tenancies which are in the 'step down' or 'stand down' phase.

Local authorities were asked to record the support that each Housing First participant is currently receiving or has previously received. Given the small numbers in a number of categories, information on 'current' and 'previous' support needs have been combined for disclosure control purposes. We expect this to become more robust over time and to be able to separate out previous support needs.

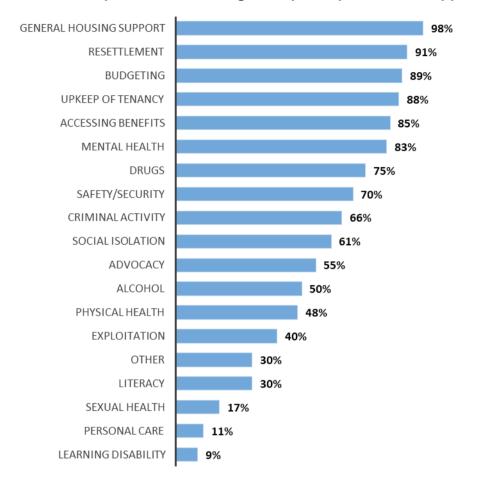

Chart 8 shows the proportion of participants who were recorded as having a 'current' or 'previous' support need across 19 categories.

Local authorities were also asked to record areas where support was required, but not provided, for Housing First participants across the same 19 categories. Proportionally fewer Housing First participants have an unmet support need across learning disability and literacy, but two per cent more participants require mental health support which is not provided. However, as the number of participants who have an unmet support need increases above five, we are able to give a more details breakdown of the areas which are lacking in support provision, as shown in Chart 8.

OTHER 3% BUDGETING 3% DRUGS 3% The 'Other' category includes LITERACY 3% LEARNING DISABILITY Housing First participants who have 3% MENTAL HEALTH 2% unmet support needs across ALCOHOL 2% 'Safety/ Security', 'Accessing EXPLOITATION 2% Benefits', 'Resettlement' and 'Other' PHYSICAL HEALTH 2% categories. Due to the small SEXUAL HEALTH 2% numbers within each area, we are PERSONAL CARE 2% unable to provide a more detailed SOCIAL ISOLATION 2% breakdown. UPKEEP OF TENANCY 1%

Support intensity has slightly decreased from the last quarter, with three per cent fewer participants requiring six to ten areas of support, and three percent more participants requiring between one and five areas of support.

ADVOCACY

Chart 12: Housing First participants receiving support from each provider, compared with the previous quarterly data.

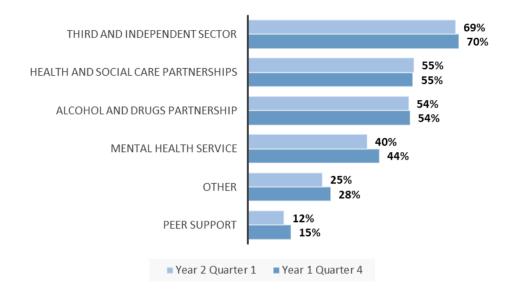

Chart 12 shows a breakdown of the services involved in delivering support to Housing First tenancies. When compared to the data reported in the previous quarter, 'Mental Health Services' are involved in the care of comparatively fewer Housing First participants during this quarter. Similarly, 'Peer Support' is in place for comparatively fewer Housing First participants. As the number of Housing First participants grows across Scotland, a more detailed breakdown of the 'other' category will be provided.

Chart 13 provides detail of the number of partners providing Housing First support. In 30% of Housing First tenancies, support was provided solely by one provider, likely where a local authority has undertaken a procurement exercise to commission Housing First support from an external provider. Three per cent of participants were recorded as having no support provider. However, a proportion receive informal support.
