

Scottish Sea Fisheries Statistics 2018

Pre-Release Access List

What is pre-release access?

Pre-release access is when selected ministers and their advising officials are allowed to know the results of official and National Statistics up to five working days before their public release.

Why is there pre-release access?

Pre-release access is provided for under legislation. The Pre-Release Access to Official Statistics (Scotland) Order 2008 allows up to five working days for official statistics not considered to be market-sensitive. This is so that Ministers and their advising officials gain a proper understanding of the statistics so they can make true and correct comments on the statistics shortly after their release.
